New Congress Opens Session Under GOP

Filibuster Battle Is Shoved Over
Until This Week

WASHINGTON — (AP). The GOP rode back into power in the new Congress Saturday, and quickly shoved over until this week a Senate fight over filibuster rules that would have disrupted opening-day harmony.

For the most part, the 83rd Congress did little but swear in members, elect the men who will control it for two years, and run through a few moments of debate.

Yet it was what Frederick Brown Harris, Senate chaplain, called "this day of destiny." For it brought forth the first official switch in power which will end a 20-year reign of the "New Deal, Fair Deal" Democratic administration with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's inauguration Jan. 20.

For the Republicans, who have held the whip-hand in Congress for only a brief two-year break since 1930, it was a day of open glee and jubilation. Democrats concealed any show of gloom, and even tossed out a cocky prediction or two that this new rise to power by the GOP is only temporary.

Even now, the Republicans have only a shaky, one-vote margin in the Senate and a 10-vote edge in the House. That means they may have to rely on the help of Southern Democrats, which they have had in the past, to put across the incoming administration's legislative program.

Aside from curtain-raising formalities accomplished in a spirit of complete joviality, there were brief, inconclusive skirmishes in both Senate and House over proposals to change the rules under which they operate.

Nineteen senators lined up behind a maneuver pointed at getting a change that would make it easier to crush filibusters and obtain action on such civil rights legislation as a fair employment practices, anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills. But by agreement with the GOP boss of the Senate, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a showdown was put off until Tuesday.

And there is every sign that when it does come, backers of the change will be swamped by a line-up that has had things pretty much its own way in Congress.

Teeners Take Church Bus, Give GIs Lift

Long Beach was the terminal point in a bizarre transportation "system" launched Saturday by three teen-age boys using a stolen Sunday school bus.

The brief foray into the transportation world ended with the arrest of the trio in Tustin where police booked them on suspicion of car theft.

Specifically they are suspected of stealing a Sunday school bus from the Poursquare Gospel Church of East Los Angeles.

And more specifically, if possible, they are accused of using the ponderous, 35-passenger vehicle to drive servicemen, picked up at the Traffic Circle here, to military camps as far south as Del Mar.

Tustin Police Officer Gordon H. Gallup halted the trio, bus and all, near the west city limits of Tustin early Saturday. He said they had $3.22 between them and that they denied charging for their "bus line" service.

Two of the boys live in Monterey Park and the third in East Los Angeles.

Boy Burned Trying to Light Oven

AN OVEN EXPLOSION resulted in severe burns on the face and hands Saturday for Richard Holchek, 5, of Los Angeles, held here by Ambulance Attendant J. Logan. Alone in the kitchen, Richard turned on the oven, then tried to light a match. Several burners failed to ignite and, when one finally did, the stove exploded in Richard's face.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Ship Burns After Explosion, L.B. Area Pair Saved

Their sleek cabin cruiser's gas tanks exploded. The 37-foot craft burned and sank. They spent two hours bobbing in choppy San Pedro Channel before they were rescued.

It all happened Saturday afternoon 10 miles off San Pedro light and that's why two Long Beach area men are living on velvet today. Both are confirmed Navy boosters, too.

They are Arthur L. Birdsall, 36, of 9024 Charolma St., Downey, and William Armstrong, 42, of 11220 Third Ave., Compton.

Birdsall set the loss of his sport cruiser, Pirate, at $16,000.

"We're both alive and apparently none the worse for wear," Birdsall told the Independent-Press-Telegram Saturday night.

The sportsmen's plight was detected by Navy planes over the channel.

A Navy blimp maneuvered into position and dropped a life raft.

The men, wearing life jackets, were picked off the raft by the sports fishing boat Mihune, skippered by Robert K. Light.

Los Angeles, and brought ashore at San Pedro.

Allied Planes Carry War to Korea Reds

SEOUL (Sunday)—(AP). Allied light bombers hunted down Communist trucks and trains across the snow-laden waist of North Korea Saturday night and big B-29 Superforts slammed home bomb attacks on two big Red supply centers.

The night raids came on the heels of a smashing daylight blow at another Communist supply center in the northwest.

The Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots damaged six MIGs in 16 separate air battles which erupted across the cold northwest Korean skies.

Ground fighting slackened Saturday and early Sunday along the frigid battle front.

Car Hits River, 6 Die, 5 Injured

YREKA, Calif.—(AP). An auto crammed with 11 persons missed a turn in rugged mountain country Saturday and plunged over a 400-foot bluff into the icy Klamath River, killing six persons and injuring the other five.

After swerving off a curve, a winding unimproved mountain road, the car rolled end over end into the river, spilling out some occupants as it fell.

It sank into the deep rain-swollen river 40 miles west of Yreka with five persons—including two children—still inside.

The body of the sixth victim, Robert Pepper, about 30, was found on the rocky river bank.

One of the survivors walked two miles in the remote Northern California area to summon help.

Sheriff's deputies in a special-built rescue boat worked into the night in an effort to find the submerged car.

Officers said the 11, mostly members of two Klamath River Indian families, had visited friends near Happy Camp, northwest of here, Friday night, and were returning to their homes at Somesbar, farther south on the Klamath River.

The victims, in addition to Pepper, were Pepper's wife, Liza, about 36, their two sons, Robert Jr., 5, and Jimmie, 9 months; George Alphas, about 42, and Mrs. Mae Aubrey, about 37.

Mrs. Aubrey's husband, Eli, managed to round up the other survivors, then walked two miles to the nearest house for help.

He and Al Bieber, 33, were treated by a doctor and released. The others, Warren Conrad, 13; Pete Goodwin, 17, and another Pepper son, Bill, 2½, were taken to Siskiyou County Hospital in serious condition.

Aubrey said the children were dozing when the car went over the grade. Most of the survivors were thrown out before the car hit the water.

The river, normally a treacherous, tricky torrent because of deep holes and hidden bars, was swollen by rain and snow runoff.

Only meager clues were available Saturday night to assist detectives in determining circumstances which led to the death of an elderly, well-dressed man whose body was recovered from the ocean east of Rainbow Pier at 6:25 o'clock.

Pedestrians made the discovery and called police. The body apparently had been in the water about an hour.

Det. Insp. Royce B. Harvey said the man's death "may not have been accidental."

Laundry marks provided police with their best clue. The man's clothing bore the initials "L. L. B."

Insp. Harvey said there were abrasions on the chin and on the right leg.

The victim was described as 65 years, five feet nine inches, 160 pounds. He was clad in black shoes, brown trousers and a gray coat. He wore a grey felt hat.

In the victim's pocket were a case containing prescription eye-glasses, eight keys, and a white handkerchief.

4 Hurt in Crash Near Seal Beach

Four persons were injured Saturday night when two cars collided near the Airport Club in Seal Beach.

Seal Beach police said a car driven by Floyd Irvine, 21, of Pomona, swerved to avoid an automobile emerging from a lot and crashed into a car headed the opposite way driven by Delane Lytle, 18, of Inglewood.

Injured were Irvine, head cuts; his passenger, John Gregory, 45, of Pomona, chest injuries; Lytle, face cuts, and a passenger, Herschel Edmunds, 19, of Inglewood, a compound fracture of the right leg and facial lacerations. All were treated in Community Hospital.

L.B. Region Tops Nation In Warmth

Another Summery
Day Forecast as Mercury Hits 82

Long Beach and Southern California were the warm spots of the nation, Saturday, as local thermometers climbed to the 82-degree mark.

It was the warmest day of the new year in the Southland and the weatherman promised more of the same today.

Here is the way he phrased it: "Clear Sunday and Sunday night. Continued warm, with high Sunday about 85 degrees. Dry east to northeast winds below the mountain canyons."

Saturday marked the third straight day of summer weather for the city and area.

Other high temperatures include Santa Ana 86, San Gabriel 85, Los Angeles 80, El Centro 77, San Bernardino 73, Santa Barbara 74 and San Diego 80.

By way of contrast, residents of the eastern seaboard rattled around in temperatures which scraped the low 20's. Snow flurries were reported in Dixie.

Fair weather is on tap for San Francisco and the central valley regions today. Morning fogs will disappear early.

Seattle and the coastal areas of Washington and Oregon are due for partly cloudy skies with some low morning fogs. Temperature range will be 46-58 degrees.

It was colder Saturday night along the eastern seaboard from southern New England south into Florida.

And the weather bureau said a mass of frigid wind which nipped the upper Mississippi valley and the midwest Saturday is winging eastward, carrying still more frigid weather. A temperature drop of from 10 to 20 degrees was forecast.

A snow storm hit parts of northern New England, including Vermont and New Hampshire, and lapped over into northern New York and some sections of the Great Lakes area. Snow flurries were frequent throughout the midwest.

It was a pleasant 67 in Miami, but Jacksonville recorded a 43, with a likelihood, said the forecaster, that it may go slightly lower Saturday night. It will be "considerably" colder in North and South Carolina and Georgia.

Kentucky and Tennessee were geared for more snow flurries with low temperatures in the 18-20 degree bracket.

CZECH CHAMP CHECKMATES RUSS REGIME

LUCERNE, Switzerland — (AP). Czechoslovakia's chess champion, Cenek Kottbauer, made a big move Saturday.

Kottbauer, 42, announced he will not return to his Communist homeland—beset by a political situation he described as growing "more and more critical"—and will ask asylum in Switzerland.

The new exile is on leave from a job in the Czech education ministry to play in Lucerne's international chess tournament.

President Orders Super Check on Vincent's Loyalty

Truman Turns Down Stand Of Top Review Board That Diplomat Should Be Fired

WASHINGTON—(AP). President Truman, dissatisfied with a Loyalty Review Board report recommending the firing of John Carter Vincent, career diplomat, Saturday ordered the creation of a new board to test Vincent's loyalty. The government's top Loyalty Review Board had ruled on Dec. 15 that Vincent, long a target of Communism charges made by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and others, should be fired. It said that there was a reasonable doubt of the loyalty of Vincent, who once was a key figure in U. S. Far Eastern policy.

The review board cited what it called Vincent's "studied praise" of Chinese Communists in the early 1940's and his criticism of the Chiang Kai-shek government.

Secretary of State Acheson told President Truman, in a statement made public Saturday night at the White House, that he could not take as final the board ruling that there was reasonable doubt as to Vincent's loyalty.

Acheson said he found on examining the board's recommendation "that no evidence had been produced which led them to have a doubt as to Mr. Vincent's loyalty."

Accordingly Acheson recommended the creation of a new board to review the case, and Truman authorized him to go ahead.

Acheson proposed that the new board consist of:

Judge Learned B. Hand, who until his retirement was a judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals; John J. McCloy, former high commissioner for Germany; James Grafton Rogers, former assistant secretary of state under Secretary Stimson; G. Howland Shaw, a retired foreign service officer and former assistant secretary of state under Secretary Hull; and Edmund Wilson, a retired foreign service officer and former ambassador.

The State Department last month, in announcing the loyalty review board's action, suspended Vincent and ordered him home from Tangier, where he has recently been serving as consul agent.

Vincent at that time said there was no doubt in his own mind "about my absolute and constant loyalty to the United States."

Sen. McCarthy told the Senate 18 months ago that accusations against Vincent were "unsubstantiated."

(Compiled From A.P. and U.P.)

The fatal accident rate on the nation's highways dropped off Saturday, giving hope that the four-day holiday death toll will fall below that of a year ago.

Only 75 traffic deaths were reported through a 24-hour period ended Saturday night, bringing the total since 6 p. m. Wednesday to 288.

Other fatalities so far during the long week end included 28 dead in fires and 86 in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 413.

California's toll was 24 dead in traffic, two in fires and eight from miscellaneous causes.

Earthquake Noted In Eureka Area

EUREKA—(AP). A "severe local earthquake" a short distance off the Humboldt County coast was reported Saturday by a University of California seismograph station at Ferndale.

Joseph Bognuda, in charge of the station, said the shock occurred at 10:40 Saturday morning and probably was strong enough to be felt at many points.

However, there were no damage reports and the tremor was not felt here; only 25 miles north of Ferndale.

Ike Selects Dodge to Be Budget Head

NEW YORK—(UP). President-elect Eisenhower Saturday named Detroit Banker Joseph M. Dodge as his budget director, and raised the job as far as he could toward cabinet rank.

In appointing Dodge, who has been acting as his liaison with the budget bureau since last Nov. 9, the President-elect asked Dodge to attend cabinet meetings and report directly to him.

This request to sit in with the top command in the new administration reflected Eisenhower's desire to give him "as much cabinet status as he can," said James C. Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary.

The elevation of the budget director's post represented a new step by Eisenhower to change the traditional makeup of the cabinet. Oveta Culp Hobby of Houston, federal security administrator-to-be, and Harold Stassen, named to head the Mutual Security Administration, also will attend cabinet meetings.

As budget director, Dodge, who is 62, will receive $17,500 a year. He gave up the presidency of the Detroit Bank, oldest bank in Michigan, when Eisenhower made him budget liaison man in Washington after the election.

He is a specialist in German and Japanese economies and Austrian affairs.

He was a financial adviser to Eisenhower when the general was military governor of Germany. In 1946, Dodge was awarded the Medal of Merit by President Truman for his work on financial reforms in Germany, and in 1950 he was given the Medal for Exceptional Civilian Service by the Secretary of the Army for his work on economic stabilization in Japan.

A native-born Detroit, Dodge started his career as a bank messenger. He remains as chairman of the board of the Detroit Bank.

Dodge is a director of the Chrysler Corporation, the Standard Accident Insurance Co., Planet Insurance Co., and a trustee of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. of Iowa.

From 1949 to 1952 he served as minister and financial adviser to the supreme commander of the Allied powers, and since has made four trips to Japan.

Last August he was named consultant to the Secretary of State on economic and financial matters affecting Japan. He also served as financial consultant to the Department of the Army.

In Germany, in addition to advising Eisenhower on economic matters, he was director of the finance division of the office of military government at Berlin and director of the same division of U. S. forces in the European theater at Frankfurt.

Eisenhower said he would send Dodge's name to the Senate for confirmation after inauguration.

Desert Crash Kills 1, Hurts 5 from Here

One Long Beach man was killed and five persons, including his wife, who were riding with him were seriously injured in a four-car accident seven miles east of Baker, Calif., Saturday.

In all, three were killed and 11 were hurt in the terrific smashup, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Killed was Ernest R. Vanderhoof, 60, of 339 Grand Ave., an accountant.

Long Beach persons injured were Vanderhoof's wife, Mabel; Jack Grogan, 380 W. Ocean Blvd., owner of the Model Cleaners, and his wife, Thelma, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman, visiting the Grogans from Wisconsin.

All five received fractures, according to attaches of Barstow Hospital, where the injured were rushed in ambulances.

Also killed in the crash were Harry Friedman, 60, and his wife, Clara, 54, of West Los Angeles.

How Old Is Old?

Old folks in this country are increasing at a rate twice as fast as are young people. Statistics show this trend will bring us to a point where care of the oldests will be a major problem within the next 10 years. To meet the problem we will have to revise a lot of our ideas about pensions. We will also have to revise our ideas of just how old is old.

Present idea is that the line separating middle age and old age is 65 years. Various pension advocates insist that retirement ages should be reduced to 60 years and some pension plans allow 55 years as a retirement age. It is, however, apparent that the age of compulsory retirement must be increased. There is ample evidence that the average worker at age 65 would prefer working a few more years. It is also proven by industry that workers at 65 are usually more reliable and often more skilled than the younger men.

Retirement is not the paradise viewed by many who look forward to that when they

IF YOU happen to look down when on the crosswalk of a downtown Long Beach intersection, you'll see a strange mosaic that is the record of one little sliver of today's living—that people lose or drop when crossing the street.

Imbedded in the asphalt are all kinds of things. They're items passersby have left there, casually or inadvertently, and other passersby have stomped into the rubbery surface on warm days.

On a trip to the bank the other morn, I made a little mental record of what I saw on the crossings between First and Sixth Sts. A partial list includes a razor blade, pocket comb, paper matches, hair pins, bobby pins, nails, washers, a pants button, paper clips, numerous unidentifiable bits of metal and more bottle caps than anything else. There were a lot of things that came off shoes—heelplates and the like.

If one lets his imagination run, he can see the archaeologists of some distant day digging deep in the pavements for these little objects and producing scholarly interpretations of a near-forgotten age, which they'll probably label the bottle-cap era.

LONG BEACH Mounted Police palominoes, the 50 horses that'll see Ike, will ride back to Washington in style. Union Pacific, which will take the nags from here, has provided three special horse cars that have been used in transporting some of the country's finest horseflesh—and that's what'll be in them this time, too.

There'll be 17 or 18 horse passengers to a car in stalls that can be adjusted to the occupant's size. They'll be loaded at the Lakewood siding of the U. P. about Jan. 15, and riding eastward on the same train will be the members of the posse who'll be astride the palominoes in the inaugural parade. This will be a special Long Beach train, the first transcontinental special ever made up at the Lakewood U. P. facilities, according to proud and busy Hank DeLacy, the U. P. agent here.

The train will go by U. P. to Council Bluffs, Iowa, by Northwestern into Chicago, and from there to Washington on the Pennsylvania. It'll return the same way. In the Washington area the Long Beach equine delegation will be quartered at Bowie racetrack, while the possemen will occupy sleeping cars on a Washington siding.

WHILE there has been some little disagreement among local citizens as to whether municipal funds should be spent on the equine entry in the inaugural parade, there are many who feel that it's one of the best publicity projects that could be devised for our town.

One who feels that way is Margaret Kimball, who has written this department and sent along $1 to start a fund to help make up the difference between the city's contribution and the $25,000 or so required for the journey.

I'm sending Mrs. Kimball's dollar over to H. G. Markworth, National City Bank, who is the acting treasurer of the Mounted Police Posse, and anyone else who wishes to contribute should send the money to him. They could use from $10,000 to $15,000, and every little bit helps.

MAYBE the statistics don't show it, but a fellow who was out driving after midnight New Year's says that anti-accident propaganda was obviously having its effect.

He was coming home from Inglewood about 3 a. m., and observed that drivers approached intersections gingerly, apparently keeping their eyes on the other fellow and taking no chances with yellow-light runs and things like that. He was doing the same thing himself, and didn't see an accident.

"Too bad people can't be that way all the time," he said. "There were a few jerks who drove as if they had the only cars on the highway, but on the whole, people were mighty careful."

'Round Oval' Ike Follows 'High Hat Harry' in Office

By LEONARD RUPPERT
NEW YORK — (NEA). With Dwight D. Eisenhower as President, the reign of "long ovals" may be ended.

Martin Loeb thinks so, and with Martin it's an important matter. That's because he's general manager of the M. Fluegelman Hat Co., the man who supplies the high silk toppers worn by Presidents-elect on inauguration day.

Fluegelman's hats have been standard equipment at inaugural rites since Teddy Roosevelt's time. It began when the late Maximilian Fluegelman sent T. R. one as a gift. Roosevelt accepted it, and has every Chief Executive since then.

Ike's model is now resting in a glass case at the factory, an ancient two-story building in mid-

Manhattan. It hasn't been officially accepted yet, but Loeb is sure it will be. He hears that Ike has been busy.

The size is 7 1/4. That makes Ike the third smallest skull of the nine Presidents Fluegelman's has fitted. The smallest were Wilson's and Coolidge's. Both were 7 1/4. The biggest was William Howard Taft's, 7 3/4. The others fell in between, all of them still pretty large. Hoover was a full 7 1/2. The Roosevelts, Truman and Harding were tied at 7 3/4. Ike's big chance to shatter precedent comes in the shape department. The fashion in Presidential skulls, at least for the last nine Presidents, has been a non-wavering "long oval" shape.

Ike may be the first "round oval" to inhabit the White House in decades—to Loeb a distinct innovation. At least that's the suspicion at Fluegelman's. But Loeb isn't willing to commit himself until Eisenhower answers his letter.

How Ike wears the topper will be closely observed by its donors. "Max always used to say," recalls Loeb, "that he remembered a public figure not so much by what he did, but by how he wore his hat. I feel the same way. To me it's most important."

Fluegelman's all-time champion presidential high hat wearer was the jaunty Franklin D. Roosevelt. "Now there's a man who really did justice to one," Loeb beams. "He always wore it well down over his head like you're supposed to do."

"Of course," he adds, "FDR had the most practice. We send a new hat for every inauguration and, with four, he had quite a collection."

Loeb hasn't much comment about the other Fluegelman-hatted Presidents, except that Harding was fair, "though he never got quite the right angle," and that the saddest of the lot was Coolidge. "Cal showed too much forehead," he explains, "just like a farmer."

Ex-haberdasher Harry Truman was "better than average."

Fluegelman's is billed as the largest silk hattery in the world, although it's only one small floor. The craft is dying out. Once the Silk Hat Finishes Union had more than 800 members in New York. Now Fluegelman's employs the entire union, 12 to 15 workers, and the members are all over 60.

In return for the gifts, the Fluegelman hattery boasts a collection of thank-you letters from the White House and pictures of the silk hats in action.

Fluegelman's is proud of them all. But the favorite memento is one that was not recorded, a conversation between founder Max and Woodrow Wilson.

Wilson called by telephone one day to report that his skimmer was too large. Max couldn't resist commenting with a chuckle that maybe the President's head had shrunk.

"Impossible," retorted Wilson. "Presidents' heads never get smaller—if anything, they always get bigger."

514 North Korea Women Captives Fanatic Commies

By HARRIETT CROALEY
KOBE ISLAND—(WNN). Of all the hard-core Communist prisoners now held in and around Korea by U. N. forces, none are more fanatic than the 514 North Korean women held on the island off the southern end of Korea.

The women are the comment of officers and public health personnel to the women's POW compound and affirmed by Col. C. V. Caldwell, U. N. commander of the prisoner of war camps. Although the women have made no serious attempts to escape since they took part in the May riot, they demonstrate daily, fierce and vehement with their slogans and songs amid chiefly against the United States.

Now isolated in their own compound with their 23 children, aged one to 14, the women POWs, most of whom are in their twenties, are a curious phenomenon to the American soldiers guarding them.

With short cropped hair and uncompromising faces the main-tenance strict discipline. Clad in trousers, shirts and heavy nurses' shoes, furnished by the U. N., they hold daily calisthenics. They teach their children party doctrine even to the point of refusing to let the children use the "decadent capitalist" swings and seesaws put up by Col. Harold L. Taylor, in charge of the compound.

To the American GI, a kid is a kid and the refusal of the mothers to let the children use the play equipment caused more indignation than the daily vituperative slogans against America. However, camp guards refuse to give up hope and at the time this was written were laying bets that the children would out-propagandize their mothers.

Housed within double barbed wire enclosures the women POWs probably have better living quarters than they had in North Korea as nurses, couriers or camp followers. Their winter quarters have hot water and flush toilets—not a fancy kind to be sure, but better than many U. S. troops. They have warm clothes, material and sewing equipment to make things for the children. They get sugar, eggs and milk with their regular rations and extra food for the children. A public health nurse gives them instructions in child care, nutrition and health, which they accept to some extent.

Ample sports equipment is provided for their recreation: volleyball, exercise horses and badminton sets. And they put on shows for their own amusement. They do their own cooking, cleaning and washing.

No attempt is made to communicate with them in other fields such as politics or the war. These women remain out of a total of over 2000 taken during the early days of the Korean war when U. N. troops were ill prepared to handle the thousands of prisoners taken. After careful screening, many of the prisoners were found to be refugees who were later released.

The question of which there was no answer from official or unofficial sources is: "How representative are these Russian-in-doctrinated women of the North Korean population?"

Fast Life

—By PETRONIUS JR.—

ASSEMBLYMAN BRADLEY has one important job to do for the Lakewood area.

That is to get state money for the widening of Carson from Lakewood Blvd. to the San Gabriel River.

IT IS NOW a three-lane bottleneck and traffic hazard that should be removed.

When Douglas workers change shifts Lakewood and Carson explodes into traffic jams which stretch out in all directions.

THE CARSON-EASTWARD ROAD is the worst because it narrows from four-lane to three-lane traffic.

The state has approved widening this section, Long Beach is giving land from its shotgun strip for the purpose, but the state has not appropriated money for action this year.

THAT SHOULD be a major project for Assemblyman Bradley in whose district is this section of road.

HOW DWIGHT EISENHOWER may look on inauguration day is shown in this portrait with top hat supplied by the artist.

Sister's Tops in 4-H Contest

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (AP). The 4-H boy who had a record corn yield in 1951 didn't do as well as his sister in 1952.

Cledith Rowe of Magoffin County produced 145 bushels of corn on an acre in 1952 while his sister Lula grew 151 bushels. County Agent Pritchard King of the University of Kentucky says Cledith may have planted his corn too thick, which probably caused it to suffer more from the drought.

'Belching Speech' Taught in College

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP). The University of Michigan speech clinic offers a one-week course in "belching speech" for persons whose diseased larynxes, or "voice boxes," have been removed by surgery. Instructor Keith Maxwell teaches his speechless pupils how to swallow air, then force it out from the throat, thus vibrating the throat tissues and producing sound. Maxwell says that once his pupils learn to control the air, speech is simple.

Inauguration Grows Bigger by the Hour

By WALTER T. RIDDER
(Of the Independent-Press-Telegram)

WASHINGTON — The biggest show on earth may once have been the Barnum & Bailey Circus, but at the rate it's going, it looks as if Gen. Eisenhower's inauguration may win that title.

Right after his election, Ike expressed the desire for a simple, dignified inaugural. The affair may well be dignified, but it certainly isn't going to be simple. It's getting bigger and better every day.

The inauguration committee has tried to keep it within manageable proportions, but with only varying success. It has, for instance, limited the parade to one float, one band and one marching unit from each state. Even at that, the parade is expected to last some three or 3 1/2 hours. Special units, such as the 82nd Airborne Division, elements from the Air Force, Marines, Navy, and women's services, and West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen, will also trek by the new President. It should be quite a show.

It took some heroic committee efforts, however, to keep the parade from degenerating into a sort of perambulating circus. One highly placed Republican Congressman quite seriously suggested that Republican Senators and Congressmen participate in the parade mounted on elephants. Democrats astride donkeys. As one wag put it: That arrangement would have made it difficult in some cases to identify the Congressman from the animal.

The inaugural dance which started out to be a supercilious, high-priced affair has, like Topsy, just grown. It has grown right out of Washington's largest public arena and is now slated to be held in two places—the Uline Arena and the National Guard Armory. President Ike and his wife Mamie have promised to attend both dances—whether as participants or spectators is not yet clear, but probably the former.

Both balls will also be visited by Hollywood movie stars. Judging from the list of actors and actresses who have announced their intention of helping Ike into office, Hollywood and Vine will be a deserted intersection come Jan. 20. A vast entertainment show which will feature many, but not all, of the Hollywood visitors is scheduled for Inauguration Eve. It is rumored that some stars who supported Stevenson are on their way east for the celebration, but they are expected to get short shrift from their Eisenhower colleagues.

ALL "DISTINGUISHED"

A "small" reception for governors and distinguished guests will be held on Sunday, Jan. 19. Apparently everyone coming to Washington, and those already here are included in the title "distinguished guests." For at last count, this intimate little reception will be attended by some 5000 (five thousand) people, which number does not include the anticipated gatecrashers. The friendly gathering is scheduled to take place at the Hotel Statler, but whether anyone will be able to get in or out of the hostelry remains to be seen.

Republicans from all corners of the globe are preparing their descent upon this city. To protect them, probably from displaced Democrats, the inaugural committee has established an "antiracketeering" subcommittee. As I understand it, this committee is to see that Republicans aren't sold advertising in non-existent publications, aren't nipped by shell game artists, and aren't sold the Brooklyn Bridge.

Oh, yes! There's also a minor ceremony scheduled for noon of Jan. 20. That's the actual inauguration of the President-elect, but no one's paying too much attention to that—the sideshows are much more fascinating.

New Legal Joust Over McCracken Scheduled Jan. 12

SANTA ANA—A legal joust which may mean the closing of the last avenue of hope for Henry Ford McCracken, 35, convicted sex-slayer of 10-year-old Patricia Jean Hull of Buena Park, is scheduled for Jan. 12.

The First District Court of Appeals at San Francisco will hear on that date the state's plea to dismiss McCracken's appeal from ruling of Marin County Superior Judge Charles Brusatori that McCracken is sane and so must die.

The condemned slayer's counsel, James Monroe and George Chula, both of Santa Ana, sought unsuccessfully to have Judge Brusatori find that McCracken is now mentally unbalanced. They sought a writ of mandate to compel a mental hearing. After Judge Brusatori refused it, the counsel took appeal, which the state now wants dismissed so the way can be cleared for McCracken's execution at the scheduled date of Jan. 23.

Convicted after two long and sensational trials here, McCracken was sentenced to death for abducting, molesting and slaying little Patty Hull in his Buena Park auto court cabin May 19, 1949. The prisoner then was found sane.

That started a long legal battle to save him. The State Supreme Court had upheld the conviction and death sentence and the U. S. Supreme Court had refused to review it. His counsel then moved into Marin County court to gain one stay of execution. The Jan. 23 death date was the second ordered for him.

County Board To Study Plea From Seaside

Seaside Hospital's special request for financial assistance from Los Angeles County will be studied Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

That was the word Saturday from Los Angeles after the request had been filed with the county board.

Need for financial aid stems from Seaside's annual expenditures, currently in excess of $177,000, for treatment and care of needy patients, according to J. H. Davies, president of the hospital board of directors.

"During the past 12 months," Davies declared, "Seaside Hospital has given medical and hospital care to 6549 different needy persons who met county requirements."

Davies said the hospital must have monetary aid from the county if it is to continue to provide service to the needy.

Court Orders Return of Aid

MARTINEZ—(P) Mrs. Frances Lasky, 35, divorced wife of Hollywood Writer Jesse Lasky Jr., was ordered Friday to repay the Contra Costa Welfare Commission $225 in old-age assistance given her mother in 1951.

Contra Costa County Superior Judge Norman Gregg made the ruling. The Welfare Commission charged that Mrs. Lasky's mother, Mrs. Alta Hachenberger, 70, drew three $75 monthly welfare payments while Mrs. Lasky was receiving $660 a month alimony.

Mrs. Lasky, the former Frances Drake, a dancer, married Lasky, son of the movie pioneer, in 1946.

In a story Friday, the Associated Press incorrectly identified Mrs. Lasky as the former Donna Drake, the former movie starlet. Miss Donna Drake has no connection with the court action.

Small-Plants Aid Retention Urged

WASHINGTON — (AP) The Small Defense Plants Administration said Saturday it has helped make small business "a vital force in our industrial economy" during its first year of operation.

Administrator John E. Horne said his agency has tried to improve its program to see that small business "skills, facilities and manpower are fully utilized in the mobilization program."

In a year-end report, he urged Congress to retain the agency whose sole responsibility is to assist and encourage small business enterprise.

Horne reported that nearly 300 small firms have been granted government loans totalling about $36,000,000 to help them finance production of defense and essential civilian production.

N.Y. Curb Market To Have New Name

NEW YORK—(AP) The old New York curb market will start a new era Monday.

On that day it will become known as the American Stock Exchange—no longer the New York Curb Exchange—and it will seek to begin a new day in its 100-year history.

Six times the curb market has had a new name, and six times it has expanded its operations. This time, officials say, it will be expanding again.

Bicycle Built For Two

Daisy, Daisy. Give me your answer, do;
I'm half crazy, all for the love of you.
It won't be a stylish marriage,
I can't afford a carriage,
But you'll look sweet on the seat
Of a bicycle built for two.

—From "Daisy Bell", by Harry Dacre.

By Bob Hall

BACK WHEN AMERICA was a little bit younger, bicycles built for two flashed in and out of the buggy traffic with gay abandon as "sparkling" couples squeezed an extra ounce of zip out of the leisurely life and chaperoned romances of their times.

With a bicycle here and a bicycle there, bicycles everywhere—for fun, for racing, for everyday transportation—the two-wheelers held the popular fancy. Sermons were preached and editorials written, for and against, the giddy—for the times—pace they set. There was a bicycle age—1890 to 1900.

Then gasoline and carburetors came along; horse-scaring monsters began popping along the dusty streets, spewing ill-smelling smoke. A new and more spectacular era in transportation was born. The bicycle slid far down the scale in America's esteem.

But today the picture is changing again. The bicycle built for two is coming back, along with hundreds—nay, thousands of standard single wheels.

The bicycle age is coming back—and it's fun, too.

Estimates are that 19 million bikes were wheeling this year and that ere next summer rolls around, the number will be nearer 30 million.

Long Beach and its neighboring communities are contributing their share to the return of cycling, with Crebs Cycling Club, fostered through the long, lean years by Al (Musty) Krebs, leading the way in this area.

And in the bicycle-built-for-two department, there are Gilbert Mills, 1952 club cycling champion, and Mrs. Mills. They make use of the two-seated two-wheeler—and soon they'll have to have another, or build a four-seater. There are the Mills twins, as cute a pair of babies as a father and mother ever had. Mother's and Dad's arms are their best transportation to date; but there'll come a day when those chubby legs will grow down to pedals.

LOOKING BACK to another decade, it is interesting to note that the so-called "fantastic fad" of the 1868 Michaux bike of French invention; the "Draisine" bike of the early 1900s, and the current model bikes of all makes are basically the same.

First of the tandem bikes was the Michaux of 1869, with the lady in the most precarious position on the rear wheel, protected by a safety belt, but with no safety belt for a flowing skirt.

An improvement on the "bicycle built for two" was the Punnett Companion of 1896, in which the two riders were seated side-by-side, rather than one behind the other. This allowed for greater social freedom, and it's also of note in this bike that provision was made for the gentleman to ride the bicycle alone to the place of appointment by moving the seats to the center of the frame, and using the inside pedals of each sprocket for propulsion.

ENOUGH OF yesterday and back to today when more and more cycle clubs are being formed all over the nation, and small bike racing velodromes are making their appearance. Latest in the west has been the San Jose Velodrome, which enjoyed great racing success last spring as a build-up on the Pacific Coast for the Olympic Games trials.

In fact, two Long Beach boys, Dave and Ronnie Rhoads, got the needed experience and conditioning there to finish one-three in the U. S. finals at Newark, N. J., and become the first brother-team in American history in the Olympics at Helsinki last summer.

Major club effort at the moment in Southern California is a group of nearly 100 which meets each week at Wilshire and Western in Los Angeles for one and two-day week-end cycling trips.

Other smaller groups are active, too, since short bike trips to various spots can be interesting and economical.

Crebs Cycle Club of Long Beach was founded in 1922 by Krebs, who has been a bicycle dealer here for more than 30 years. "Musty" was a board track champion in his racing days, and is still holder of the world unpaced speed record of 15 2/5 seconds for one-sixth of a mile which he set at Salt Lake City in 1911.

His club is the oldest active cycle club in Southern California. It is dedicated largely to racing, but is in the process of being expanded to include an auxiliary for week-end trips.

Bicycling for two—in fact, all bicycling—is coming back. Here are Gilbert Mills, a Crebs Cycling Club champion, and Mrs. Mills, both ardent cyclists.

MANY HAVE been the racing champions to develop from the Crebs cycle races here. First was Ralph Buttolph in 1923, then Walt Phipps in 1924, who followed the international six-day tour for many years. Russell Allen, who represented Uncle Sam in the 1932 Olympics, was club champ here in 1928-29-30. Then came Bus Parker, champ in 1931-32, who took to the international six-day pro trail.

Next Olympic Games star was Charles Morton, now a San Pedro contractor, who wore U. S. colors at Berlin in 1936. Don Hester and Tom McFadden won national titles in the late 1930s, and the past few years it has been the Rhoads boys. Dave won the national track crown in 1951; Ronnie in 1952.

"Several things are needed locally," Krebs says. "Most important, perhaps, is the combined efforts of bicycle dealers in the formation of clubs. There's no reason in the world why most dealers' stores can not serve as a sort of travel bureau for places within easy reach of a day's bicycle outing, or perhaps other trips where a bike can be taken along to add pleasure to the trip.

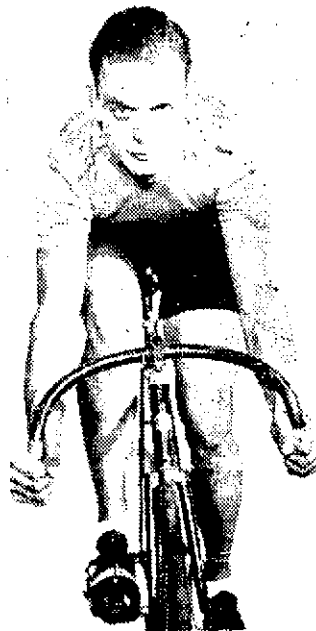

"Then, too, assisting in the building of bicycle interest would be a track suitable for racing by teen-age boys and girls."

LAST MAJOR bike racing track in Southern California, excepting sporadic six-day revivals, was at Hill St. and Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, in 1920... There was an eighth-mile track at 8th and Main Sts., in 1900, and a fifth-mile track at Pico and Grand Aves., in 1909, known as Fiesta Stadium. But since 1920 cycle racing has taken to the road in Southern California.

Every sizeable industrial establishment, as well as larger business firms, have enough interested employees to form clubs to enjoy Saturday and Sunday bicycling tours—and many are doing just that.

Pleasure and health can be derived from a cycling vacation. There's nothing that equals the close contact with nature that a bicycle affords for this purpose. And what's more, ladies, beauty experts acclaim bicycle exercise as a means of regulating weight and streamlining the figure, toning up muscles, improving the posture and stimulating the blood, all of which quickly pays off in greatly improved complexion.

Russell Allen was first local cyclist to represent the U. S. in Olympics (1932).

Laguna Beach

Where Art Is a Way of Life

The cliffs of Laguna Beach are fascinating, their moods and those of the emerald sea shifting as each hour passes.

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with our neighboring cities and communities. Others in the series will appear from time to time. Watch for them.

BACK in the days when the horse and buggy substituted for the automobile, the radio and television, families were smitten with the urge to go places, and in Riverside, Santa Ana, and other Southland communities papa and mama and the children eyed Laguna Beach as the ideal destination for a vacation.

So Dobbin and the buggy trundled them there.

Riversiders established their camp on the sands south of what is now the main beach, and the Santa Ana wayfarers preferred the northern stretches. They were the definite visitors. People from other areas pitched camp in between. They visited back and forth and had beach parties, songfests and romance.

Many of them built their own beach cottages, and when the bank account warranted, quit their homes and became permanent Laguna Beach residents. The reason they did so was because they liked to live in Laguna Beach; the primitive urge squirmed within them; they discovered it was fun to get along without some of the necessities of life.

They had no meetings to attend — the beach colony was without clubs. They could find their way around at night by the aid of a flickering lantern, and could go to bed anytime after sunset. There were no tooting trains to disturb their slumbers, because Laguna has never had a railroad.

Back to their home towns went word of the joy of living in the little colony by the sea. It couldn't be true, thought many who heard the unsolicited testimonials, so they journeyed thither for firsthand proof. Most of them remained and built their own cottages. Their words of praise were so profound that a new word was born to designate them — Lagunatics, which word is still freely used. Norman St. Clair, whose water colors created great interest in 1900 throughout Southern California, is credited with having been the "discoverer" of Laguna Beach.

AMONG the friends the beachcomers had back home were artists. They too, came for a look, thoughtfully bringing along brush, palette and paint, and they too stayed to put the iridescent sunsets, the breaking waves, the coves, the rocks and the trees, the hills and the gulls on canvas. More artists, seeking solace and inspiration, took up abode in Laguna, and first thing they realized they had a full-bloom colony of their own brethren. Typical of the early colony artists was the late Frank Cuprien, an eastern painter who in 1911 decided to go to Laguna early artists who were prominently identified with the growth and development of the community were Gardner Symons, William Wendt, William Griffith, Joseph Kleitsch, Anna A. Hills, Karl Yens, George Turland, Lee Hayes, Thomas Hunt, Conway Griffith, Tom Lewis, Clarence Hinkle, and the present "dean of Laguna artists," Galen Doss.

Artist invited artist friend to come over for a look at their paintings. They all liked the idea. They voted for a public showing; hung their masterpieces on a fence and invited everybody around to inspect the exhibitions.

When continued growth of the colony became a dreaded certainty, fences and walls were held inadequate for artistic development, and a small building was acquired as an art gallery. But it wasn't long until the need for more adequate quarters became imperative, and a bold suggestion was made that a permanent gallery be built. The Laguna Beach Art Association was created with 150 members, comprising 35 artists, 14 of whom lived in Laguna. The rest of the membership embraced residents of Southland cities and towns. The gallery was opened July 27, 1918. Then some years later this was outgrown and a tract of land was purchased on a hill overlooking the Pacific at what is now Coast Highway and Cliff Drive. With great fanfare ground was broken for this gallery on Aug. 25, 1928. Two years ago it was enlarged, and is now one of the few self-sustaining art galleries in the United States; perhaps the only one.

LAGUNA BEACH is now known throughout the country for its Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters as created by Artist-Real-ator Roy M. Ropp.

With the artists' colony firmly established it was inevitable that progress, with its confusion and conflict, should follow. Gas, electricity, telephones and automobiles came and remained. Highway 101 slashed right through the center of the colony, and the original settlers loudly lamented this intrusion. They wanted Laguna Beach to remain as it was, free, unfettered, unspoiled, languid, and off the beaten path. Their cries availed them naught, and even today there are those who would prefer to close the book on progress and go back to chapter one with lanterns, dirt roads and quiet.

People who were familiar with ceramics have come to Laguna and established their "pot shops" along the highway, on side streets and even in private garages. That business is flourishing, and is Laguna's only industry. There is no room topographically, nor by city ordinance for "heavy" industry, a situation bewailed by the more commercially minded, and bravely hailed by the artists.

There are perhaps few cities the size of Laguna Beach to

Beach for a one-day visit. He remained until his death in 1948. Until a few weeks before his death Artist Cuprien insisted on living as he had when he first came—a coal oil lamp at night, a battered wood stove for cooking, and a huge fireplace for warmth. When he died his $35,000 estate was bequeathed to the Laguna Beach Art Gallery. He was known far and wide as the "dean of Laguna artists."

When the road down Laguna Canyon was made more accessible for automobiles, Laguna started to change. Model T Fords began to crowd the horse and buggy. The one telephone in Nick Isch's combined grocery store and post office became over-popular, and club life was unwittingly born at the cracker barrel conclaves in his place of business. The gregarious colonists voted for Saturday night dances; musical recitals and lectures were provided by visiting dignitaries.

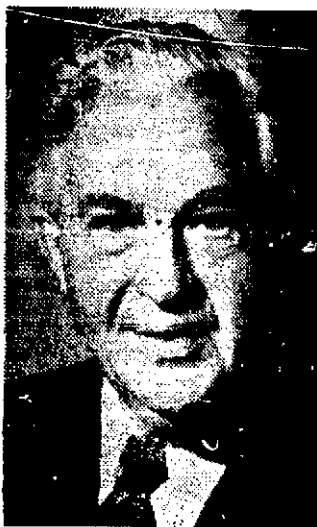

Laguna really became art conscious when Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Payne came to the colony from Chicago. Other boast the number of clubs, social organizations, study groups, lodges, musical boosters and religious faiths than can be listed in the art colony by the sea. No one need want for a group with which to meet.

Art is a trademark, slogan and way of life in Laguna and it is appropriate that an artist should be at work in this view of coast looking toward the city.

Laguna has an outstanding high school, two elementary schools and a third to be constructed within the next year; several private schools, many churches and its self-sustaining art gallery.

The influence of the artist is noted in many public buildings and homes. Before the day of the planning commission a home was built wherever the bulldozer wanted it put, whether a road led to it or not. Consequently, many of Laguna's streets twist and turn, and some squirm into the hills where the more timid women don't care to dwell. But the "view" is the thing, and the higher on the hill the home is built, the more expansive the view of ocean and coastline, and the more costly is the house, according to real estate standards.

LAGUNA BEACH theoretically ceased being a colony in 1927, when by public vote it assumed the status of a city with incidental city council, police and fire departments, a department of parks and poundmaster to regiment the lives of the canine population.

Living is still carefree and unique in Laguna Beach. Women visitors who back home wouldn't dare appear in public in scant sunsuits, bare feet and midriffs, join with nonchalance the regular residents who go about their shopping or promenading with just enough on to escape the nudist classification.

Often visitors to Laguna Beach express disappointment because they don't see artists before their easels on all street corners and vacant lots. Nor do they find the artists dwelling in one particular Greenwich Village. Fact is, the artists live all over Laguna Beach, in homes of their own, or in apartments, and one must go about it systematically to find their locations. They don't go about town in smock and beret—they look just like the grocer, the doctor, the druggist, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. There is a sprinkling of modernists, but the majority of Laguna artists stick to the conservative. Both groups have their paintings prominently displayed in hotel lobbies, shop windows and in the town's two banks.

Laguna will continue to be an artist colony. The Festival of Arts sponsors free classes in art; the high school offers art instruction in adult education courses, and the small fry are imbued with the desire to use paint and brush during the Festival of Arts "Painting for Fun" classes. The elementary schools and the high school find the boys and girls of Laguna particularly receptive to art and this, of course, is only natural.

This painting, "Unmasked," won top award in Laguna gallery held in connection with 1952 Art Festival.

Ceramics, an art in itself, is also the only industry in Laguna Beach. There is no room topographically, nor by city ordinance, for "heavy" industries.

Laguna Beach

Where Art Is a Way of Life

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with our neighboring cities and communities. Others in the series will appear from time to time. Watch for them.

BACK in the days when the horse and buggy substituted for the automobile, the radio and television, families were smitten with the urge to go places, and in Riverside, Santa Ana, and other Southland communities papa and mama and the children eyed Laguna Beach as the ideal destination for a vacation.

So Dobbin and the buggy trundled them there.

Riversiders established their camp on the sands south of what is now the main beach, and the Santa Ana Wayfarers preferred the northern stretches. They were the definite visitors. People from other areas pitched camp in between. They visited back and forth and had beach parties, songfests and romance.

Many of them built their own beach cottages, and when the bank account warranted, quit their homes and became permanent Laguna Beach residents. The reason they did so was because they liked to live in Laguna Beach, the primitive urge squirmed within them; they discovered it was fun to get along without some of the necessities of life.

They had no meetings to attend — the beach colony was without clubs. They could find their way around at night by the aid of a flickering lantern, and could go to bed anytime after sunset. There were no tooting trains to disturb their slumbers, because Laguna has never had a railroad.

Back to their home towns went word of the joy of living in the little colony by the sea. It couldn't be true, thought many who heard the unsolicited testimonials, so they journeyed thither for firsthand proof. Most of them remained and built their own cottages. Their words of praise were so profound that a new word was born to designate them — Lagunatics, which word is still freely used. Norman St. Clair, whose water colors created great interest in 1900 throughout Southern California, is credited with having been the "discoverer" of Laguna Beach.

AMONG the friends the beachcomers had back home were artists. They too, came for a look, thoughtfully bringing along brush, palette and paint, and they too stayed to put the iridescent sunsets, the breaking waves, the coves, the rocks and the trees, the hills and the gulls on canvas. More artists, seeking solace and inspiration, took up abode in Laguna, and first thing they realized they had a full-bloom colony of their own brethren. Typical of the early colony artists was the late Frank Cuprien, an eastern painter who in 1911 decided to go to Laguna early artists who were prominently identified with the growth and development of the community were Gardner Symons, William Wendt, William Griffith, Joseph Kleitsch, Anna A. Hills, Karl Yens, George Turland, Lee Hayes, Thomas Hunt, Conway Griffith, Tom Lewis, Clarence Hinkle, and the present "dean of Laguna artists," Galen Doss.

Artist invited artist friend to come over for a look at their paintings. They all liked the idea. They voted for a public showing; hung their masterpieces on a fence and invited everybody around to inspect the exhibitions.

When continued growth of the colony became a dreaded certainty, fences and walls were held inadequate for artistic development, and a small building was acquired as an art gallery. But it wasn't long until the need for more adequate quarters became imperative, and a bold suggestion was made that a permanent gallery be built. The Laguna Beach Art Association was created with 150 members, comprising 35 artists, 14 of whom lived in Laguna. The rest of the membership embraced residents of Southland cities and towns. The gallery was opened July 27, 1918. Then some years later this was outgrown and a tract of land was purchased on a hill overlooking the Pacific at what is now Coast Highway and Cliff Drive. With great fanfare ground was broken for this gallery on Aug. 25, 1928. Two years ago it was enlarged, and is now one of the few self-sustaining art galleries in the United States; perhaps the only one.

LAGUNA BEACH is now known throughout the country for its Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters as created by Artist-Real-estate Roy M. Ropp.

With the artists' colony firmly established it was inevitable that progress, with its confusion and conflict, should follow. Gas, electricity, telephones and automobiles came and remained. Highway 101 slashed right through the center of the colony, and the original settlers loudly lamented this intrusion. They wanted Laguna Beach to remain as it was, free, unfettered, unspoiled, languid, and off the beaten path. Their cries availed them naught, and even today there are those who would prefer to close the book on progress and go back to chapter one with lanterns, dirt roads and quiet.

People who were familiar with ceramics have come to Laguna and established their "pot shops" along the highway, on side streets and even in private garages. That business is flourishing, and is Laguna's only industry. There is no room topographically, nor by city ordinance for "heavy" industry, a situation bewailed by the more commercially minded, and bravely hailed by the artistics.

There are perhaps few cities the size of Laguna Beach to

Beach for a one-day visit. He remained until his death in 1948. Until a few weeks before his death Artist Cuprien insisted on living as he had when he first came—a coal oil lamp at night, a battered wood stove for cooking, and a huge fireplace for warmth. When he died his $35,000 estate was bequeathed to the Laguna Beach Art Gallery. He was known far and wide as the "dean of Laguna artists."

When the road down Laguna Canyon was made more accessible for automobiles, Laguna started to change. Model T Fords began to crowd the horse and buggy. The one telephone in Nick Isch's combined grocery store and post office became over-popular, and club life was unwittingly born at the cracker barrel conclaves in his place of business. The gregarious colonists voted for Saturday night dances; musical recitals and lectures were provided by visiting dignitaries.

Laguna really became art conscious when Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Payne came to the colony from Chicago. Other

Dimes Versus Polio

IT'S TIME again to put our dimes on the march against a deadly enemy—infantile paralysis.

The annual March of Dimes campaign opens officially in the Long Beach area Tuesday. Each of us has a vital personal interest. When polio strikes, it plays no favorites. And it does strike frequently.

Figures compiled by the Long Beach Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, show that 159 new cases were reported in 1952 in the area under the chapter's jurisdiction, which is the area within the boundaries of the Long Beach Unified School District. That figure may be compared with 96 new cases reported in 1951.

This is something to remember when you receive an appeal from the foundation or when you notice one of the 2000 coin containers which will be placed in local stores, banks and public buildings to receive contributions. Don't pass up an opportunity to invest in defense against a common enemy.

Last year the goal of the local drive was $100,000. We fell short by a slim margin of $828. This year the goal is again $100,000. Let's try to put the margin on the other side this time. That $828 is more than enough to care for a patient in the polio ward for a month.

Polio is one of the most expensive maladies in existence. The cost is so high because round-the-clock nursing care is required. Respirators work every second of the day, and patients must be watched constantly. A crew of mechanics must be retained in case there's a power failure or an iron lung quits operating through some mechanical fault.

Thus the biggest portion of the money contributed in the March of Dimes goes to care of patients. Second biggest slice is devoted to research and education. Much smaller amounts are used for administration and other necessary expenses.

Here are some of the items polio dimes buy:
150,000 dimes—Electron microscope.
15,000 dimes—Respirator.
150 dimes—Physical therapy treatment for one day.
143 dimes—Hospital service for one day.
45,000 dimes—A professional fellowship for medical study.

Put in less technical terms, your dimes buy care and hope for those who have been stricken and those yet to suffer. Your dimes buy the medical training and exploration which may lead toward discovery of the secrets of polio prevention.

You can find no better investment.
Let's start them marching.

AN EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

'53's Hopeful Start

By JOHN S. KNIGHT
Editor, Chicago Daily News

The New Year begins on a note of high optimism. Gen. Eisenhower's election was reassuring to the country. A more confident attitude prevails in business and industry. Labor does not fear Eisenhower. The people trust him.

Only war and the possibility of an extended war pose a real threat to our security.

However, the Eisenhower administration will have more than its share of problems. The most perplexing ones are to be inherited from the Truman regime but others will continue to develop so long as the Western world and the Soviet Union are in sharp conflict.

Still, Eisenhower will take office with the great advantage of having the new cabinet members and other important functionaries well acquainted with the duties and responsibilities of the offices they are to occupy.

Ike's celerity in naming his administrative heads has helped tremendously in bridging the gap between the old and the new. Following the inauguration, Operation Cleanup should proceed without delay.

Without invading the prediction field, here are a few personal impressions of the tasks facing Ike, and what he may do about them.

KOREA: I have been asked whether peace will come to Korea in 1953.

Of course, it is impossible to give a categorical answer to this question. Peace could come only through a military victory or a negotiated truce. At this stage, neither seems likely.

Actually, there would seem to be no good reason why Moscow should desire peace. They have our best battle-trained troops tied down in Korea and we are paying a high price for our "police action" in blood and resources.

This is important to remember, the Korean conflict will not remain static with Eisenhower as commander in chief.

By spring, there will be new and interesting developments. The situation will not be permitted to drag along as it has for the past 18 months.

THE COLD WAR: Eisenhower and his State Secretary-designate, John Foster Dulles, share the view that we need a positive change from the purely defensive attitude of President Truman and Secretary Acheson in the so-called cold war.

The first indication of this change came in Dulles' comment upon Stalin's indicated "desire" for peace, as outlined in a reply by Stalin to a series of questions propounded by the New York Times.

Dulles said simply: What have you to offer? We shall be glad to give any proposals our prompt and thoughtful attention. The new Eisenhower-Dulles approach will make us look a little less foolish in the eyes of the world and may, in time, bring a new measure of respect and approbation for our leadership.

OUR DOMESTIC ECONOMY: There are no indications that we shall suffer a major downward trend in 1953.

A combination of tremendous war orders and the amazing ability of our free competitive system to fashion new products and create a demand for them should buttress the economy against even a mild recession.

The present inflationary short-term government financing will be revised in favor of longer maturities at slightly higher interest rates.

Prices will remain high in 1953 but the inflationary fires should gradually subside. You may expect, therefore, that some air will be let out of the so-called boom but it will certainly not collapse.

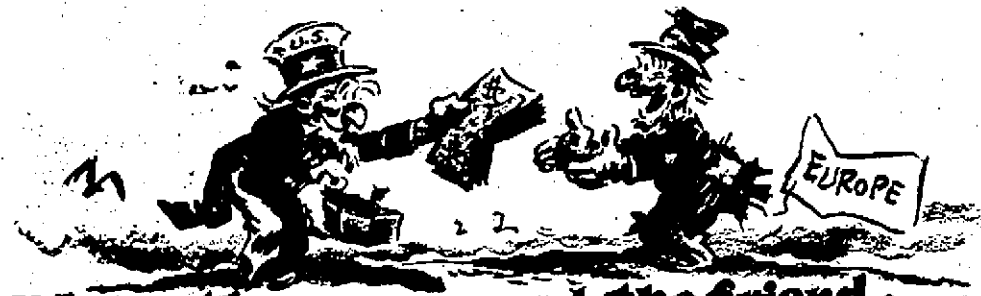

OTHER YEAR-END VIEWS: American subversives will be rooted out of the United Nations. . . . The present loose system of screening U. N. employees is to be replaced by strict security checks.

Changes in the Joint Chiefs of Staff may be expected as their terms expire. . . . Gen. James Van Fleet will remain in Korea if Eisenhower comes up with a comprehensive plan for ending hostilities. . . . The Taft-Hartley Act is to be amended. . . . Labor, business and Taft will co-operate.

In the event that the Communists hurl their airpower against U. N. positions below the 38th Parallel, you may expect prompt and devastating retaliation north of the Yalu River and into Manchuria.

Eisenhower would not be slow to strike hard, even at the risk of getting into a bigger war. Because of his military background and concern for the troops in the field, Ike will take any measures that are required to prevent defeat by the enemy.

Major Colleges May Face Antitrust Suit Over 'Monopoly' of TV Football

WASHINGTON—To sue or not to sue the nation's leading colleges—that is the problem now being debated by Attorney General James McGranery.

The suit, which would be against the National Collegiate Athletic Association for monopolizing football telecasts, has been recommended by the Justice Department's antitrust division. If McGranery goes ahead with this recommendation, he will dump one of the hottest of hot potatoes in the lap of new Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

For the suit will indirectly involve one of Brownell's cabinet colleagues, Charles E. Wilson, retiring head of General Motors, which has a monopoly on the football broadcasts.

On the other side of the fence, however, will be another member of the Eisenhower official family, namely Harold Stassen. His University of Pennsylvania is one of only two major colleges which opposed the monopoly of football telecasts. The other rebel is Notre Dame.

VIOLATION?

Under this monopoly telecast agreement major colleges permit the telecasting of only one football game each week. Furthermore, games can be telecast on only one network, NBC, and sponsored by only one company, General Motors.

This, argue McGranery's antitrust experts, is clearly a violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act and deprives thousands of fans of watching football on television.

The University of Pennsylvania and Notre Dame agree, but McGranery has repeatedly put off making a decision. At this writing, he is practically tossing coins to decide the question of bringing the suit.

WAVE OF IDEAS

It escaped much notice in the European cables, but Premier Gasperi of Italy lost out at the recent NATO meeting on one of the most important proposals to combat Russia—namely, a separate NATO propaganda agency.

De Gasperi, who faces the difficult task that one-third of the Italian population is Communist, urged his NATO colleagues that every through Europe was armed to the teeth, it still could not prevent Communist penetration unless we were able to sell the people on "freedom and peace."

"The more we use education and propaganda to seek international understanding, the greater we reduce the chance of war," De Gasperi argued.

"Therefore it is just as important for NATO nations to conduct the battle of ideas as to arm for defense."

Specifically, De Gasperi wanted to expand the Voice of America into the Voice of Europe and to urge a United States of Europe.

This idea is similar to the proposal made by Eisenhower's advisers shortly after he arrived in Paris two years ago.

At that time Ike's public relations experts proposed broadcasts by Eisenhower to the troops, translated into different languages, to explain the reasons behind NATO, the need for unity and the principles of freedom for which NATO stood.

They also proposed a friendship-free train which would tour Europe, illustrating the importance of European unity. The train was to carry such symbols as Great Britain's Magna Carta, the Gutenberg Bible and other historic documents indicating the hard-fought steps by which Europe obtained its freedom.

STUBBORN BRITAIN

However, the British sat on this idea and sat on it hard. At first, British friends on NATO, such as Denmark and Norway, carried the ball for London.

But when this columnist was in London about this time, I talked personally to Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell and two other British cabinet members on the importance of NATO's freedom-unity propaganda. They, however, were adamant. England, it was obvious, still followed its old tradition of opposition to European unity.

Last month it was again the British who worked backstage to spike De Gasperi's propaganda proposal. In the end, a wishy-washy resolution was adopted which meant almost nothing.

SARNOFF'S DREAM

David Sarnoff, chairman of the giant Radio Corporation of America, was lunching at the Pentagon with Secretary of Defense Lovett the other day. He has been drafted to help advise Lovett on manpower problems. During the luncheon Sarnoff told the following story:

Owen D. Young, then head of General Electric, had once hired an ex-colonel to advise on G. E.'s industrial problems. Young told the colonel to make a six-week survey in order to tighten up business. At that time the Radio Corporation of America, then part of General Electric, was doing $5,000,000 worth of business annually.

After a six-week survey the colonel came back to Young and recommended he fire Sarnoff.

"He's a great dreamer," the colonel advised. "He can think about nothing except putting a radio in every American home."

wholehearted support to the American war effort in Korea.

Mr. Acheson is honest, conscientious and loyal, but he is devoid of imagination. He thinks everybody else in official life is honest, too. He does not yet see the pattern of Communist intrigue as it worked inside the State Department, influencing a wrong course toward Nationalist China. By the same token, he doesn't see what harm any disloyal Americans operating behind the scenes inside the U. N. with full access to other U. N. officials and with the immense prestige of the American government behind them, can do by exerting influence favorable to the Soviets that would damage American interests.

A diplomatic policy that leads to a stalemate in Korea or a long list of casualties in Korea every week. This is also a matter of "national security," especially to the parents of the dead and wounded Americans.

UNIMAGINATIVE

Mr. Acheson's testimony reads as if he thinks a spy is only someone who gives away secret.

He doesn't visualize the influence wielded by innocent-looking citizens of the United States whose record of disloyalty has recently awakened suspicion.

Mr. Acheson argued that his subordinates shouldn't be questioned by Congressional committees as to how they evaluate FBI data and why they didn't hand out adverse comment to the U. N. about job applicants there or why suspicions of disloyalty were not followed up promptly. He said the subordinates were doing only what they were told to do and that "responsible officers can be put on the stand to explain their actions."

Yet when Mr. Acheson, as a responsible officer, was put on the stand, he said he hadn't known anything about the accused individuals in the U. N., whereupon Rep. Hinkins (R-Calif.) burst forth with this comment:

"I suggest you look into the case of David Weintraub. Forty-three times he was cited by the FBI on information sent to the State Department and he still occupies a high position in the United Nations."

Politics to Hold Pace in New Year

COMPARED with 1952, this won't be much of a voting year, but it would be a mistake to look upon it in prospect as a nonpolitical year. On all fronts there will be major developments in politics and related fields worthy of the attention of all good citizens.

It will be a year of important action for the legislative bodies to which we elected representatives in the 1952 balloting. California's Legislature and the national Congress will get down to business in the next few days. What these groups do may profoundly affect the people of this area.

Of special regional interest in the state legislative field will be action on highways and matters concerning fringe population developments. How to finance highway development will be a major topic in the legislative news from Sacramento through much of the coming session and this area, which needs highway improvements as much as any in the state, will be vitally concerned with what happens to assure a speed-up in the state's highway program.

FRINGE PROBLEM

The "fringe" problem as considered by the lawmakers will probably be concerned with the question as to whether city dwellers are paying more than their share for benefits which largely go to unincorporated areas. An Assembly committee has been studying this matter. As an example of one issue likely to arise, the committee this week recommended that certain unincorporated areas in Los Angeles County should pay more for the protection they get from the sheriff's office, with a proportionate lightening of the burdens to cities which get no direct benefits from this outside activity.

That old favorite, the tideland issue, will be up again in the national Congress, and of course that will be important to Long Beach, whose valuable tidelands came to it through a state grant. In the last week, both sides of that issue—the federal ownership advocates and those who want state control—were talking Congressional action to support their theories.

No city officials will be elected in Long Beach this year. The next election of councilmen and other officials will occur in 1954. But a special city election is coming up on April 3, the day a school board election is to be held.

The school board election may provoke exceptional interest this year. Three positions are to be filled. The incumbents whose terms expire are Eugene Tinscher, George Vermillion and Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson. One of these, Mr. Tinscher, has stated he will not seek re-election.

While the school election is nonpartisan, there has been some talk in Democratic circles of offering the candidacies of certain Democrats for school board posts with the idea of getting these people before the public. The Democrats are doing considerable thinking about 1954.

TO THE EDITOR:

I am disappointed, peeved and regretted at not having the Municipal Band more often lately.

I was a resident of Long Beach from 1913 to 1939 and, being an old handsman, was a regular attendant at the concerts. When the Auditorium was built, we were given to understand that the concert hall was for the band. If so, why is it not used for that purpose?

Is the fault with the management of the city hall? Do they prefer the "meows" and odor of a cat show just for a few nickels above the music of the band?

They should realize that this wonderful musical organization, under its efficient director, furnishes us the best band music and is the best advertising asset the city has.

If there is not a place in the Auditorium for the band, why not build a band hall near there so that there might be daily concerts? It could be built for less than they are spending to send the Mounted Police to Washington to show off.

TO THE EDITOR:

I was hoping the newly-elected administration would ignore Russia and Stalin's blarney. We should go on building our defense and let them do the guessing.

It is time now to take the bit in our teeth and go on with our plans and keep what we are doing to ourselves.

If Russia is ever sincere in wanting to talk peace, let her come out in the open before the U. N. And if we accept debate, put a time limit on it.

At any rate, let's drop being children and expect nothing from them.

are 65. Reduced income is a natural objection. But finding something to do to keep hands and brains busy is the big problem. It is safe to say only a minority of men are as happy after retirement as they were while working. On the average their health was better even considering the advanced age. Those with hobbies to occupy their time are the fortunate ones but they are certainly in the minority.

There is also the economic problem of supplying the needs of the increasing older group. Today there are about 13 million past 65 years. By 1960 they will number 15 million and by 1975 there will be 21 million. That means this age group will increase by 67 per cent over 1950. For the same period younger people will increase only 24 per cent. Thus if all the old people retired at age 65 it would throw a tremendous production burden on the younger people.

It will be surprising to many readers to know California and Florida are not predominantly populated by oldsters. The national average is 8.3 per cent of our population. 65 years or older. California and Florida have almost exactly that average. But Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and the New England states have 10 per cent of their population over 65 years of age. Most southern states have very low percentages of old people, evidently due to a higher mortality among Negroes and farmers in those areas.

The over-all increasing population aged 65 or older is not, as is often stated, due to greatly increasing the span of life. It is almost entirely due to saving lives at birth and from youth diseases. The individual at age 35 today has only a year or two more life expectancy than he had 50 years ago. But because deaths are avoided through our normal span of life there are more living out the Biblical three score and 10 years. That is the reason we will find our predominant group in this country among those aged 65 or older. Their numbers will have great influence on elections, pensions and medical plans. A large part of our production machine will be used to supply needs and wants of this group.

Statistics of the Census Bureau clearly show this problem. They are evidence that we must revise our ideas. In the opinion of this writer a subsistent pension should be provided for all at age 65. But it should not be necessary to retire at that age unless the individual so desires or because he is unable to perform useful work. The subsistent pension should be at least $100 a month. There should be no other pensions allowed excepting those paid for by the individual. It may also be worth considering granting the pension and still allowing the individual to work part time to supplement his income as well as being a needed production worker in our economy. Cost of such a program would be no greater than our present social security and private pension plans.

This problem of the oldsters has come upon us as a serious problem only the last 10 years. It must be accepted as a major issue that must be settled. But first it is important that we carefully check our thinking and probably revise our ideas as to just how old is old.—L. A. C.

TO THE EDITOR:

I was hoping the newly-elected administration would ignore Russia and Stalin's blarney. We should go on building our defense and let them do the guessing.

It is time now to take the bit in our teeth and go on with our plans and keep what we are doing to ourselves.

If Russia is ever sincere in wanting to talk peace, let her come out in the open before the U. N. And if we accept debate, put a time limit on it.

At any rate, let's drop being children and expect nothing from them.

I think your columnist, David Lawrence, has the right idea.

I got a telephone call at 2 a. m. the other morning. Wrong number.

Now, I ask you, can't the county board of supervisors do something about a condition like that?

Perching Pole May Not Face Prosecution

No disciplinary action is expected against the husky young Polish internee who defied U. S. immigration and naturalization authorities Friday night by perching for 11 hours, 80 feet above ground on a radio mast at the harbor.

That was the word Saturday from Herman R. Landon, head of the Immigration station at Terminal Island.

Landon also said that the 25-year-old Pole, Mieczyslaw (Michael) Kozel, will remain in detention until his parole period begins on Jan. 31.

At the time, Landon said, efforts will be made to deport Kozel to a country of his choice. The Polish national has expressed fears that he would be delivered to his Communist-dominated homeland.

Kozel was taken into custody last July 31 when it was determined that he had been in the United States illegally since 1948.

Prayer Killing Clues Sought

LAKE CHARLES, La. — (AP) Five persons were questioned Saturday night as police sought the slayer of a 41-year-old woman who was shot as she knelt in prayer.

Mrs. Estelle Tower, clutching her rosary tightly, fled from a friend's home after two shots struck her hand, shoulder and chest late Friday night.

A trail of blood marked her path from her bedside where she had been kneeling to the sidewalk where she collapsed and died.

Police said they were questioning a Portuguese merchant seaman through an interpreter. The only possible clue to the slayer's identity, police said, was a footprint found in a drainage ditch behind the house. A plaster-of-paris cast was made of the print.

At the time of the shooting, Mrs. Tower was staying at the home of Mrs. Mabel Leaggo. Mrs. Leaggo said Mrs. Tower told her she was going to pray and prepare for bed. Mrs. Leaggo left the house, picked up her two children at a movie and returned a few minutes later to find that her guest had been shot.

She said she had left Mrs. Tower kneeling by her bed telling her rosary. She said the room was darkened.

City Detective Mark Hogan said earlier Saturday police were working on the theory that robbery was the motive. Hogan said police theorized that someone who expected Mrs. Tower to collect $125 in rent had planned to rob her. He said the rent had not been collected.

City and parish authorities said several theories were advanced but the most recurring one was that someone, thinking the house empty after seeing Mrs. Leaggo leave, entered to rob the home.

U.S., Iran Talk Aim At Ending Oil Issue

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) Premier Mohammed Mossadeq and U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson Saturday had completed almost nine hours of intensive discussion seeking possible means of settling the British-Iranian oil dispute.

The talks so far, a source close to the American embassy said, produced "an atmosphere of healthy but restrained hopefulness."

It seemed clear that the premier and Henderson now are down to the business of specific terms of a possible settlement.

Four in Plane Survive Crash

OAKLAND — (AP) Two youths, and their girl friends, lost in the fog on a flight from Oakland to Reno, miraculously survived a crash landing in the mountains about 20 miles southeast of Red Bluff late Friday, one of them reported Saturday.

The pilot, Ray McLaughlin, 19, of Half Moon Bay, and his girl friend, Lucille Gonyea, 22, of San Francisco, suffered minor injuries and remained at the wreck. Unhurt, Al Kuntzman, 19, and Lucille Schoep, 22, both of San Francisco, hiked out for help.

The plane, a rented Beechcraft Bonanza, was demolished when it struck a tree in a dead-stick landing.

Kuntzman informed the Oakland Tribune by telephone that he and Miss Schoep reached the town of Vina Saturday after an eight-hour walk.

1924 Thrill Killer To Seek Parole

CHICAGO — (AP) Nathan Leopold, partner in the 1924 thrill slaying of young Bobby Franks, will make a bid for freedom next week.

He will appear before the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board, which will open hearings Thursday at the Stateville Penitentiary, in Joliet. Leopold, short, stocky and 48 now, has been in prison for 28 years.

He and Richard Loeb were given concurrent terms of 99 years and life for kidnaping and murder in the Franks case—a crime that shocked the nation. Loeb died in prison in 1938.

Leopold and Loeb, both 19 and University of Chicago students, abducted the 14-year-old Franks boy. They bashed his skull with a chisel, laid his body in a wooded area and sent a demand for $10,000 in ransom to the lad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Franks.

Eisler to Speak At Rally on Spies

BERLIN — (AP) Bail-jumping Gerhart Eisler will address a mass meeting in East Berlin this week in protest against the execution of U. S. atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The Communist News Agency announced Saturday.

It was the first time the Communists mentioned Eisler since they fired him as chief of the information office Monday. The announcement which listed him as second speaker after Deputy Premier Otto Nuschke referred to him only as "Professor Eisler."

It was thought the Communists might have ordered Eisler's public appearance to counter Western reports of his downfall.

Art is a trademark, slogan and way of life in Laguna and it is appropriate that an artist should be at work in this view of coast looking toward the city.

boast the number of clubs, social organizations, study groups, lodges, musical boosters and religious faiths than can be listed in the art colony by the sea. No one need wait for a group with which to meet.

Laguna has an outstanding high school, two elementary schools and a third to be constructed within the next year; several private schools, many churches and its self-sustaining art gallery.

The influence of the artist is noted in many public buildings and homes. Before the day of the planning commission a home was built wherever the builder wanted it put, whether a road led to it or not. Consequently, many of Laguna's streets twist and turn, and some squirm into the hills where the more timid women don't care to dwell. But the "view" is the thing, and the higher on the hill the home is built, the more expansive the view of ocean and coastline, and the more costly is the house, according to real estate standards.

LAGUNA BEACH theoretically ceased being a colony in 1927, when by public vote it assumed the status of a city with incidental city council, police and fire departments, a department of parks and poundmaster to regiment the lives of the canine population.

Living is still carefree and unique in Laguna Beach. Women visitors who back home wouldn't dare appear in public in scant sunsuits, bare feet and midriffs, join with nonchalance the regular residents who go about their shopping or promenading with just enough on to escape the nudist classification.

Often visitors to Laguna Beach express disappointment because they don't see artists

before their easels on all street corners and vacant lots. Nor do they find the artists dwelling in one particular Greenwich Village. Fact is, the artists live all over Laguna Beach, in homes of their own, or in apartments, and one must go about it systematically to find their locations. They don't go about town in smock and beret—they look just like the grocer, the doctor, the druggist, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. There is a sprinkling of modernists, but the majority of Laguna artists stick to the conservative. Both groups have their paintings prominently displayed in hotel lobbies, shop windows and in the town's two banks.

Laguna will continue to be an artist colony. The Festival of Arts sponsors free classes in art; the high school offers art instruction in adult education courses, and the small fry are imbued with the desire to use paint and brush during the Festival of Arts "Painting for Fun" classes. The elementary schools and the high school find the boys and girls of Laguna particularly receptive to art and this, of course, is only natural.

This painting, "Unmasked," won top award in Laguna gallery held in connection with 1952 Art Festival.

Ceramics, an art in itself, is also the only industry in Laguna Beach. There is no room topographically, nor, by city ordinance, for "heavy" industries.

OPS to Study Beef Rollback

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) Price stabilization officials disclosed Saturday they plan to survey retail beef ceilings again this week to determine whether they should be rolled back to reflect sharp reductions in cattle prices.

A rollback of only a few cents would save housewives and other consumers millions of dollars.

These officials told the United Press that while farm commodities generally are in a slump, they think beef is the only item on which "profiteering" is threatened.

Farm prices dropped 3 per cent in the month ended Dec. 15. At that point they were 12 per cent below a year ago. The bulk of the decline was in cattle, cotton, eggs, hogs and milk.

As to other farm price drops, other than beef, OPS officials indicated they were not worried. They pointed out that since the Dec. 15 slump, hog prices have started strengthening.

Cotton has been selling so far below ceilings that ceilings have been suspended. This also goes for goods made of cotton, including textiles and all clothing, except children's.

On milk, OPS has margin controls at distributor levels and price officials describe the regulations as "tight."

Egg prices at distributor levels generally have followed farm prices up and down. These prices were frozen in January, 1951. Since then distributors have been allowed to pass on cost increases and are supposed to reflect cost decreases.

Heavy Atomic Toll Foreseen

NEW YORK — (U.P.) A commission of top experts reported Saturday after exhaustive study that urban centers in the United States are highly vulnerable to the weapons of modern war and predicted that a full-scale atomic attack on major cities could result in "millions of casualties."

More than 1000 pages long, the report was prepared by a commission of prominent scientists, educators, businessmen and government officials. It covered America's vulnerability to atomic bombs, guided missiles and biological, chemical and radiological devices.

The report was not encouraging. But something can be done and must be done at once, the report continued.

Over-all, it asked for the war. The report was prepared by a commission of prominent scientists, educators, businessmen and government officials. It covered America's vulnerability to atomic bombs, guided missiles and biological, chemical and radiological devices.

Mustering Out Pay Exceeds $250 Million

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) Mustering out pay has poured more than $250,000,000 into the pockets of 1,000,000 Korean war veterans, it was learned Saturday.

These are men called into service since the start of the war. They are entitled to such pay on this basis: $100 for less than 60 days active service in the United States; $200 for 60 days or more service in the United States, and $300 for 60 days service or longer with at least one day's duty overseas.

This opinion was expressed Saturday by Dr. J. Russell Shea, Redondo mayor, who said he is making plans to seek again federal aid in alleviating the steady advance of the ocean.

Mayor Shea said he may travel to Washington within the next month in an effort to get government officials to appropriate sufficient funds to complete a breakwater off the much-battered North Beach. Previous efforts have failed.

BLAME BREAKWATER
Many observers feel that the partially completed breakwater, construction of which was stopped in 1939, may be responsible for the frequent onslaughts by huge ground swells. They advance the theory that the line of stones intensifies an offshore current which has cut or at least deepened a submarine ravine. From this valley, waves pile up on a shelf extending from the shoreline to come crashing to the shore.

Mayor Shea says he thinks that the breakwater project can be completed at a cost of between $300,000 and $400,000. This would entail a 1200-foot extension of the present breakwater and a mole extending seaward from about Beryl St. A channel would be left between the mole and the breakwater for access by small craft.

NEW DISTRICT MENACED
Unless this work is completed soon, Mayor Shea says he thinks the sea will eat into the shoreline towards the sparkling new Triangle Shopping District.

The area seaward from the Triangle was one of the first to succumb to heavy seas which rushed ashore about a year after the breakwater was erected. A wide beach was eaten away and an amusement center was destroyed. The four-block strip now is nothing but a narrow, rock-strewn desert.

Bearing the brunt of thundering attacks during the past few years are two score waterfront houses and apartments from Beryl St. north to about Sixth St. Despite tons of rock dumped between them and the sea, wooden barricades and structural strengthenings, they continue to crumble and weaken with each spell.

CONDEMNATION FACES
Officials of the state housing division are due to inspect the buildings this week and the condemnation of many of them looms as a strong possibility.

The breakwater was begun by the city as the first portion of a fine but meagerage envisioned by city officials almost two decades ago. Plans for completion of the complete harbor are still under consideration, but financing remains a stumbling block. It would cost about $5,000,000, according to Shea.

Located directly in the path of many storms moving down from the north, the Redondo strand was subjected to occasional damaging blows even before the breakwater was built. Still remembered by old timers is a howler which sent combers ashore with havoc-wrecking effect in 1914.

But the immediate future holds little hope for the wave-weary residents of the area besieged by the sea.

They can only shore up their dwellings and await the next attack — which may come with the next storm or a high tide period due in two weeks.

School Closings Threatened by N.Y. Bus Strike

NEW YORK — (U.P.) New York's schools will be forced to close Monday because of a bus driver's strike. Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, said Saturday.

Quill said the superintendent of school "is making a serious mistake" in not ordering the schools closed now.

"I'm sure he will agree by Monday afternoon," he added. Quill told a press conference that he has invited Mayor Vincent Impellitteri to appear at a mass union meeting Sunday to offer a solution to the strike, which began New Year Day.

Because of the holidays the full impact of the strike has not yet been felt. The bus lines affected by the walkout normally carry 3,500,000 passengers a day.

U.S. Suspends Diplomat Nabbed for Drunkenness

WASHINGTON—(AP). The State Department Saturday cracked down on Foy D. Kohler, a diplomat who was arrested for drunkenness while carrying secret papers.

He was removed from the department's top level policy planning staff and was suspended from all duty for a month, without pay.

The department also announced it was meting out a formal reprimand, which becomes part of Kohler's record, to be considered any time he is up for promotion. Kohler, 44, and his wife, Phyllis, were returning home from a party in Arlington County, Va., about 2 a.m. Dec. 6, when their car ran off the road, clipped a telephone pole and landed its occupants in the hands of police and in the midst of a sensational situation. It turned out that Kohler had a briefcase containing State Department papers on the Tunisian-Moroccan situation which were stamped "secret."

KEEPS DOCUMENTS
Officials said that after the accident, Kohler kept the briefcase containing the papers in his hand until he handed it over to a State Department security officer who was summoned.

Saturday's action keeps Kohler in the foreign service but has the effect, due to the suspension, of putting up to the Eisenhower administration a decision on what kind of assignment should next be given him. He will be under suspension until after the new secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, takes office Jan. 20.

For Kohler Saturday's action was the second—and far more costly—round of penalties for his behavior. Two days after his arrest he paid a fine of $8.25. But his suspension from his job will

Like May Hit Allies' Lag on West Defenses

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP).

The Eisenhower administration's first task on the European cold war front almost certainly will be to inject new life into the lagging military buildup of America's western allies.

Especially critical, diplomatic experts here believe, is the delay in completing agreements for rearming Western Germany as part of an all European army force.

The policies to be followed by President-elect Eisenhower and Secretary of State-designate Dulles are expected to be indicated at their talk with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in New York this week as well as in meetings later with other European leaders.

Of course, after the administration takes over Jan. 20 detailed policies and plans will be spelled out to Congress.

The new regime will inherit not only a largely completed blueprint for the defense of the West, but also a variety of problems which the Truman administration has not been able to solve to make that blueprint come to life.

BIG OPPORTUNITY
Eisenhower and Dulles also inherit, according to their own earlier estimates of the situation, a wide-open opportunity to try to go beyond the master strategy of the present administration.

During the election campaign, Eisenhower suggested moves to render the Kremlin worried and uncertain about its hold over the satellite countries.

But it seems likely that effective use of the opportunity for such moves can be based only upon a well constructed defensive position which, though well advanced in many ways, does not yet exist as planned.

The German rearmament problem is at the heart of the western defense problem, as American officials see it, and the evidence generally indicates that Eisenhower has accepted this view.

GERMAN AID NEEDS

On the military side, authorities here have long contended that it will be impossible to develop an adequate defense force without German units. On the political side, the argument is that the Germans, for their own self respect and sense of security, must participate in their own defense and share the common burden along with neighboring countries.

Agreements to give the western German government virtual independence were signed last spring along with a treaty among the principal European continental allies to create the European defense community. Both France and Germany would participate in this community, which would place under one command the European armed forces of its members.

Thus it was believed the French would feel they had adequate safeguards to keep German rearmament under control. At the other end of the Mediterranean the new administration will face a far more serious problem in trying, as it is expected to do, to create a defense organization of the western powers and the Middle Eastern states. Success of this project depends on the effectiveness of western diplomacy, as officials here see it, in dealing with Premier Mohammed Naguib of Egypt and in preventing a new outbreak of serious trouble between the Arab states and Israel.

STRATEGIC PLANNING

A Middle East defense organization would provide for strategic planning for the defense of the whole area as a unit. Eventually a central command might grow out of the organization if the member states agreed. Certainly either the planning or the possible command outfit would be closely linked with the North Atlantic Alliance Organization in Paris.

Western European leaders, particularly the British, have been saying for months that the time has come to end reliance on American dollar handouts. Instead they would like the United States (1) To open its markets more widely to European goods, (2) To undertake assistance programs in other regions such as the Middle East and south Asia and (3) To export investment capital, both governmental and private, on a large scale.

Whether the Eisenhower administration will go along with the European idea that these other ways of making dollars available should be substituted for direct economic aid remains to be seen although the general dealt sympathetically with such suggestions in the campaign.

Irene Galloway To Head WAC's, Becomes Colonel

WASHINGTON—(AP). Col. Irene O. Galloway, 44, was sworn in Saturday as director of the Women's Army Corps to succeed Col. Mary A. Hallaren. Miss Galloway, a native of Carroll County, Iowa, was immediately promoted to colonel.

Army Secretary Frank Pace Jr. pinned the eagles of a full colonel on Miss Galloway's shoulders after Maj. Gen. William E. Bergin, Army adjutant general, administered the oath.

Col. Hallaren automatically steps down to lieutenant colonel if she remains in the WACs. Her plans have been kept secret.

Lt. Col. Ruby E. Herman, who had been scheduled to become director of the WACs, disclosed last week that she decided to become a housewife instead. Lt. Col. Herman said she married Movie Director Art Flannery Nov. 25 and quit the service.

Beef With a Flair

IF YOU'VE "hit bottom" budget-wise, and idea-wise, too—after all the holiday "flummery," it isn't necessary, really, to include your whole family in the letdown. That is, with what you feed them.

Mrs. Paul McClaughry, 2919 Mariquita St., is keeping this fact in mind as she prepares a dish which is in top position on the request list of her husband and two young daughters. It has no name—but for the sake of identifying it, we've dubbed it "Beef With a Flair." The recipe, in form for clipping, will be found elsewhere on this page. Here are some other recipes:

Romany Steak

1 pound ground round steak
1 11-oz. can condensed cream of tomato soup, undiluted
4 strips crumbled, crisp cooked bacon
Brown steak in skillet. Add soup and bacon. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Makes four servings.

Beef Ragout with Ketchup

1 pound round steak (½-inch thick)
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups water
½ cup tomato ketchup
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup washed raw rice

Cut meat into ½-inch cubes. Brown in fat, then stir in remaining ingredients. Cook slowly, about 40 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Add more water if needed. Makes four servings.

South Seas Casserole

2 avocados
1 cup chopped watercress
1 small onion, grated
2 flat cans tuna fish
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk

4 slices crisp bacon
1 cup crushed potato chips or crackers

Peel and dice avocados. Arrange in a casserole and sprinkle with watercress. Grate onion over the top. Drain tuna fish and flake. Heat soup and milk, add tuna fish and crumbled bacon. Pour over the avocado, sprinkle the top with potato chips or crackers. Bake at 450 deg. for 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

Or did you ever serve avocado salad dressing with fish, fruit or tomato salads? Do it like this:

Press the pulp of an avocado through a sieve. Add 2 tbsps. cream, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, 1 tsp. prepared mustard. Season with salt and pepper. Serves four to six.

Curried Ham Rolls

3 cups cooked rice
1 onion, minced
¼ cup chopped parsley
7 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
6 slices boiled ham (½ lb.)
½ teaspoon curry powder
4 tablespoons cream corn starch
3 cups milk

Mix rice, onion, parsley, 1 tablespoon of butter, half of salt and pepper together thoroughly. Place ½ cup of rice mixture on each slice of ham; roll up and place in baking dish. Combine remaining butter, salt, curry powder and cream corn starch; mix until smooth. Add milk. Heat to boiling over direct heat and then boil gently 1 minute, stirring constantly.

A dish that is a favorite in the Paul McClaughry home is "Beef With a Flair," being made here by Mrs. McClaughry.

Pour sauce over ham rolls. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 15 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes six servings.

Lima Beans in Sour Cream

¼ cup sliced green onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup sour cream
¼ cup diced canned pimiento
2 cups cooked dried lima beans
Salt
Paprika

Saute onion in butter until soft and golden in color. Stir in sour cream and pimiento.

When mixture is warmed through, pour over lima beans and mix thoroughly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Heat thoroughly over low heat. (Do not boil). Serve hot with a sprinkle of paprika on top. Serves three to four.

Kitchen Tips:

Mrs. Paul McClaughry's Kitchen Tip: After working with either bacon or onion, rub the hands thoroughly with salt before washing. All odors will be removed.

Mrs. McClaughry's 'Beef With a Flair'

3½ lbs. beef (stew or round, fairly lean)
2 or 3 onions
2/3 lbs. bacon
Bay leaf
2 or 3 small cans mushrooms
Salt to taste.

Cut meat into chunks, 1 inch or smaller. Cut bacon with scissors into ½-inch pieces and brown in Dutch oven. Remove and set aside. Saute chopped onion in bacon grease. Remove it and set aside. Then brown beef quickly to seal and add bay leaf. (Should there be excessive fat remove part of it) then continue cooking over low fire until tender, adding a bit of water as necessary. Return onions, mushrooms (drained) and simmer until blended. Just before serving return bacon to mixture and crisp a bit.

Picturesque and keyed to the specific needs of its occupants is the Rolling Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamner and family. The Hamners are artists and their large conservatory-studio is shown with Hamner at work on one of his paintings.

The Hamners' den (above) has handy shelves for books and ceramics. Mrs. Hamner wove seat covers. Floors are of brick, sealed with water glass and polished.

Hamner, who is more familiar with art materials than carpentry tools, assembled the family home, aided by his son, Bill. This the dining room, the studio is beyond.

By Vera Williams

WILLIAM and Margaret Hamner, Rolling Hills artists, have 2000 square feet of house. They have three bedrooms, bath, kitchen, den, dining room and conservatory-studio.

And the house, furniture and landscaping cost them a total of $4200.

"... plus plenty of work," say the Hamners.

Their house, tucked behind greenery, with only the slanting glass roof showing, looks so much like a greenhouse as one enters the grounds of the Chadwick School that many persons drive past it, not recognizing it as a house.

Then they turn back, and stop at the Hamners and are glad the rest of their lives that they did because there they learn first hand what can be done with bricks, glass, raw beams, two old Army canteens, driftwood, and a lot of enterprise and elbow grease.

"Our problem," says the bearded Mr. Hamner, graduate of the Yale School of Fine Arts and for eight years head of the Chadwick art department, "was that we needed shelter and needed it quickly. And we didn't have much money — schoolmasters don't usually have much money."

So the Hamners bought two surplus Army canteen buildings, put them together in an L, and added a section to "pull the whole thing together." Hamner, who admits that painting, ceramics, woodcarving and copper and enamel work are more in his line than carpentry, did the building.

He was aided by his son, Bill, 13. Mrs. Hamner wove couch coverings from mill ends and made extremely good-looking draperies from sacking. Her daughter, Judy, 15, assisted.

The white Persian cat named Orchid and the Siamese cat Tora (now the somewhat disgraced mother of alley kittens) watched, but were no practical help.

"OUR problem," explains

Mrs. Hamner, "was to have a lot of windows for sunlight, and still have a lot of walls for paintings, books and ceramics." The family has a library of about 5000 books and they figure there are about 200 paintings, finished and unfinished, in the house.

Rafters are short ends from a construction job; much other wood throughout the place is mill ends of plywood and heavier lumber. Glass in the conservatory-studio is greenhouse glass — "it's cheaper," says Hamner, an excellent reason for using it. All floors are of brick, sealed with water glass and polished.

Furniture was made from whatever came to hand. Low couches are made from bed-springs and mattresses, tables are made of driftwood, black walnut burls, and what-have-you, and some have legs of copper tubing. Yaqui mats are

Income Tax Cut Sought in Bill Given to House

WASHINGTON — (AP) House Republicans got the new Congress off to a booming start Saturday with a No. 1 priority bill to cut personal income taxes 5½ per cent this year and 11 per cent next year.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R.-N.Y.), chairman-designate of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, dropped the bill into the hopper to carry out GOP campaign pledges.

He estimated the measure would cost the federal government about $1,800,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The bill proposes a cut of 11 per cent in taxes beginning July 1. That would mean a 5½ per cent cut for the 1953 calendar year.

Reed said House Republican leaders agreed to tax his bill H.R. 1. This means it goes down as the first measure introduced in the 83rd Congress.

That does not mean it is certain of enactment, but it does mean the GOP majority is sympathetic and its chances of passage are good.

Reed's proposal is that Congress advance the date of tax relief provided under present law, from Dec. 31, 1953, to June 30.

The Democrats, in enacting a tax increase bill in 1951, provided that the increase would end on Dec. 31, 1953. This would mean a tax reduction for most individual taxpayers of about 11 per cent next year.

Reed wants the taxpayers to get the benefit of this relief for one-half of this calendar year. Some Democrats welcomed the bill and said they would support it.

Rites Due on Tuesday For Mrs. Mary Wilson

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, 80, retired Press-Telegram employee who died Saturday at the home of a son in Garden Grove, will be Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the B. W. Coon Chapel, Dr. Charles W. Mayes and Rev. S. Alan S. Peace officiating. Interment will be at San Bernardino.

GOP Back in Power After 20-Year Absence

for years—a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats. In the House, supporters of a project to curb the power of the Rules Committee to bottle up major bills couldn't muster enough strength to force a vote.

What they want to do is write into the rules, a provision that would, in effect, put a 21-day limit on the time the Rules Committee can hang onto a bill. This key committee is the conduit through which all big bills cleared by other committees reach the House floor for action.

There still is some question whether the Senate filibuster can come to a decision Tuesday. Congress has some other important business to handle that day.

Senate and House will assemble in the House chamber for counting of the electoral votes that clinch the Presidency for Eisenhower and the Vice Presidency for Richard M. Nixon of California.

The next day the Senate and House, in separate sessions in their own chambers, expect to hear the reading of retiring President Harry S. Truman's final message to the nation—a message which may be largely a review of 20 years of Democratic rule plus a glance into the future.

Truman also will have for the new Congress an economic report and a budget approaching $80,000,000,000. The GOP is talking of whacking perhaps $10,000,000,000 from the budget.

The Senate show was all over Saturday in an hour and 10 minutes—no bills introduced, no legislative business transacted, in accordance with first day custom.

But the House was deluged with bills—1100 of them that will take clerks all night to sort out, number and refer to the right committees.

Among them were measures giving a preview of some of the legislative tussles ahead—bills to cut taxes, authorize the St. Lawrence Seaway, revise the McCarran-Walter immigration law and investigate this, that, or the other, including racketeering on the New York waterfront.

It will be a week or two before Senate and House committees are ready to go to work on anything. The shift in control, the influx of new members, means committee line-ups and assignments must be completely reshuffled. Still an uncertain factor, too, is how well Eisenhower and the new Congress will pull together in harness.

The GOP commander in the Senate, Taft, is the man who fought Eisenhower down to the finish line for the Republican presidential nomination. And many lawmakers have an idea the time will arrive when differences between Taft and Eisenhower will turn up to plague the administration, just as splits with Congress harassed Presidents Roosevelt and Truman down the years.

Taft was all smiles Saturday as he took over the majority leadership in the Senate and engineered the organization of the chamber under Republican offices.

Senator Styles Bridges (R.-N.H.) was duly elected president pro tem, to preside over the Senate in absence of the vice president. It was by voice vote, strictly along party lines, and Vice President Albert W. Barkley announced Bridges was the winner "by a narrow margin."

At one point, the Democrats still cling to their position of leadership. Barkley still presides over the Senate for 17 more days. Nixon, who will succeed him, watched things Saturday from a back row seat—a sort of political man without a country. He had resigned from the Senate to store up a bit of seniority for his own successor, Thomas H. Kuchel.

House members were in a gay, back-slapping, hand-shaking mood as they gathered to organize and take their oaths of office. By another straight party vote of 220 to 201, Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts was elected speaker to replace Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Rayburn escorted Martin to the well of the chamber for the swearing ceremony and each made a little speech. Rayburn called Martin a "great man who made a great speaker in the 80th Congress," a man who will be fair in his rulings.

Noting Rayburn's 40 years of public service, and the longest term as speaker of any man in history, Martin said "the gavel of this House has never passed from the hand of a nobler man."

New Loyalty Check to Be Given Vincent

against Vincent contained "direct testimony" that Mr. Vincent was a member of the Communist party. Vincent has denied Communist affiliation.

The loyalty review board which recommended Vincent's ouster is headed by Hiram Bingham, former senator from Connecticut.

Acheson said that while the findings of "so distinguished" a group are "serious and impressive and must be given great weight," the final responsibility was his own.

Acheson said he could not make a decision in Vincent's case because of the "confusion" as to the weight the loyalty board gave to charges against Vincent.

He noted that the board said it had neither accepted nor rejected testimony by Louis Budenz, former Communist leader. Budenz said he was informed by others that Vincent was a Communist and under Communist discipline.

Nor, Acheson said, did the board accept or reject findings of the Senate Judiciary Committee with respect to Vincent's connection with the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship and the committee's findings with respect to Vincent's participation in the development of U.S. China policy.

"The board, however, proceeds to state that, since it has not accepted or rejected these factors, it has taken them into account," Acheson said. "I'm unable to say what that means."

"If the panel did take these factors into account this means that it has relied upon them in making its final determination. Yet I'm unable to understand how these factors could have played a part in the final determination of the panel if these factors were neither accepted or rejected by the board."

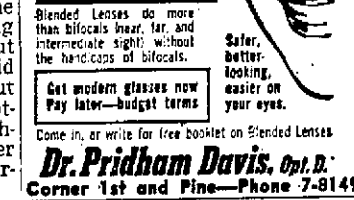

Typhoon Perils Isle, Ships Get Warning

TOKYO, Sunday — (AP) Typhoon Hester bore down on Iwo Jima with winds up to 200 miles an hour Saturday but the weather bureau predicted it would swing south of the Pacific island.

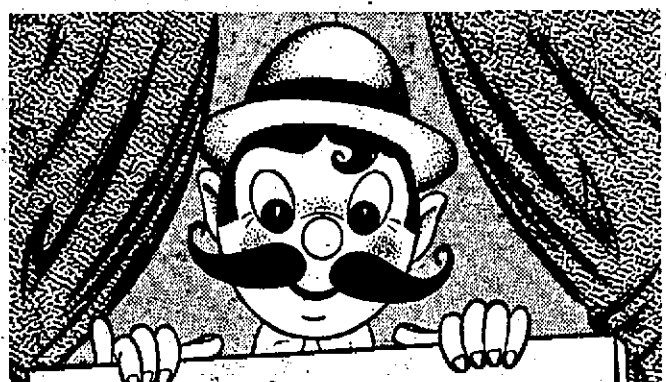

The typhoon, moving in a northwesterly direction at 15 miles an hour, was expected to miss Japan. All ships in the area southeast of Formosa were alerted, however.

HOW TO SEE BETTER WITHOUT BIFOCALS

We offer a SIMPLE TEST to show you the amazing difference between Blended Lenses and bifocals. 1. With BIFOCALS, see a paper on floor jump when moving head up and down. Note how you see double when looking through part of lens and part of the frame lens at once. 2. With BLENDED LENSES, paper on floor jumps and you don't see double, no matter what place you look through. Thousands now wear BLENDED LENSES instead of bifocals. No dividing line to confuse you. Blended Lenses do more than bifocals. They let you see clearly, far and near, without the handicaps of bifocals. Get modern glasses now. Pay later—budget terms. Come in, or write for free booklet on Blended Lenses. Dr. Pritham Davis, Opt. D. Corner 1st and Pine—Phone 7-8149

Cruiser Leaving L.B. Port For Training Maneuvers

At one minute after sunrise Monday the heavy cruiser St. Paul will cast off its lines in Long Beach Harbor and sail to join 25 other Navy ships of Task Force 13 in the largest training exercise off the California coast since World War II.

The two-week exercise will involve nearly 8000 men aboard cruisers, destroyers, submarines and aircraft.

The St. Paul will sail at 7 a.m. Another Long Beach-based cruiser, the USS Manchester, already has departed for the exercise.

Aircraft participating in the training maneuvers are assigned to Fleet Air Wing One, which is based along the coast from San Diego to Alameda. The planes are under command of Capt. T. O. Dahl, USN.

Bandit Robs Woman In L.B. Area of $60

A woman liquor store owner was robbed of $60 Saturday night by a bandit who carried a gun in the waistband of his trousers.

Marian M. Gwynne, 40, proprietor of a store at 2045 Atlantic Ave., described the man as 30-35 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches tall, 160 pounds, wearing a gabardine overcoat and dark trousers.

In a corner of the conservatory of the William Hamner's home is a huge fireplace where a roaring fire can be built.

used to cover some of the walls and ceilings.

ALTHOUGH they and their friends like the rest of the house, the Hamners' pride is in the spacious conservatory-studio, with a glassed roof and sides, a big fireplace where a roaring fire can be built, a clump of fine banana trees, a Hawaiian vine and about 300 orchid plants. That's right, the banana trees, the vine and the orchids all are inside the room. Hamner and Bill brought the orchids back from a trip to Mexico last summer.

Overhead Closet

WASTE SPACE which literally was "up in the air" was utilized in the home of the M. R. Peppards, South Middlebridge Rd., Rolling Hills, by cutting out a doorway and adding a ladder! R. L. Bird, the architect for the Peppard home, conceived this idea when he noticed the overhanging area in the bedroom of the Peppards' son, Peppy.

"Why not use it?" was Mr. Bird's immediate thought. It is a perfect storage space for Peppy's Boy Scout equipment, and what boy doesn't like to climb a ladder? There's no excuse for paraphernalia lying about here! And the clothes closets are not made into Fibber McGee closets by having packs, knives, boards with rope knots and other such items added.

The closet door is of cedar to match the woodwork of the bedroom. Pennants on the wall and gun on rail give the room just the right touch.

An area of waste space which could be used for storage was so utilized with this overhead closet setup.

YOUR ANTIQUES

Priceless
Porcelain

Meissen porcelain is an especially interesting item when represented in this handsome timepiece.

By Ruth Reece

MRS. MACE A. COX of 3736 Gaviota Ave. who has collected Dresden pieces over a long period of years considers the clock illustrated here as one of her most cherished possessions.

In art, the clock occupies a position of eminent distinction, and antique examples are treasured and collected as much for their decorative cases as for their timekeeping. Clock cases of porcelain were in vogue during the 18th Century, and Mrs. Cox's clock is an early Meissen piece which stands 19 inches high.

The gold metal band around the face piece is circled by a serpent made of porcelain. This is very small and hard to recognize. Next is a band of beautiful pastel flowers such as only the Dresden artists could make.

Overshadowing this exquisite work are the rare figures representing the four seasons of the year. Spring is represented by the figure at the top holding a small vessel filled with seeds. At the right is summer, in a costume of pastel print, who holds a spray of flowers and wears a wreath of matching blossoms in her hair. The center figure is autumn who holds a yellow sheaf of wheat, while winter is expressed by the figure at the left who wears a dark hood and cloak and warms her tiny hands over a porcelain flame coming out of a bowl-shaped vessel.

Aside from their rarity, these dainty figures are attractive because of their fine modeling and softened tones.

meets Tuesdays in the conservatory-studio for sketching, and the Hamners spend most of their time in that room except, they admit, when the sun is too hot. "Mornings, evenings and nights it is wonderful," they say, "summers is is pretty hot, but in spring, fall and winter it is fine."

For $4200 the Hamners did all right, they think—and so do their friends.

IS YOUR MATTRESS SHOWING?

Do you not sleep as well as you used to, or as you would like to? Do you wake up tired? Do you feel as if you'd hardly got to sleep before the alarm rings? Have you been to your doctor about a nagging backache? These are some of the miseries that we have brought upon ourselves by sleeping on too-soft mattresses, and by mattresses that sag, lump or otherwise distort the body.

Must we then sleep on bricks and boards? Hardly. A mattress can be both firm and soft. Strong innerspring units, held within a heavy wire edge and meshed over with wire is one type of construction that makes a mattress restfully firm. Stronger coils in the box spring help firm up mattresses, too, especially when designed to complement each other.

How can you tell how firm a mattress is? Surely not by lying on one in a store, awkwardly clothed and uncomfortably aware of other shoppers. No, better go to Aaron Schultz, where you can rely on the judgment of men with years of experience. Together you can decide whether you need a mattress that is just medium firm, or a real orthopedic mattress for more severe conditions.

At Aaron Schultz, you'll find our judgment backed by such famous names as Simmons, Beautyrest, Sanitary, Sealy, Englander, Air Foam, U. S. Rubber, Koylon, Spring-Aire and many others.

Solons Start Crackdown on Obscene Mail

WASHINGTON — (A.P.). Two bills designed to tighten control over the distribution of dirty literature were introduced in the House Saturday.

Rep. Rees (R-Kan.), the sponsor, said the measures would give the Post Office Dept. greater leeway in impounding fraudulent or obscene material sent through the mails, while also providing legal remedies for the senders.

The legislation is intended to carry out the recommendations of a special committee, headed by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark.), which investigated the circulation of alleged obscene literature. The group reported that present regulations handicap the Post Office Dept. in efforts to thwart the mailing of such material.

Rees, chairman designate of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, also introduced a measure to ban the mailing of blasphemous matter, which he said is not now covered by regulations against obscenity. He did not define what would be included under blasphemous material.

In a resolution, Rees also asked Congress to authorize his committee to investigate all civil service and postal matters. He said in a statement that he wanted the same investigating authority which the 80th Congress gave to a committee that saved "many millions of dollars" by proposing procedural changes in the two agencies.

Rees also offered three other measures which would:

- 1—Equalize the rate of parcels sent by air to members of the Armed Forces stationed abroad. A one-pound parcel from New York to Korea now costs 27 cents, but the same parcel from San Francisco costs only 17 cents, he said.
- 2—Prohibit the Post Office Dept. from engraving return addresses or advertising material on envelopes it sells. Rees said this would eliminate unfair competition with private printers.
- 3—Permit the Post Office to conclude leases in "the most economical manner" by retaining title to property after expiration of the lease. Leases would be permitted between eight and 25 years, five years longer than now permitted.

New Downey Plant Slated

DOWNEY — Construction of a $100,000 furnace manufacturing plant at 11935 S. Regentview Ave., in the heart of Downey's rapidly expanding industrial area along Woodruff Ave., south of Firestone Blvd., is scheduled to start immediately.

The factory and office building will contain 13,600 square feet and is being erected for the Lindberg Engineering Co. of Chicago, Ill.

The plant will manufacture heat treating furnaces used by the steel industry for tempering metals. It is scheduled for completion in early spring, according to George Lee, manager of the William P. Neil Construction firm of Los Angeles.

Earl G. Boehm of Los Angeles is architect.

Inauguration Ball To Be Put on TV

WASHINGTON — (A.P.). The Republicans decided Saturday to give the public a peek via television and radio—at the hard-to-get-into inaugural ball on Jan. 20.

After a conference with officials of the four TV networks, ABC, CBS, NBC and DuMont, Joseph C. McGarraghy, inaugural committee chairman, said the networks agreed to pool their facilities and broadcast on a public service basis.

"This expanded coverage will mean that Americans everywhere will become participants in this historic occasion," McGarraghy said in a statement.

Fallbrook Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO — (A.P.). A three-judge panel from the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals will hear oral arguments Jan. 16 on trial procedure in the Southern California Fallbrook river water dispute. The long-standing controversy was assigned for hearing Friday.

Budget Director

JOSEPH M. DODGE, Detroit banker, was named to serve as federal budget director in the new administration. Dodge, 62, a Republican, has also been asked to sit in on cabinet meetings. — (A.P. Wirephoto.)

Iron Lung Banks Ready

Kickoff Set in $100,000 Drive For Dime March

Long Beach antipolio workers will gather at Lafayette Hotel for luncheon Tuesday to signal official opening of the 1953 March of Dimes. The goal is $100,000.

C. Turney Walker of Sherman Oaks, author of a popular book with a polio background, "Rise Up and Walk," will be the principal speaker. Walker, a polio victim, drew on his own experience in the long battle to regain his health for the contents of the book, which he will describe.

Mayor Burton W. Chace and members of the City Council will attend. Mayor Chace will read a proclamation setting aside January as "March of Dimes Month," urging all citizens to support the fund-raising drive.

Mrs. Gail C. Hudson, chairman of the Long Beach Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and George Vermillion, campaign director, will be co-chairmen of the meeting.

An increasing number of polio cases in Long Beach during 1952 is causing polio officials concern, Mrs. Hudson said. Last year in the Long Beach Unified School District, which includes Lakewood, Lincoln Village and Avalon, a total of 157 cases was reported. There were 58 cases in the Lakewood area alone. The total for the district in 1951 was 96 cases.

The 1952 March of Dimes yielded almost $100,000, but that sum proved inadequate to care for the growing number of cases here, Mrs. Hudson explained. To meet expenses the Long Beach chapter twice called on the national foundation at New York for funds. A total of $13,300 was advanced from that source.

The $100,000 quota set for the current drive will do no more than cover expenses of treating and caring for polio victims this year. Should an emergency arise much more will be needed, she explained.

Mrs. Hudson said that experiments with gamma globulin as a temporary protection against polio have provided new hope for those engaged in the field of polio research.

"The progress of science places us on the threshold of a new day that may soon point the way to ultimate triumph," she said.

Double Trouble Faces Hub Man

COMPTON — Trouble followed trouble Saturday for Charles E. Fraser, 38, of 223 S. Acadia St. First difficulty was a traffic collision in which Fraser was cut about the head and the truck he was driving was extensively damaged. On top of this woe, Fraser was issued a citation by the California Highway Patrol, charging excessive speed.

Fraser's truck struck the rear of another truck operated by James A. Denham, 41, of 15141 Huntington Beach Blvd., Midway City, on Alameda Blvd. near Greenleaf St.

The former model, who went to Acapulco three weeks ago amid unconfirmed reports of a pending divorce, moved in with friends here. O'Dwyer remained alone in his modest but roomy apartment.

Sloan refused to talk to reporters here. O'Dwyer continued his refusal to discuss his private affairs in public. But nobody denied a divorce was in the wind.

Sloan spent Christmas in Acapulco. The couple have not appeared together since Dec. 11, less than a week after O'Dwyer resigned his embassy post.

200 Victims of Fire

MANILA, S. P. — (A.P.). A four-hour fire fanned by a brisk breeze hit the trading center of a Manila suburb Saturday night and destroyed property unofficially estimated at $1,000,000.

Man Fatally Shoots Wife, Friend, Self

WELCH, W. Va. — (U.P.). A 40-year-old man fatally shot his wife and another woman Saturday and then took his own life in West Virginia's second double murder-suicide in less than 24 hours.

The victims were identified as Roy Doade and his wife, of Welch, and Mrs. Ethel Pruitt, Bartley, W. Va. Police said the shootings took place in the Doade home, which is in the rear of a small store here.

All the shots were fired from a German Luger automatic, which officers found on the floor in the Doade residence.

Friday night, Joe Taggart, a 24-year-old unemployed mill hand, went berserk at West Liberty, W. Va., shooting to death his wife's parents and wounding his young son and a sister-in-law before firing a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun into his own head.

Republican National Committee to Meet

WASHINGTON — (U.P.). Republican National Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield Saturday summoned the GOP national committee to meet here on Jan. 17 to review party activities and to receive his resignation.

Summerfield will be postmaster general in the Eisenhower administration.

There has been no indication as to who will succeed him as head of the committee.

Building in County Sets New Record

SANTA ANA — Building operations in rural Orange County during 1952 hit $30,219,011 to establish an all-time high record, and blanket the 1951 authorizations by $10,36,067, Building Inspector Charles W. Donohue said today.

The work was done under 6182 permits Donohue's office issued during 1952, as compared to 4284 for the previous year.

Foremost in the construction field was the building of houses; subdivisions have blossomed throughout all Orange County, and some of them have been major enterprises.

The year 1953 already bids fair to hit even higher strides; two Costa Mesa developments will represent $28,000,000, and others known to be on the drafting boards may reach half this in value elsewhere in the county.

December building operations slowed somewhat, principally due to unexpected heavy rains during much of the month.

However, there were 503 permits issued for a total of $2,529,371, Donohue said. It was six per cent under the November total.

Last month, there were 263 housing units authorized for $2,122,050.

Two County Home Tracts Probe Set

SANTA ANA — Maps for subdivisions at Costa Mesa and Westminster are under study by the Orange County Planning Commission, which asked for reports on recommended sewage disposal systems.

Earl W. Stanley, Newport Harbor realtor and Assemblyman from the south county's 74th District, proposed subdivision of 6.5 acres at Irvine Ave. and 15th St., Costa Mesa, to eight lots for general business use and the remainder for multiple-family uses.

A 10-acre tract at Golden West and Trask Aves., Westminster, would be divided into 44 lots for single-family residential uses by Sam Lipkin of Los Angeles.

Stanley said that studies now are under way for his Cliff Haven subdivision, near-by, and that the direction of flow of sewer lines and extent of them has not been determined. He insisted that septic tanks would be satisfactory, and the health department concurred.

Lipkin, however, may find difficulties. He agreed to install a sewer line to connect with Midway City Sanitary District main to be built in about a year, but to use septic tanks meanwhile, the health officer said that cesspools in his tract would not be satisfactory.

Commission action on both subdivision proposals may be concluded Jan. 9, it was indicated.

Grading to Alleviate Torrance Drain Problem

TORRANCE — A request to grade for drainage reasons, a strip of land adjacent to Normandy Playground to allow water to flow into a storm drain at 223rd St. and Normandie Ave. has been approved by the Department of Recreation and Parks.

The request was made by the city engineer's office to relieve flooding during the rainy season at the playground.

Defense Meet Monday

WILMINGTON — Block and community wardens in the harbor area will meet at Banning High School Monday for the first session of the training program for volunteers in the Civilian Defense program.

Edward Anacker, harbor area CD co-ordinator, said the course will continue through March 16, with class meetings set for consecutive Monday evenings.

Five other high schools throughout the Los Angeles area are staging the course.

Norwalk Defense Meet Set Monday

NORWALK — Interlocking duties of various Civil Defense organizations in the Norwalk area Mutual Aid District will be explained at a meeting of department chiefs to be held at Norwalk sheriff's station at 8 p. m. Monday, by Howard Earl, director of the Disaster Civil Defense Authority of Los Angeles County.

Object of the program is to inaugurate an educational campaign to inform residents of the imperative need for a sound Civil Defense organization. Earl said, "Civil Defense is not dedicated solely to the defense of the nation from enemy attack. It is the first line of defense against any disaster that might hit unexpectedly."

Department heads expected to attend the conference include Earl, Capt. R. Hainth, of the sheriff's department; Capt. V. P. Gray, commander of the Norwalk sheriff's station; Virgil Talbot, communications chief; John Huffstetter, warden service; J. Paul Jones, sector warden; James Lavery, Herbert Joslin, and John Marine, wardens; Robert M. Belyee, coronor; Capt. E. E. Christianson, fire director; Lynn C. Ashmead, decontamination; Ted Gentry, flood; M. R. Riffany, utilities; R. W. Cole, transportation; Dr. C. R. Foxman, hospitalization; Ellis Murphy, evacuation and welfare; Dr. C. A. Neiswander, public health; and W. M. Mohanselt, property and procurement.

Lynwood's Top Dog

HEADING THE LIST of dogs in Lynwood is Pancho, who for the past five years has held dog license No. 1 in that city. Pancho's owner is Don Williams, 5410 Fertile St., Compton. Pancho lives with Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert E. Williams, 4235 Brewster St., Lynwood. — (Staff photo.)

Tales' Nab Norwalk Theft Suspect

NORWALK — Because he allegedly bragged about robberies he committed without being apprehended, Leo Leslie Lunsford, 34, of 8015 Brookpark Ave., Rivera, is being held in county jail on a charge of suspicion of robbery.

While being questioned at Norwalk sheriff's station he gave several conflicting stories of his whereabouts during the past week, deputies said.

Meeting the description of the second bandit in the liquor store robbery at 11815 Rosecrans Ave. Dec. 22, Lunsford will be questioned concerning that job Monday according to investigating officers.

Petitions Ask Incorporation Vote for Mesa

COSTA MESA — Petitions calling for an election on the question of incorporating the sprawling, thickly settled community of Costa Mesa will be filed with County Clerk B. J. Smith early next week, it was disclosed today.

Robert M. Wilson, chairman of the Costa Mesa Home Rule Committee, sponsoring the drive for incorporation, said that there are less than 100 signatures needed for the petitions which must have bona-fide signatures of at least 1200 persons before an incorporation election is called.

The proposed new city would have assessed valuation of about $12,000,000.

Buena Park, which started incorporation efforts at about the same time that Costa Mesa did, already filed its petitions, and there will be an election there Jan. 20 on the question of forming a city.

World Looks Toward Uneasy Peace, More Tension in New Year

"Take a look at 1953 and let readers in the United States know what you see," the Associated Press told foreign correspondents in the world's trouble spots. In general the newsmen saw economic strains almost everywhere.

They predicted 1953 will have its full quota of trouble—but probably no big war. Here are capsule summaries:

WESTERN EUROPE

There is general belief that the danger of world war is less than a year ago, due mainly to strengthening of western defenses.

Britain, Italy, Spain, Holland, Denmark and Norway expect slightly better economic conditions in 1953. U. S. aid and Italian government public works projects brighten Italy's outlook.

Britain's Laborites are expected to wage a bitter but losing fight against denationalizing of road transport and steel. The France's save-the-franc battle against inflation is in for stormy weather, due in part to pressures of unrest in North Africa on top of the stalemate in Indochina.

GERMANY

Most Germans feel global war is not imminent. They see little chance of unification of East and West Germany in 1953.

East Germany is struggling along the road of Sovietization with a purge trial of scapegoat Communist ministers in the offing. It looks like another lean year with food shortages and breakdowns in other consumer supplies.

Berlin is braced for a new series of Red squeeze plays.

West Germany is booming, expects new production records for steel and coal. But the Bonn Republic reaches a political crossroads in 1953—the national election.

AUSTRIA

Austria's seven-year yearning to be decoupled by Russia and the western allies appears doomed to more frustration in 1953.

Mounting unemployment has accompanied a cut in U. S. aid and may bring a Social Democratic majority to parliament in Austria's election next month. The Socialists, however, will probably work with the right-wing People's party.

COMMUNIST EUROPE

The live danger of a new world war strangles the economy of communist eastern Europe.

Russia is extracting a tribute in slave labor and the best raw materials in return for "protection" of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Albania.

Tito-R Yugoslavia nurses tender hopes for security stemming from growing military strength of western Europe and the theory that Moscow must deal with domestic difficulties before tackling troubles abroad.

SOVIET UNION

The Russians claimed they have topped the basic industrial production of western Europe, and more gains are predicted for 1953. Official figures, of course, show everything better.

Peace? There is no indication that the Russians expect a shooting war in 1953.

AFRICA

Flames of nationalism, fired by race and religion against white and colonial domination are burning in South Africa, Kenya, Tunisia, Morocco and to a lesser degree in Egypt. The Moslem world's resurgence toward freedom and independence extends from Morocco to Indonesia.

Violence, death and wholesale jailings have resulted in South Africa from defiance of Prime Minister Daniel Malan's segregation measures. If Malan loses in the April elections there is a chance of co-operation between the area's handful of whites and the 10,000,000 blacks.

MIDDLE EAST

War does not seem an immediate prospect, but the threat of it hangs oppressively over peoples who feel themselves squeezed between the Russian and western power blocs.

Iran, stripped of oil revenues, stubbornly faces up to a bleak economic outlook. Iraq has increased oil revenue but it has yet to bring general prosperity. Jordan lives off a British subsidy. Lebanon basks in trade prosperity, finds it difficult to get a firm, democratic government.

In Israel, a brake on immigration and monetary reform have brightened the economy. Hopes of lasting peace with the Arabs are rising.

The other bright spot is Turkey, moving toward prosperity with American aid, a strong government and united people.

INDIA, PAKISTAN

The subcontinent enters 1953 as a top crisis area because of continued bitterness between India and Pakistan, children of the 1947 partition.

Both nations are pouring more than half their budgets into rearmament against each other as a result of unsettled claims to Kashmir and the hatreds remaining from Moslem-Hindu post-partition riots.

Under President Jawaharlal Nehru, India made both political and economic progress in 1952, meeting the food crisis with U. S. aid.

Pakistan, which lacks a strong man, lost ground in 1952.

CHINA, SOUTHEAST ASIA

China, after another year of Korean war and revolutionary reform at home, begins her long planned industrialization in 1953. Moving toward communism along proper Marxist lines, she will need much more Russian help.

Southeast Asia's free nations sweated out painful gains in 1952, but the gains must be expanded or they will be lost. Burma seems stronger, but too prone to trust Peiping. The French hold only a shaky mastery over the Red Vietnamese in Indonesia, southeast Asia's danger point.

The British turned the tide in Malaya against terrorists. In the Philippines the Red Hukks are grumpy but still swinging. The islands face in the New Year the distractions of a presidential election, internal disputes and the too-low living level.

In Formosa, Chiang Kai-shek was unofficially-raiding the Red coast in strength up to regiments.

JAPAN-KOREA

Japan seems on the surface an oasis of peace and prosperity. In 1952 her industrial production rose to 130 per cent of the 1934-36 means. But the economy is by no means sound. Her population had risen to 122 per cent of the prewar level. A huge dollar surplus was possible only because of U. N. spending and U. S. aid. In short, Japan's economy rests on the precarious foundation of the Korean war.

And across the Straits of Taiwan the weirdest war in history has ground to a stalemate in Korea. Always matched in manpower and now airmight matched in firepower, the United Nations have only their air power and their mobility left as advantages.

Three Children Die In House Blaze

ARVIN, Calif. — (AP) Three children, the eldest 3 years old, were burned to death Saturday night when fire destroyed the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Brown.

Deputy Coroner Ross Jones identified the children as Joan, 3, David, 2, and Alvin Brown, 1 year old.

Jones said the parents told them they had left the youngsters briefly to visit a neighbor. Apparently, Jones said, flames from an open gas range in the kitchen ignited a curtain and spread to the entire house.

Another neighbor, Annie Anderson, saw the fire and spread an alarm, but firemen and others were unable to enter.

Filipino Ship Sinks; 68 Persons Missing

MANILA, (Sunday). — (AP) The Philippine News Service reported that an inter-island vessel sank in storm-tossed waters between Cebu and Leyte Islands Saturday and 68 persons were missing.

Cebu tabular authorities in Cebu City said only 12 passengers survived. The motor ship was identified as the Durano. An intensive search was under way.

'Where's That Darn Key?'

Rescue Crews Tow Laughs Home, Too

By HERB SHANNON

Fifty to 100 times a day phones of the Auto Club's emergency stations in Long Beach jangle with urgent appeals from stranded motorists. Most of the calls are run of the mill — like the lady from Detroit, who locked her keys in the car three times in one day. But sometimes there are complications.

"You never know what it's going to be next," says Jack Foxx, who tows a tow truck out of the Pacific Auto Body Works, 449 W. Anaheim St.

According to Foxx, the calls are divided about 50-50 between men and women drivers, but it's the ladies who provide the laughs.

Late one night just before Christmas Foxx was given the location and description of a car the owner wanted towed in to the garage.

"But you'd better wait until morning," the feminine voice on the phone added. "It'll be a little difficult to get out."

Next morning Foxx found the battered auto in the spot designated. The car had gone off the end of Spring St. at San Francisco Ave., through two fences, over a wide gully, into the closed doors of a barn and out the back wall.

"She was right," Foxx admits. "Took me two hours to pull that car away. Never did find out what happened, either."

ONLY A FEW WEEKS before, Foxx received another call in the middle of the night.

"You won't believe me if I tell you what's wrong," said a disgusted young waitress, just off work. "Better come see."

It was a bit out of the ordinary, Foxx concedes. Her car was stymied three ways — flat tire, dead battery and no gas.

Punctures are a dime a dozen in the auto service business, but there's one that lingers in the memory of Emerson Solvey, emergency man for Glenn's Service, 1181 South St.

Solvey spotted the trouble immediately when he pulled up behind the car parked near the public phone booth at Carson St. and Lakewood Blvd. But he was puzzled by the shy lady occupant who insisted on remaining huddled behind the wheel while he changed tires.

Prices Hiked on 40 Food Items

LOS ANGELES. — (AP) Price increases on 40 food items and a decrease on three food commodities, in New Year's amendments to community pricing posters for Los Angeles area markets were announced Saturday by the local Office of Price Stabilization.

Officials said the price changes, mailed to grocers Dec. 31, parallel changes in wholesale costs and permit retailers their customary mark-up above costs.

Ceilings were raised from one to six cents on items including pet foods, flour, canned meats, chili con carne, cheese products, canned fish, gelatin desserts and tea. Drops in ceilings of from a penny to a nickel were noted on some luncheon meats and corned beef hash.

Ex-SC Grid Star Held on Rustling

BATESVILLE, Miss. — (AP) Vernon L. (Punk) Whitaker, former Southern California and Texas Tech football star, was arrested here Saturday night, and officers said he admitted rustling cattle.

Frank Jones, investigator for the Mississippi livestock theft bureau, said Whitaker was charged with stealing six head of cattle last December and faces four separate charges. Jones said each charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail.

Whitaker first entered the University of Southern California on a scholarship in 1950, but transferred to Texas Tech at Lubbock, Texas.

Released From Jail, Robs Same Victim.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (AP) Charles McCullum was released from prison Dec. 12 after serving part of a three-year sentence for stealing an overcoat from the automobile of C. E. Spivey.

Saturday night, police arrested McCullum, a 20-year-old Negro, and charged him with stealing another overcoat from a C. E. Spivey.

Owner of the vehicle? C. E. Spivey.

How to Buy for Good Gardening

By Bob Gilmore

"HOW DOES your garden grow?" is a question that can very well be answered by the kind of plants you put there, as well as by the tools, fertilizer and sprays used in maintaining them. Knowing how to buy nursery stock and garden supplies can easily determine your success as a gardener.

Improper selection of plant material can lead to a great deal of trouble. One rather startling generalization is that the biggest plants are not always the best. The same is also true of certain types of bulbs and corms.

Nurserymen and expert gardeners will tell you that amateurs only too often select a tall, spindly plant on the basis that the taller the specimen the better it is. This is not true and in many respects such a plant is to be avoided.

Actually, a compact and bushy type of growth will prove most desirable. This is true of practically all kinds of nursery stock, including annual transplants, perennials, fruit trees and ornamentals in general. It is even true of vegetable seedlings.

Specimens having a tall, rangy appearance are often the result of forced feeding aimed entirely at putting on extra height in a hurry. This new growth, which is comparatively soft and lush, will prove sensitive to sudden cold spells as well as attacks from pestilence and disease.

Be careful about buying so-called bargains in living plants. Nurserymen have to feed, water and spray their plants for many months before offering them for sale. All this costs money. In the long run you are better off with a plant that is in excellent health although slightly higher in price than with a less expensive one that has not been properly cared for.

Advise your nurserymen of any peculiar growing conditions so that he may better recommend certain types of plants. For example, if you live near the ocean or where the wind is especially bad, let your nurseryman know. If your garden is in the interior region and subject to long hot spells this is of value in recommending certain varieties. Actually, certain roses do much better along the coast than in the inland regions and this is also true for a great many of our more common garden plants.

It is advisable to plant ornamentals as soon as they arrive on your premises. Chances are, you will not be able to maintain them in a can or flat as well as the nurserymen. Therefore, it will be to your advantage to plant the specimens at the earliest possible moment.

Some Plants That Need Feeding Now

Many Not Dormant, Expert Points Out

Despite cool weather, many plants are growing actively. Stocks and other bedding plants need feeding monthly until buds show color, starting a month after they're set out. Feed evergreens Gro-Master, too, unless they have flowers, seeds or berries.

Fertilize a fall-sown lawn with Gro-Master, if you haven't done so since October. You will have a better looking lawn, not only this winter but next spring as well. For Gro-Master gives you both quick action and long lasting results.

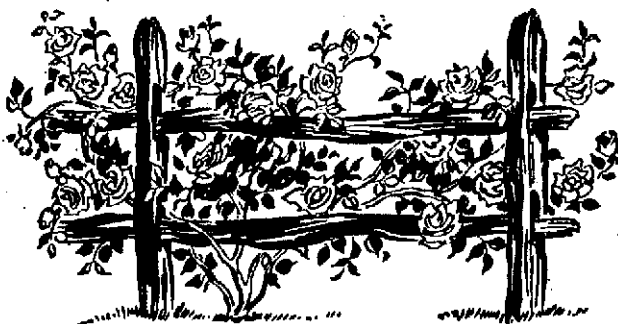

BULBS PLANTED NOW will grow better if you mix a tablespoonful of Red Star Bulb Food with the dirt in the bottom of the holes in which you plant the bulbs, then add an inch of dirt before planting the bulb.

BOOK REVIEWS

A Stranger in the House

Among winter travel books is "Complete Guide to Florida" (Travel Enterprises, Inc., and Garden City Books), which contains much new material and completely new sections. Andrew Hephurn is the author. Photo of Miami's skyline (above) is one of illustrations.

THE SOJOURNER, by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, 327 pp., New York, Charles Scribner's Sons, $3.50.

ASE AND BEN LINDEN were brothers. When their father died, Ben said he was through with farming. He went away to seek his fortune and there began the plodding Ase's long lifetime of yearning and quiet searching to bring him back.

Ben had told Ase to marry his, Ben's, girl and so he did, and Ase loved her always though she refused to understand much of his taciturn nature and inner greatness. The children who came likewise were alien to him, all save one who died a strange death when only six. But finally Ase found the love he sought in Jan, the son of a tenant farmer, and his aging heart was doubly filled when he located Ben without the fortune he had sought, dying in a cheap rooming house. But Ben had something for Ase...

Like "The Yearling," this is a beautiful story, warm and glowing and bubbling with the great drama of life. Only the most skilled craftsman could create the simple folk who live in these wonderful pages, but it is Ase, simple and quiet, with a tremendous yearning and a love for all things good, that America will take to its heart. Madonna Fete On in Santa Ana

MANY of the world's great madonnas will be displayed through Jan. 15 in the third annual Madonna Festival, which already has become a tradition at the cloistered, Spanish-style Charles W. Bowers Memorial Museum, 20th and Main Sts., Santa Ana.

The museum is open daily except Mondays, 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.; Thursday evenings, 7 to 9; Sundays, 1 to 5 p. m.

Artists and collectors representing 18 nationalities offered their prize pieces, a total of 200 entries, for the show.

For the first time, the late Ernest Yerby Smith's "Smiling Christ" is on display. It is the last work of the famed Laguna Beach sculptor.

Also for the first time since it was created especially for this showing is "Madonna and Child," by Hallie Blakeley of Beverly Hills. It is in porcelain, with porcelain cherubs about the shoulders of the figure crowned with pearls and emeralds, her gold lame gown jewel-encrusted. Beneath the glassed group, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator, placed antique hand-carved angels which once graced a cathedral in Mexico. They are loaned by Mrs. Gustov Mox of Santa Monica.

Flanking the main corridors are glassed displays of Madonnas of all countries.

ART CIRCLES

THIRTEEN new shows—four never shown before on the west coast and one never shown before outside of New York and Chicago—are announced by Samuel W. Heavenrich, municipal art director, for 1953 in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Mr. Heavenrich returned the day after Christmas from a trip to Detroit, Chicago, New York and Washington arranging for the shows.

First will be French Impressionist Painting and Leonardo da Vinci exhibits, starting Jan. 18. The French Impressionist paintings will come as loans from the Museum of Modern Art, New York, the private collection of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. in New York, and from Knoedler, Wildenstein and other dealers and sources. Most of the great figures in later 19th century French painting will be represented, says the director. This show will remain through Feb. 22.

Municipal Art Center will borrow 13 full-scale models of Leonardo da Vinci's inventions from International Business Machines, Inc., and drawings and other material from the Dr. Elmer Belt Library of Vinciana, Los Angeles, the second largest Vinciana library in the world. Dr. Belt will speak on "Leonardo da Vinci as a Scientist" at the show's opening, at 4 p. m., Jan. 18.

On Feb. 1 will be added "Houses USA," an exhibition brought together by Life tracing the development of American houses from Colonial times to the present.

Beginning March 1 and continuing through April 5, will be "Victoria in Long Beach," Victorian furniture, accessories, costumes and bric-a-brac from Long Beach homes, and the first West Coast showing of an exhibition of work by Eugene Berman, now at the Knoedler gallery in New York.

Starting April 12 and continuing through May 17 will be an industrial design show, particularly material brought together by the Museum of Modern Art, N. Y., including product designs, packaging and advertising materials; and a show of tapestries designed by leading modern painters such as Leger, Arp and Lurcat. This will be the first West Coast showing for either of these exhibits.

May 24 through June 28 will be an exhibition of contemporary German color lithographs, circulated by the American Federation of Arts—the first West Coast showing—and the Long Beach Art Association annual juried exhibition.

From early July through Aug. 9 will be an exhibition of Good Design in House Furnishings brought together jointly by the Merchandise Mart in Chicago and the Museum of Modern Art, New York. This will be the first time the exhibition has been shown elsewhere than in Chicago and New York. It will be supplemented here by additional California material.

The Greater Long Beach annual non-juried exhibition will be from mid-August until late September.

In the fall, the dates not determined, will be Old Master Paintings from museums and collections throughout the nation. The Metropolitan Museum of New York, for instance, has promised a half-dozen items.

The 1953 Greater Long Beach annual juried exhibition will be in December.

PPRINTMAKERS SOCIETY of California is lending the public library an annual exhibit of prints, to be shown in the Long Beach main library's second floor lobby until Jan. 23. Shown are 40 prints, representing some of the members' best work in aquatint, drypoint, lithography, block print and etching. The library's membership print for 1952 will be featured.

NONFICTION SHELF

Custer Lives Again

TROOPERS WITH CUSTER, by E. A. Brintnol, 345 pp., Harrisburg, Pa.: The Stackpole Co., $5.

WITHOUT DOUBT, "Troopers With Custer" is the best book in the last decade on the tragic battle of the Little Big Horn. The author, veteran newspaperman, presents the most comprehensive analysis of the engagement ever compiled. Profusely illustrated, the volume also presents many eye-witness accounts of the tragedy and delves deep into the motives of the principals.

Was Custer's body positively identified? Was Maj. Reno cowardly? These questions are answered along with scores of others pertinent to the historic battle. The eye-witness accounts, told in the direct language of soldiers, transport the reader to the blood-soaked battlefield and cause him to glance apprehensively around his armchair, looking for skulking redskins.—T. K.

New Books at the Library

BERNARD SHAW and Mrs. Patrick Campbell" is one of the new books received at the Long Beach Public Library. These letters are especially interesting because they present Shaw not as the seoffer but as the romantic admirer.

Other biographies are: "Rumor and Reflection," by Bernard Berenson; "Sidney Hillman," by Matthew Josephson.

Sociology: "Effective Public Relations," by Scott M. Cutlip; "Put Democracy to Work," by Ruth H. Wagner; "Parliamentary Procedure," by Fred G. Stevenson.

Useful arts: "Medical Nursing," by Amy F. Brown; "Living With Diabetes," by Edward Tolstol; "Fatigue and Fracture of Metals," edited by William M. Murray.

Other new nonfiction: "Fire Protection," by James Trump; "The Air Force Officer's Guide," by George H. Brett; "Mind, School and Civilization," by John MacDonald; "Legal Guide for Contractors, Architects and Engineers," by I. Vernon Werbin; "My Cottage," by Kristen Enger; "Furnishing Your Home," by Ruth E. Austin; "English Cottage Furniture," by F. Gordon Roe, and "Victorian Furniture," by Gordon F. Roe.

Fiction: "Dearly Beloved," by Alice L. Covert; "Guys on Ice," by Lyman R. Ellsworth; "The Gathering Darkness," by Thomas M. Gallagher; "Son of the Stars," by Raymond F. Jones; "Five Against Venus," by Philip Latham, and "The Big Die," by Lee E. Wells.

Best of MacLeish

COLLECTED POEMS, by Archibald MacLeish, 407 pp., Boston: Houghton Mifflin, $4.

These are the author's best, from 1917 to 1952. In it are those selections which have become favorites over the 35 years since this poet first brought his art into prominence. One can follow the progress of world thought by the demonstrative emotions reflected here in good singing poetry from the poet's own rich experience.

Focus on Prizes

TODAY I'm writing directly to high school students. Those of you who don't fall into this class can read the column, anyway, because you probably know some girl or boy to whose attention you would like to call this wonderful opportunity.

You now can enter your pictures in the 1953 National High School Photographic Awards and keep right on sending them in, as many as you wish, right up to the deadline of April 15.

This is a snapshot contest all your own. Only students in grades 9 through 12 are eligible. The contest this year is divided into four classes and there'll be four top prizes of $300 each. Altogether there'll be $4000 worth of prizes awarded.

By The Shutterbug

I can't think of any black-and-white pictures you may have taken that wouldn't find a home in one of the four classes.

Prints should be entered with your name, address, and school address and the class in which you want to enter the picture marked on the back. And they should be mailed to the sponsor, the National Scholastic Press Association, 18 Journalism Bldg., University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn. Most high schools have complete information on the competition, but if yours doesn't it can be obtained by writing to the above address.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will meet for the first time in the new year at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. This will be a double program—a monochrome print competition and color slide competition. This will leave the regular color slide competition night open so that members may attend the color competition of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs at 8 p. m. Jan. 21 in Hughes Junior High School, California Ave. and Roosevelt Rd. Host to the Council will be Richfield Camera Club.

This picture won the grand prize in the animal class of the 1951 National High School Photographic Awards. Competition is now open for '52 awards, which are generous.

RECORD ALBUM

Kiss in the Dark

HUGO WINTERHALTER and Henri Rene and their orchestras have recorded three long-playing volumes of "Music for Romance" that should appeal to sentimentalists from 16 to 60.

Winterhalter, who doubles in brass as RCA-Victor's musical director, guides his band through 16 romantic melodies that can be enjoyed quietly in the late evening or served up with dinner.

Most familiar numbers in the Winterhalter selections—on two records labeled "Reminiscing" and "Music by Starlight"—are "More Than You Know," "When You're Away," "Memory Lane," "Always," "Deep Purple," "High on a Windy Hill," "Stars in My Eyes" and "Swinging on a Star."

Rene's volume, entitled "Serenade to Love," includes "A Kiss in the Dark," "Schubert's Serenade," "L'Amour, Toujours,"

L'Amour," "Love in Bloom," and "I Love You Truly."

THE LONG BEACH PUBLIC LIBRARY offers new unusual recordings for patrons to try in the New Year. Especially recommended are Berg, "Lulu" (complete opera); Fletcher, "Sorry, Wrong Number" (Agnes Moorehead and cast, in the radio thriller); "Old Curiosity Shop" (collection of famous performances by De Wolf Hopper, Helen Morgan, etc.); Piston, "Symphony No. 2" (Dixon, conducting), and Swanson, "Symphony No. 2," with Diamond, "Rounds for String Orchestra" (Hendel conducting).

Top requests of the week were for Shaw, "Don Juan in Hell"; Verdi, "Il Trovatore"; Beethoven, "Symphony No. 9 (Toscanini); Fray "The Lady's Not for Burning," and International Morse Code records.

STAMP WORLD

Collectors Meet

LONG BEACH Stamp Collectors' Club will hold the first meeting of the New Year Monday, Jan. 5 at 7:30 p. m. at Linden Hall, Broadway and Linden Ave. under the guidance of these newly elected officers: Victor Michelson, president; Miss Emily Moorefield, secretary; Jerry O. Gehrling, treasurer; Stephen Farndell, program chairman; Mrs. Mary McGinley, mint stamp custodian.

Albert Spencer will exhibit his collection of Christmas seals, which date back to the first one printed, and lecture on their history. The talk will be followed by refreshments and trading. Every member is invited to bring a friend.

STAMP NOTES . . . The 1-peso and 1.50-p values of the Eva Peron set of Argentina have been reissued in a re-drawn design which now includes her name at the lower right. . . Tunisia has issued an overprint of the 15-franc green French stamp honoring the centenary of the Military Medal. . . Uruguay has issued three new airmail stamps showing a plane in flight over a horse-drawn wagon. . . The 18th and last of the Japanese Cultural Series is a 10-yen blue-gray showing a portion of Tenshin Okakura.

Fuchsia Meeting

Carl A. Bjorkman and the other new officers will preside at a meeting of the Long Beach Branch of the National Fuchsia Society on Thursday, Jan. 8, at 7:30 p. m., at 728 Elm Ave. Plans for the coming year will be discussed. Participation in the National Fuchsia Show at Knott's Berry Farm in June, the annual member garden tour, future programs, and committee chairmen are to be announced. A coffee hour will follow with Mrs. Carl Edmond, assisted by Mrs. Nannie Wood and Mrs. Fay Burton, serving. Visitors are invited.

Other new officers: Elmer Monson, vice president; Mrs. E. W. Williams, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Elmer Monson, corresponding secretary, and E. A. Sanderson and Carl Edmond, national officers.

WHO'S RETIRING?

Barkley Plans for Busy Future

By A. P. BRYAN

WASHINGTON—(AP) Vice President Alben W. Barkley doesn't plan to retire to his farm in Kentucky Jan. 20.

The 75-year-old Barkley's eyes shine brightly when he declares he expects to lead a busy life after he quits the Vice Presidency.

"My plans are indefinite," he says. "I have a lot of things in mind, but none of them has jelled yet."

"But I expect to be busy. I don't expect to die on the vine. I'm just as strong now as I have ever been, and I hope and believe that my mind is just as alert."

Barkley expects to do some writing, perhaps about his 40 years in the national capital, some lecturing and a lot of traveling.

FREQUENT TRAVELER

One of the world's most traveled men, he's hopped back and forth across the nation many times, has visited Europe often and only a few months ago toured the Korean battlefront and evacuation hospitals.

The man who made the term "Veep" world-famous said he is in "no rush" to plan his future.

"I've been approached about making radio and television appearances, perhaps weekly," he said in an interview. "but I haven't decided on anything definite."

Although he plans to spend a good deal of time at his farm home, "The Angles," near Paducah, he's not going to desert the Washington scene and will keep his apartment here for a time.

NO POLITICAL PLANS

Barkley said he has no political plans but would not shut the door on the possibility of his running again for the Senate or for the Kentucky governorship—the only political post he ever sought and failed to get.

"I'm not interested now in any appointive job," he said. "I'm not seeking one and don't expect to be offered any."

Whatever activities Barkley finally decides upon, one thing is certain.

The United States Senate will lose one of its most colorful, beloved—and feared—figures when he surrenders the gavel to young Richard M. Nixon of California.

In the House and Senate for four decades his eloquence and party steadfastness endeared him to friends and his rapier wit made opponents fear him in debate.

FRIEND OF PRESIDENTS

A close friend of Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, Barkley has been one of the leading voices of the Democratic party since he first came to Congress in 1912.

His political career reached climax in Chicago last July when he stepped to the national convention platform to touch off a violent 24-minute ovation.

Barkley a short time before had withdrawn from the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination after a group of what he called "self-anointed" labor leaders said he was too old.

There was no trace of bitterness in his voice as he told the crowded hall he sought no office "which this convention can bestow," and there was none when he went out over the nation to urge the election of Adlai Stevenson.

There is still no bitterness when he discusses those hectic days in Chicago's July heat wave. He says he feels it was perhaps unfair to oppose him only because of his age, but he adds that "you've got to expect such things in politics."

He jokes that he can join William Jennings Bryan in saying he "ended up getting fewer votes and more applause than anybody."

DIARY OF ROSE PARADE PRINCESS

'I Kissed Guy Mitchell Instead of Boy Friend'

(Editor's Note: Aboard the Theme Prize-winning Long Beach float at the Tournament of Roses Jan. 4 was Jeri Miller, the beautiful Miss Welcome-to-Long Beach of the Miss Universe Pageant. At the request of the Sunday Independent-Press-Telegram Jeri kept notes on how it feels to be a princess in a Rose Parade. Here is Jeri's diary, exactly as she wrote it, except for parenthetical explanations.)

By JERI MILLER
(Miss Welcome to Long Beach)

Left L. B. at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted (Dave Olmsted is manager of Long Beach Convention Bureau). Due to heavy traffic arrived at hotel 7 p. m. Had dinner. Chef himself served meal.

Met other girls, just arrived from Hollywood with U. I. (Universal-International Studios—Ed.) publicity man-chaperone Louis Blaine.

Jackie Loughery (Miss United States of America—queen of Long Beach float) and husband, Guy Mitchell, decided to turn in but the rest of us went out to "see the town."

DEADDEST PLACE THIS SIDE OF GLENN FALLS, IOWA... only one place to dance in the whole town and it was too crowded to get in.

Got back to hotel at 11:55. parked car and tore upstairs on foot. Didn't trust the elevator... very fuddy-duddy hotel. Then seven of us—Valerie (Valerie Jackson, Miss Montana—Ed.), Anita (Anita Ekberg, Miss Sweden—Ed.), Blaine, Guy Mitchell (who got up although Jackie didn't), my mother and a friend of hers and I shared a bottle of champagne and instead of kissing my boy friend at midnight I kissed Guy Mitchell.

VAL, ANITA AND I prepared for bed and finally got in at 2:30. Last thing I did was open the window, then Anita yelled "close it" (they had forgotten to bring pajamas). Val got warm later and I was alternately opening and closing the window all night.

Don't know how it happened, but we finally settled down. At 2:30 there was loud knocking—Val's sister had decided to join us. She took a bath, put up her hair and talked constantly. Finally got her stowed away when the inevitable happened—the operator called and said it was time to get up (4:30). At 4:45 she called again. At 5 she again called and remarked, "This is the fourth time I've called. Aren't you up yet?"

I replied that we'd been up all night and what made her think you could get any sleep in this place?

At 6:30 everyone was dressed at last and we were off to another hotel for breakfast. Then went to parade zone... such a thrill to ride through police barricades with big "official" sticker on car, with Mr. Olmsted heralding the way, practically with trumpets.

ALL OF US freezing to death, we boarded float and began posing for photographers. The first hour it was all right because we posed constantly. The second hour it became intermittent and we wanted to put on our coats. That started the battle between us and the photographers. Every time we put on our coats a photographer would come along and yell, "Take them off!"

The posing over at last, we took off to look at the other floats. Of the ones I saw I thought the Minute Maid float was the most beautiful and Miss America was gorgeous.

Barely made it back in time to get started on parade. My foot went through cardboard trying to get aboard.

We had heard that the sweepstakes was between Glendale and Long Beach so we expected to be riding a prize-winning float. We were a little unhappy when it turned out to be theme prize instead of sweepstakes. I thought the Long Beach float was more beautiful this year than any other year I've seen it.

TO ME THE BIGGEST thrill of all is to see someone in the audience and have them recognize and yell to us. Saw several old school friends from UCLA and a teacher from grammar school (Mr. Ernest Webecke, principal of Stevenson Elementary School). When the audience is receptive it helps tremendously. I know after the first three blocks both Anita and Val said their smiles were frozen. Had a 20-minute wait at the start while Tulare float was repaired (broken axle).

Twice as many people as I expected. (Probably more than twice as many as I saw).

I think everyone should see the parade at least every other year. You can't get any conception of the perspective and color unless you actually witness it.

The thing that shocked us was the misinformation in the announcers' scripts. They listed the wrong people as riding on the float.

Mass Treatment Helps Island's Ailing Inmates

(Editor's Note: This is the third of three articles on California's progressive prison and parole system.)

By VERA WILLIAMS

Men in blue shirts and blue denim trousers sit in groups—men who are young, men who are old, men with college degrees, men who have difficulty reading and writing. They tell their own stories, and some of these stories are of horrifying violence and sex aberrations.

Other men in blue shirts and blue denim trousers chime in with questions and comments. A quiet-voiced man in the back of the room—and it is important that he be in the back—occasionally referees an argument, occasionally emphasizes a point, occasionally pulls a digressing speaker back to the subject.

At the end of the session, which lasts an hour and a half or so, the man in the back of the room comes to the front; sums up what has been said and what can be learned from what has been said.

A group psychotherapy session at the California Medical Facility at Terminal Island, San Pedro, is ended. Participants have been helped at least to some degree by finding that flow prisoners' problems are not greatly different from their own.

GROUP TREATMENT
Group psychotherapy at the California Medical Facility, the state prison for men with mental and physical illness, was instituted by Dr. Nathaniel Showstack, psychiatrist and director of clinical services, when he came to the facility in September, 1950. It is believed never before to have been attempted on a prison-wide or near-prison-wide scale, and Dr. Showstack, pointing to its apparent success at Terminal Island, believes that it will set the prison pattern for the future.

Backing up his belief in its success he points out that only a small fraction of men released from the Medical Facility get into trouble again; to date only one man has escaped and he is at San Quentin trying hard to get back into the facility.

What is group psychotherapy and how and why does it work? "It is almost 50 years old. In 1905 Dr. Joseph Pratt started doing group psychotherapy with patients at the Boston Dispensary, which now is part of the New England Medical Center. Every Saturday morning he would get a group of neurotic women together to discuss their mutual problems. World War II gave impetus to group psychotherapy because many soldiers developed neuro-psychiatric disturbances, and since there were not enough therapists to treat them individually, they were treated in groups.

With the enthusiastic support of Dr. Marion R. King, superintendent and himself a psychiatrist, Dr. Showstack first formed two groups at the Medical Facility. Patients were chosen from among the younger men and from the sex offenders because great emphasis was to be placed on their treatment.

70 SESSIONS

More psychiatrists and psychologists were added to the staff, and now there are about 70 group psychotherapy sessions weekly. Most of the groups are small, ranging from five to eight patients each. The large groups vary in size from 30 to 40 patients each. Participation is voluntary, but a master list is kept of the patients who are able to attend, and whether or not they attend—and the patients know it.

"Much progress has been noted in many of the patients, not only by members of the staff here, but also by members of the Adult Authority who have seen many of them over the years," says Dr. Showstack. "A basic rule for the therapist is to face all the problems with frank honesty. He avoids using psychiatric terminology and speaks plain English."

"The method used in group psychotherapy is an analytical one based upon the existence of unconscious emotional circuits which he is totally unaware, but which lead to abnormal behavior. By raising these circuits to the surface consciousness so that they are observed by the individual and members of the group the patient gradually becomes aware of the immature, even infantile emotional circuits in his unconscious mind."

"The ultimate objective in psychotherapy is to bring the patient back to living in accordance with the laws of God and nature and the laws of the land."

FROM 18 TO 80

The upwards of 1000 men at the Medical Facility—the average is 1005—range in age from 18 year-olds to men in their 80's; to men with IQ's of 60 to those with IQ's of 140; from laborers to teachers, lawyers, a preacher.

(So far as Dr. Showstack, Dr. King and Harold V. Field, associate superintendent, can remember, no newspaperman ever has been a prisoner-patient at Terminal Island, but they are pretty sure that is just luck.)

Mental patients range from those with mild aberrations (such as many people on the outside have) to the undisputedly psychotic. They range from those with mild stomach trouble to those far along with tuberculosis, arthritis or from policemen's bullets in their spines. About half are sex offenders. Dr. King also makes it plain that a certain number were sent there because the facility has need of their skilled services as plumbers, builders, cooks, etc.

Dr. H. A. Shuder, a retired Army colonel, a Harvard man with five degrees, heads the educational program in which 500 men are engaged. Classes range from reading and writing to high school and college work. Many of the teachers are from Harbor Junior College at Wilmington.

Dr. Shuder himself conducts a Current Events Forum for the "Senior Citizens," men in their late 70's and 80's, and the Great Books Discussion Group. The Great Books group now is studying the Odyssey.

Practical courses such as typing, bookkeeping, drafting, carpentry, machine shop, plumbing, welding, agriculture are stressed, training for the jobs many of the men will hold when they are on the outside.

Ronald G. Beals heads occupational therapy which includes weaving, ceramics, woodwork, painting. W. H. McKinstry is in charge of the facility's well-chosen library. Joseph D. Lorenzen is classifications and parole representative.

MUSIC AND SPORTS

The men have musical groups—bands, choral groups and the like. They have volleyball, handball, basketball, softball. Obviously, games with outside teams have to be played on the facility grounds. They have chess, checkers, jigsaw puzzles. They have a canteen where they may buy toilet articles, confectionery, etc. They have a stand where they sell some of their handicraft.

Catholic, Protestant and Christian Science services are conducted weekly. Jewish counseling is offered. Alcoholics Anonymous groups are sponsored. The men have a mimeographed newspaper which they get out themselves and they say their newspaper has no interference from "the brass" of the facility.

The men sleep in barracks, usually 30 men to a structure. They get three meals a day and no man ever is deprived of food as punishment. A cyclone fence surrounds the area and men in gun towers posted over the grounds mean business. The entire area is 28 acres, part of it occupied by homes of the facility executives and their families.

Although the main quadrangle building has barred windows, the only men who face bars are those who are very psychotic or those in solitary confinement. Dr. King says the "discipline cells" are used as little as possible and he insists there is no physical punishment at the facility.

Facility inmates may not have gum. Why is gum, of all things, forbidden? Plumbing may be stopped with gum, furniture may be damaged with gum, gum may be used to camouflage sawed bars.

And they may not have playing cards. Cards, executives have found, lead to gambling and gambling leads to trouble.

For Pear-Shaped One Fat Boy Brings Fun

For the pear-shaped ones, for the hefty legions of double desserters and for the tubby Daddies who count their weight in large numbers, Monday begins an 18-day period of enlightenment.

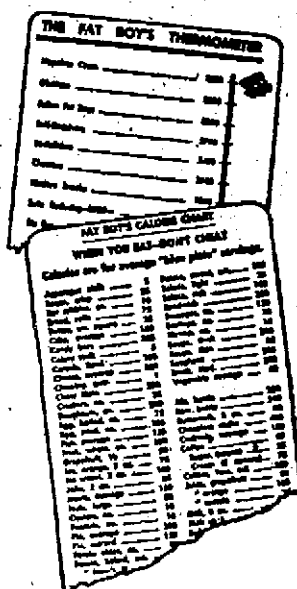

Beginning in Monday's edition of The Independent, the laughing Fat Boy will be off again on a new crusade against calories.

In his series of pound-ripping articles Fat Boy Elmer Wheeler will tell how he dieted from a sloppy 234 down to a slender 186 in 80 days; how he fell off the dieting wagon; how he recovered his graceful ways for keeps.

More important, he provides an easy formula for those who want to lose weight. He provides, too, a mirthful calorie counter as an aid to pound losing. It can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Fat Boy, Independent Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach.

All this, wrapped up in his series entitled "The Fat Boy's Downfall," gives a man the happy warrior's chance to do battle with overweight.

Must reading for all the unenlightened, the Fat Boy's Downfall starts in Monday's Independent. Don't miss it!

HERE IS FAT BOY WHEELER'S now famous Fat Boy Thermometer for checking your own calories. One side of the chart gives the calorie count of foods regularly eaten every day. The other side is devoted to the special thermometer which is an indispensable aid in dieting. The thermometer card may be obtained free of charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Fat Boy, Independent Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach.

Office Skill Classes Open

Long Beach City College day and evening training classes for office workers, bookkeepers, and accountants will start Monday, according to Dean J. Everett Hollingsworth.

"More than 300 of the people who started in these same classes in September are now employed, Hollingsworth said.

"Students entering day classes on Jan. 5 may expect to qualify as clerk-typists in from two to four months. Qualifications for stenographer may be acquired in from three to six months. Prospective bookkeepers who have not had previous training or experience usually attend day classes for about six months before going to work.

"Employment opportunities have been excellent in all of the fields indicated with minimum starting salaries set at about $200 per month. It is possible for people who have had previous training or experience to enter these classes with the idea of taking a refresher course.

Day classes are held at the institute campus of the City College located at 1305 East Pacific Coast Highway.

Evening classes will be available at the institute campus, the Lakewood campus, Polytechnic High School, Wilson High School and Jordan High School.

Complete information may be obtained by calling 7-6481.

Cheer Up, Girls

Single Men Plentiful

WASHINGTON — (WNN) There are more single men than single women under the age of 45 years, girls. That's the news from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Men still outnumber women in almost every age group of the rural or farm population, says the bureau. While the reverse is true in towns and cities, with more women than men around, there are more single men under the age of 45 than single women. Among the older folks, the widowed and divorced, women "strikingly" outnumber men, the bureau reports. This is probably because husbands are usually older than wives and less likely to outlive them, also men have higher mortality rates than women.

ALL SET TO DEPART for Palm Springs Airport, where he and his twin brother, Malcolm, are to be operators and managers, is Merton Haskell, right. Jack Roberts, who is taking over as owner-manager of the Haskell Flying Service at Long Beach Municipal Airport, was on hand to say good-bye when Merton took off in his Republic Seabee. (Staff Photo.)

Plane Talk

By DON BRACKENBURY

A BIG DEAL took place this week at Haskell's Flying Service at Long Beach Municipal Airport. Merton and Malcolm Haskell, who have been amongst the real pioneer operators at the field, gave up active operation of the service to take over as operators and managers of the Palm Springs Airport.

Jack Roberts, for the past year associated with Aircraft Sales and Brokerage here, bought the Haskell operation.

Actually, the Haskells retain an interest in the flying service, but Roberts will be owner and manager. Roberts also said he plans to expand the repair and maintenance facilities, which he alone will own.

Jack has been in the aircraft sales business for more than eight years. He flew with the Air Force in World War II and for a while was a pilot for the Sixth Ferrying Group at Long Beach. After getting out of service, Jack and his brother, Norman E. (Brownie) Roberts, opened the Sky-Store at Vail Field. They were there for seven years.

When Vail Field closed, Brownie moved the parts store to Hawthorne, but Jack came to Long Beach to join Aircraft Sales and Brokerage.

THE HASKELL TWINS already have taken over operations at Palm Springs and invite all their friends to fly over and visit. "The coffee will be on us," says Mal.

Mal and his wife, Chris, recently returned to Long Beach after a 30-day tour of the Mexican peninsula in their twin-engine Cessna.

A LOT OF PEOPLE took aerial jaunts over New Year's. Among them was Dr. Phil Reames, lie of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and his wife, who flew their Piper Clipper to Apple Valley.

DR. RUFUS DAVIS was enjoying a pleasant stay at Palm Springs when one of his patients in Long Beach required an emergency operation. So Hal Schneider of Schneider Air Service flew down, picked up the doctor and brought him back to perform the surgery. After the operation, Hal flew Dr. D. back to the resort.

ANOTHER POPULAR breakfast flight from Bellflower Airport will be held next Sunday. Exact destination has not been set yet, but it will be in the Palm Springs area, according to Joyce Smith.

The gang will leave between 6:30 and 7 a. m. and all Southland fliers are invited. Although the Bellflower bunch would like to get advance notice of any person who plans to take part, it isn't absolutely necessary. Just show up, says Joyce.

THE ROSE BOWL GAME brought M. R. Folsom of Aero Enterprises in from Denver to Long Beach. Folsom parked his Navion at the local field while viewing the New Year's Day classic.

THINGS ARE TAKING ON a spile and span look at East Long Beach Airport, Ken Schwonberg reports that the hangar has been cleaned up and all runways scraped. Because of the rain and cold weather, Ken and his partner, Abe Paster, decided to postpone the housewarming for a week or two, so he says keep an eye open for the announcement.

JUST BACK FROM Salt Lake, where he submitted bids on 21 Stearman being sold by the Civil Air Patrol, is John Nagel of Nagel Aircraft Co., Compton Airport.

Nagel will find out how his bid went on Wednesday. If successful, he will resell the craft as crop dusters.

ON THEIR WAY BACK from their South American air tour are Dr. and Mrs. Don Truitt. Because of Dr. Truitt's illness in Santiago, Chile, they did much of the actual visiting in Latin America by commercial air lines, leaving their own Cessna in Santiago. They are flying their own plane back, however.

WE ARE SORRY TO report that Dick Sampson, prominent Los Angeles attorney and enthusiastic flier, died while on a trip to Ensenada the day before New Year's. Ed Dietrich of Torrance Municipal Airport, where Atty. Sampson kept his plane, said the Palo Verde man was on a flight with his two sons. Just after landing at Ensenada, he apparently suffered a heart attack.

FINAL APPROVAL from the CAA has at last been received for the gross weight increase on their twin Navion. Roger Keeney of Acme Aircraft Co., Torrance, reports this week. The modified Navion, powered with twin engines, is now officially rated up to 2950 pounds instead of the 2750-pound rating on the standard single-engine ship.

3 Boys Killed As Dynamite Caps Explode

DESLOGE, Mo.—(AP). A dynamite cap explosion killed three boys and rocked a wide area near here Saturday.

The mangled and burned bodies of the boys were found near the ruins of the concrete building in which more than 300,000 dynamite caps were stored. Missouri highway patrolmen identified the victims as Hubert Prather, 16; Lem T. Webb, 16, and his brother, Leeman, 15, all of Desloge.

Windows within a half-mile radius of the structure were shattered. Some 500-pound chunks of concrete were hurled 300 to 400 feet away.

Patrol Sgt. V. E. Maxey, who was about a quarter of a mile away at the time, said the boys had been seen near the structure with a rifle before the blast.

Cause of the blast was not learned. An iron door, the only entrance, was kept locked, Maxey said. Only other opening was a 10-inch iron ventilator pipe.

EVERYBODY'S A STAR at Trinity United Presbyterian Church, where 70 children Saturday, in the manner made famous by Grauman's Chinese Theater, placed their handprints in the fresh cement of a sidewalk.

Each child, qualifying for the treat by contributing a $1 to the church building fund, added initials below the handprints.

A second sidewalk will be imprinted in about two weeks, according to Rev. T. M. Anderson of the church at 4911 Orange Ave., where a new entrance and tower are nearing completion.

Beaming over the happy mementoes for posterity, Rev. Anderson said, "Everybody had a perfectly wonderful time."

Reunited After 24 Years They'll Hike Into Past

It was 27 years ago that two young men started an 8-month hike of 6000 miles through 13 states.

One of the pair now operates a shoe store in Long Beach.

On Sunday the two, Mitchell (Mike) Goldberg, 49, of 5254 E. Toledo, and Buster Drebert, New Mexico, will relish memories at dinner in Goldberg's home.

It will be their first meeting in 24 years.

The pair started the hike with 50 cents between them, the jaunt sponsored by the Order of DeMolay. They were allowed to accept "hospitality" from DeMolay members and Masons only.

High point of the trip was lunch with President Calvin Coolidge. Almost equally as exciting was an interview with the late Will Rogers.

Near the Mexican border, the pair attempted to negotiate the loan of a burro to continue their journey. Neither of the boys talked Spanish. They tried to convey their negotiations via sign language.

Finally, the Mexican whom they were trying to make under-

Senate Privileges To Ex-Presidents And V.P.'s Sought

WASHINGTON. — (AP) Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (D-NY) introduced a bill Saturday to make former presidents and vice presidents non-voting members of the Senate.

Under his proposal, President Truman and Vice President Alben W. Barkley would become "Senators-at-large" when they step out of office Jan. 20.

Former President Herbert C. Hoover and former Vice Presidents John Nance Garner and Henry A. Wallace would be eligible immediately.

As Senators at large, the five men could participate in Senate debate but would have no voting privileges. They would receive the "usual Senatorial emoluments," and an annual $25,000 in pay.

Downey Motorist Killed in Crash

A Friday night collision with a county sheriff's division squad car proved fatal for a Downey motorist, Lamar G. Thurston, 29, of 12631 S. Eastbrook Ave. He succumbed to head injuries at General Hospital.

His wife, Lorraine, was injured seriously. Deputies J. R. Wagnon, 31, driver of the sheriff's car, and W. F. Sanchez, 30, were bruised.

The crash occurred at Norwalk Blvd. and Imperial Hwy.

Protection for Innocent In Paternity Cases Asked

NEW YORK — (WNNs). The plight of the unwed mother is hard, but so is the plight of the possibly innocent man accused of fathering a child out of wedlock, in the opinion of Assistant Corporation Counsel Sidney B. Schatkin, who prosecutes paternity suits here.

"Only nine states give such men the right to demand blood tests, which in some cases can prove they did not father a given child," he noted, criticizing the other 39 as "backward" for not guaranteeing resort to the one scientific method that can often assure innocence.

The blood of mother and child, as well as the possible father, must be examined in such tests and they can never prove a man is the father of a particular child — any more than the fact that a man and boy are both blonds shows they are related, it was explained. But a child may have an assortment of blood types it could not possibly have inherited from the presumed father. Under the best conditions, and if all suitable general blood-group systems are tested for, an innocent man has a little better than a 50-50 chance of being cleared in this way.

The "spirit of moral indignation against the accused man" has been prevalent in paternity prosecutions ever since the first precedent-setting English statute on the subject was passed 400 years ago, he continued. Only in paternity suits are judgments made merely "on satisfactory evidence," whereas in civil suits a "preponderance of the evidence" is required and in criminal actions guilt must be established "beyond a reasonable doubt."

The judge in such suits may take as "satisfactory evidence" simply his decision as to the reliability of the testimony of the unwed mother, determined by the way she reacts to questions and the like. Schatkin is in favor of

'Universe' Beauties Return

BACK TO LONG BEACH, scene of their appearance in the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant last June, will come these lovelies in the Technicolor of "The World's Most Beautiful Girls." The pageant picture will be premiered at VA Hospital and State Theater this week. First row, from left: Jean Thompson (Miss Louisiana), Jackie Loughery (Miss United States), Renate Hoy (Miss Germany). Top row: Valerie Jackson (Miss Montana), Judy Hatula (Miss Michigan), Ruth Hampton (Miss New Jersey).

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

By OTTO LANG (Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD—I have just recently returned from two exciting and informative journeys into the heart of Africa. We like to boast that modern travel and communications innovations reduce the size of our world, and uproot or civilize those wild, remote and once inaccessible places where mystery held sway. I'll admit that much of the inaccessible has been conquered, and the veil of mystery has been lifted from the poles as well as tropical jungle—but there still are spots in Africa that have not been changed by the invasion of the white man.

I know, as a producer for 20th Century-Fox, and as a traveler in connection with picture-making, that in the course of production we sometimes unearth things that are new, and also we verify facts that before the arrival of the camera were speculation or outright mystery. I have spent six months in Africa, much of the time in the Belgian Congo, my first trip in an exploratory capacity, scouting for locations in "White Witch Doctor," and later, with a camera crew shooting the scenes. When we reached the Bakuba country, a serious problem was encountered in making known our intentions. Our interpreters were none too well informed in the use of the Bakuba dialect, and our messages often were worked over four or five times, by as many different persons. And you know what can happen to any story when it is repeated many times in our own language. Imagine what happens after it passes through several dialects—say, in darkest Africa.

WELL, WE WANTED authenticity in filming "White Witch Doctor." I found that the magic code of the Bakuba tribe would find little favor with American women. The economy of the Bakubas is based on polygamy, with every man acquiring as many wives as he can possibly afford. A good wife, able to work all day in the fields, is fairly expensive in the native scheme of things, costing several goats, and perhaps—if she is a choice specimen—a few added strands of beads.

The unwritten agreement in a Bakuba marriage is that if the wife does not expect a blessed event within 12 months after she is purchased, she may, at the discretion of her husband, be returned to her parents. In that case, the parents would be obliged to re-

L. B. Pageantry Film to Have Local Premiere

The color and romance of the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant here last June will come to Long Beach screens this week in the world premiere of "The World's Most Beautiful Girls."

A technical short produced by Universal-International Studios, the film will be presented in special showing Monday night at VA Hospital.

It will have its public premiere Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the State Theater, where the companion feature will be Errol Flynn's "Against All Flags."

Formal premiere ceremonies will include a presentation by Renate Hoy, Miss Germany, to Mayor Burton W. Chace. A troupe of Hollywood stars will attend.

Those who missed the spectacular beauty pageant will have their first opportunity to view the parade of pulchritude. Back stage and candid camera scenes will offer views of beauty contest activities and festivities which were closed to the public during the pageant, which brought Long Beach worldwide attention.

Two beauty crowns were awarded in lavish stage productions at Municipal Auditorium on successive nights last June when Jackie Loughery of Brooklyn was proclaimed Miss United States of America and Armi Kuusela of Finland began her reign as Miss Universe.

Exhibitors Hand Taylor Raw Deal in Listing

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD—L.P. It's good that Robert Taylor is one of the very few stars who doesn't take his standing in Hollywood too seriously. Else, he might be a candidate for his own throat slitting at the moment. But Taylor probably won't even get an ulcer out of what has happened to him in recent days, to wit:

1. The annual poll of movie exhibitors recently listed the top 25 box office stars of 1952. Taylor's name was not among them although he starred in the top two box office pictures of 1952—"Quo Vadis" and "Ivanhoe." Figure that one out.

2. MGM recently press-premiered "Above and Beyond" wherein Taylor, who never has had an Academy award, deserves one for his portrayal of Col. Paul W. Tibbets, the pilot who dropped the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima.

Even members of the Hollywood press urged that the studio release "Above and Beyond" in time to beat the Jan. 1 deadline so that the well-liked Taylor could be in the Oscar running. In order to qualify, a picture must be shown locally sometime in 1952.

A front office spokesman argued that three big Taylor pictures in one year would be too much. So they scheduled it for release Jan. 2.

Taylor good-naturedly said that the studio probably couldn't get a theater booking in time but the real reason is that the studio brass wants all-out, united MGM support for "The Bad and the Beautiful."

He also credits his 1952 box office success to luck.

"Gregory Peck was supposed to do 'Quo Vadis' and Stewart Granger 'Ivanhoe.' Something happened that they weren't free when needed so I was under contract and got the roles. Just pure luck, nothing else."

Since his divorce from Barbara Stanwyck, Taylor lives the most unstarlike life in town. For awhile, he lived with a friend in Inglewood, a city midwesterners.

Taylor has since moved into the house he bought his mother in Beverly Hills.

"Mom does all her own housework and cooking," comments Taylor, "so I live in the servant's quarters."

A studio worker gives an even deeper insight:

"This fellow is amazing," says the worker. "When he goes on location, he packs and carries his own luggage."

No one in Hollywood gets more fun out of being a movie star than Vera-Allen.

Says the petite dancer:

"I would have never seen anything outside of Norwood, Ohio, if it hadn't been for show business."

She's the movies' traveling ambassador-at-large. She probably has made more good will tours during the last year than any other female star. She made compo tours through New York State, Texas and Pennsylvania hitting often as many as a dozen towns a day. She recently went to Honolulu to help an automobile firm display its 1953 models.

"I also found out how they pick pineapples and refine sugar cane," she adds. She calls Texas the place where "you look out on the horizon and see the day after tomorrow."

Her most amusing incident happened in Kingsville, Texas. A high school boy asked her if movie kisses were real?

She invited him on the stage to find out. She says the youth made only one comment: "Wow!"

Do you see why the chamber sent the copy for free?

The Theater Guild's famed "Oklahoma," musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein, will be presented in Municipal Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, Jan. 16 and 17. It was announced by Jean Ann Rogers, representative of Ware-Hazleton Attractions.

"Oklahoma" is beginning its 10th consecutive nationwide tour from coast to coast, with new scenery, costumes and electrical effects requiring two 70-foot railroad baggage cars to transport all of it.

Featured in the current production are Ralph Lowe as "Curly," Florence Henderson as "Laurey," Victor Griffin as "Will Parker," and Jerry Mann as "Ali Hakim."

The play now holds the all-time record for musicals, topping such great successes as "Annie Get Your Gun," "Zigfield Follies," "Show Boat," "The Merry Widow," "Carousel" and "Brigadoon."

The company is of the same strength as when first toured—67 singers, actors and dancers, plus an orchestra of 20. Who needs to be reminded of the great tunes? "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," "Surrey With the Fringe on Top," "People Will Say We're in Love," "I'm Just a Girl Who Can't Say No," "Many a New Day" and the stirring "Oklahoma."

Rich in animal behavior both comical and dramatic, splendidly photographed against majestic mountain and forest terrain in Montana and Wyoming wilds, "Bear Country" is one of Disney's finest wildlife sagas.

Alfred and Elmer Milotte, noted nature cinematographers, and two other expert wildlife cameramen, James R. Simon and Tom McHugh, followed the black bear in family groups and social gatherings, through a whole season in the high western solitudes.

Honeymoon and fights, rearing of young and show-off comicalities, foraging for food and strange examples of primitive morals have been remarkably colated in dramatic continuity to make "Bear Country" one of Disney's most eloquent and spectacular nature features. Narrative by James Algar, music by Paul Smith and production supervision by Ben Sharpsteen for Disney, fully uphold the high standard these factual features have won as the most honored series in motion pictures.

RKO Radio releases it, in print by Technicolor.

Mitchum Silences Arthur on Set

HOLLYWOOD—Robert Mitchum finally found a way to stop the perpetual "yacking" of co-star Arthur Hunnicutt during the filming of "Beautiful but Dangerous" at RKO. Just before a lunch date with Arthur, Bob switched "prop" bottles so that when Hunnicutt, as the town souze in the picture, took a swig from his bottle for the movie he finished the scene sputtering—and silent. Mitchum had replaced the "tea" with a strong mixture of alum in water. Bob did the talking at lunch.

There's No Campus, No Rah! —Just Work at Old PCUSL

By BERT RESNIK

Deep in the heart of Long Beach lies a college without a campus, a university without any cheer leaders and—worse—no football team.

Registration site for this institution strictly of learning is the home of Dr. Carl H. Manson, 236 Newport Ave.

Dr. Manson is dean of the Pacific Coast University School of Law, which starts its eighth year of night sessions at Poly high school on Monday.

"We have a professional school and professional schools do not have the academic spirit," admits Dr. Manson. "It's kids that carry on the rah-rah!"

COLLEGE DADS

And PCUSL doesn't have any "kids" unless the offspring of the students are included in the tally. Some 60 per cent of the future lawyers have children, most of them two each.

Some 90 per cent of the students are married. Average age of the Blackstone browsers is 35. There are 150 Long Beach students, including eight potential Portias (that's Shakespearean for feminine lawyers).

The local rah-rahless contingent is mainly self-supporting with the largest number of students earning their week's salary as bank workers or court attachés.

With fulltime night study, about three and one-half hours four nights a week, a man can earn his law degree in three years. Part time students take four years.

For every hour spent in class, two hours of outside preparation are necessary, hardly encouragement for extra-curricular activities, according to Dr. Manson.

However there are two sororities and a fraternity. The sororities, Phi Delta Delta and Iota Tau Tau, when they get a chance to let their hair down, conduct breakfasts.

In safe seclusion from the Ivy halls of jawdom, the girls plan exciting entertainment programs. The entertainment? It never varies.

Each breakfast features some noted lawyer or jurist. He gives a talk and they ask questions.

Nevertheless, there is plenty of school spirit at dear old PSUSL—and there is a school hymn, too.

It is sung at commencement exercises. Not everybody knows the words.

Wife Accuses Circus Heir Henry North

SARASTOA, Fla.—(AP) Elizabeth Palmer North sued Saturday for divorce from Henry Ringling North, charging that he deserted her and consorted with an Italian woman in Rome.

In a circuit court suit against the vice president of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, Mrs. North said she had done everything possible to make a home for him here, but that he had lived in it only two weeks during the last 18 months.

She charged that he maintains an apartment in Rome and spends most of his time there.

Mrs. North said newspapers throughout the world had carried gossip about her husband and an Italian woman, Michelle Muselli.

The Norths were married here Nov. 18, 1946. It was the second marriage for both. They have no children.

150-Mile Area Sees Fireball

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) A glaring light attributed to an unusually brilliant meteor, blazed northwestward across the San Francisco Bay area skies about 12:20 a. m. Saturday.

Many of the thousands of witnesses said it was accompanied by an explosive jolt, apparently from air shock waves.

Persons on the San Mateo county coast said it appeared to plummet into the Pacific.

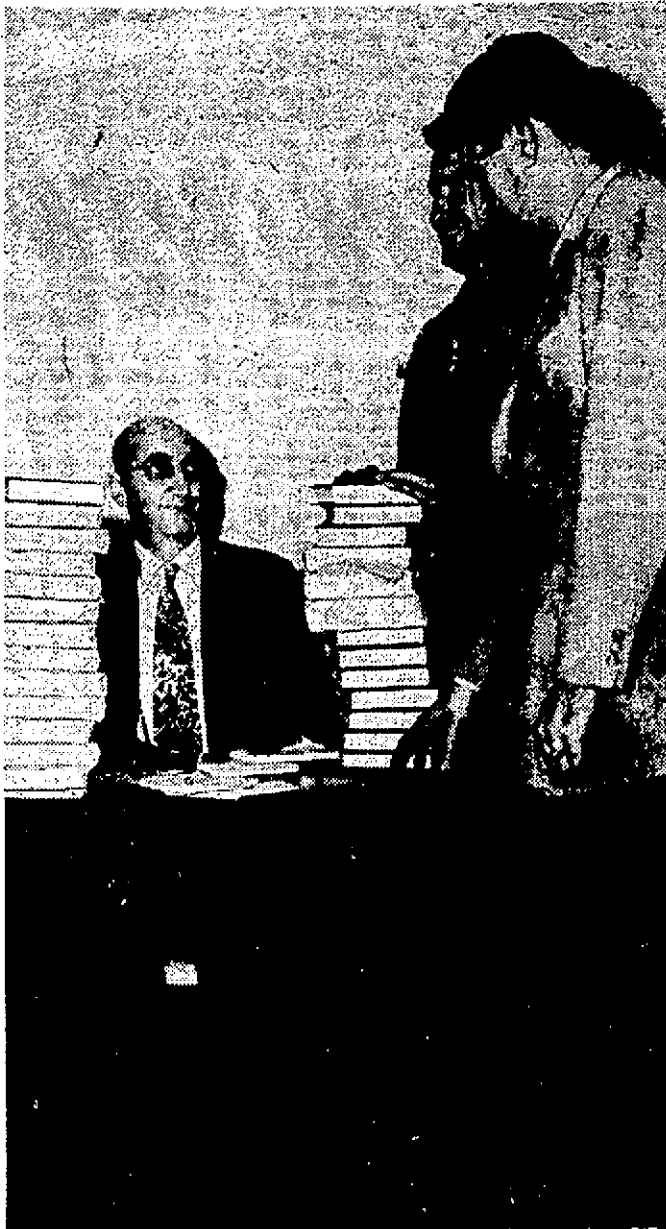

The flash was observed from Salinas on the south to Napa on the north, a distance of 150 miles. It was described variously as white, yellowish-white and greenish-white.

Dr. Otto Struve, head of the University of California astronomy department, said it appeared to be a "fireball," a meteor of exceptional brilliance.

13 Per Cent of Cost Of Sickness Insured

WASHINGTON — (AP) The Federal Security Agency said Saturday that during 1951 private insurance met about 13 per cent of the nation's personal costs of sickness, including income loss, with about 87 per cent having to be met individually.

The combined total of private expenditures for medical care and loss of income due to sickness was figured at $14,200,000,000.

LUNCHEON CLUBS

Optimists to Hear U.S. Senate Reporter

Franklin A. Steinko, official reporter for the Truman and O'Mahoney committees of the Senate and later official reporter of the Senate foreign relations committee until June 1, 1952, will address Optimist Club Thursday noon in Lafayette Hotel.

Steinko is a member of the local club and a resident of Palos Verdes Estates. He became a member of the Washington, D.C., Optimist Club in 1941 and in 1949 was international president.

"What Are They Doing to Us in Washington?" will be his topic. Chairman will be L. E. McKee.

LIONS CLUB of Long Beach will hear Dr. Wallace H. Moore, chairman of the division of education and psychology at Long Beach State College, Friday noon in the Wilton Hotel. "Whither?" will be his subject. The talk will concern the "cold war" in various places in the world. Dana Brown will be chairman and President Robert McNulty will preside.

ROTARY CLUB will hear Rev. H. J. Hauck, president of Santa Clara University, at its luncheon meeting in Pacific Coast Club Wednesday noon. "American Freedom and Our Universities" will be his topic. He recently was headlined when he abolished football at Santa Clara.

President J. Donald Locke will preside. Thomas C. White will be chairman of the day. W. G. Bryant will be installed as third quarter vice president.

Plastic Artificial Eyes

More natural in appearance than glass eyes, they are unaffected by extreme temperature changes and will not break or roughen as glass eyes do. They are more economical because they last many years longer.

Our laboratory facilities enable us to reshape and grind plastic eyes to provide a comfortable fit, natural in appearance, with maximum movement.

Vitamin Overdose Bad for Infants; Mothers Warned

WASHINGTON — (WVNS). Wholesale overdose of infants with vitamins is a danger against which mothers are warned by a pediatrician.

The highly concentrated vitamin mixtures available along with the belief by many that "if a little is good, more is better" are resulting in overdoses, Dr. Genevieve Stearns, professor of pediatrics at the University of Iowa, told an audience at the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Acute vitamin A poisoning is becoming more common and acute vitamin D poisoning has been reported occasionally, she pointed out. These are the two vitamins that the body cannot excrete.

Better education on the part of parents in the use of vitamin products, to protect infants, or control "of their promiscuous sale" were recommended by the pediatrician.

Among clinical symptoms reported in vitamin poisoning have been loss of appetite, loss of weight and often nausea.

Where doctors advise a mother to use a few drops, at most, of a vitamin concentrate, some mistakenly give their babies half a teaspoonful or more regularly.

After a period of time, "with saturation of the tissues, toxicity develops with the symptoms mentioned," she said.

Ability of individual systems to absorb vitamins in foods and supplements vary also, it was added. Some digestive systems and body tissues will absorb and utilize more vitamins than others.

"Mothers should follow the advice of their pediatricians about the kind of vitamin concentrate as well as the dosage," one nutritionist added. "There are differences in potency, and the doctor prescribes a specific type for a specific reason."

There is little danger of adults acquiring vitamin A or D poisoning because they rarely use the highly concentrated types recommended for infants, it was pointed out by a spokesman for the National Vitamin Foundation. Following directions on vitamin bottles sold over the counter and not taking any more than prescribed was urged.

Fight Over $1 Fatal, L.A. Man Arrested

LOS ANGELES — (AP) Alvie Kyles, 37, was arrested Saturday on a murder charge after Rupert Marshall, 34, was killed in what police said was an argument over $1.

Marshall was killed by a blow from a bumper jack after he stabbed Kyles' head, police said, following the argument in Kyles' home.

U.S. Navy Names Capt. E. B. Harp As Chaplain Chief

WASHINGTON — (AP) Capt. Edward B. Harp Jr., 49, Saturday was appointed chief of Navy chaplains and assistant chief of Naval personnel.

The Navy said the assignment will become effective Feb. 1 on the retirement of Rear Adm. Stanton W. Salisbury, the present chief of chaplains.

Harp, who will be promoted to rear admiral upon assuming his new duties, is a member of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

He is a veteran of the Battle of Midway and the sinking of the carrier Hornet.

Ranked with Frank Lloyd Wright as among the most influential of modern architects, Neutra has been the subject of extensive articles in Time, Fortune and Architectural Forum.

He has lectured at universities and colleges throughout the United States and is also the author of several books, including "Survival Through Design," "Mysteries and Realities of the Site" and "Architecture of Social Concern."

Born and educated in Vienna, Neutra first came to the United States in 1923 because, as one of his Viennese professors had told him, in America "here man would build as never before." But in the 1920s "modern" was still 20 years ahead of its time, and Neutra, Wright and others of the new school of architecture were regarded as "outlaws."

Today, according to a recent article in Fortnight, buildings Neutra put up 20 years ago "are more spanking-fresh in design than most of the contemporaries just built."

Since the mid 1930s Neutra has had his home and offices in Los Angeles, and has designed hundreds of homes, schools, housing units and industrial buildings in many parts of the world, though most of his work has been done in California. Tuesday night's lecture is the fifth in the current Art Forum series, directed by Fred Meiers of the City College art department.

Pro Bowl Winds Up 'Season' Saturday

LOS ANGELES—(AP) Hold your hats, football fans. The season isn't over yet! The third annual Pro-Bowl game comes off Saturday in Memorial Coliseum. It will be televised nationally but blacked out in the Los Angeles area.

The two coaches in the recent championship playoff, Buddy Parker of the champion Detroit Lions and Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns, will guide the all-star teams of the National and American Conferences.

Name an outstanding player in either conference and you will find he's booked to play here.

Ready to fill in for Graham is Jim Finks, sensational quarterback of the rugged Pittsburgh Steelers.

Headlining for the National Conference will be such stars as Quarterback Norman Van Brocklin, Halfback Dan Towler and End Elroy Hirsch of the Los Angeles Rams; a host of San Francisco 49ers, including Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny; and naturally the pick of Parker's Lions, notably Pat Harder, Bobby Layne, Cloyce Box and Bobby Hoernschmeyer.

In the American camp will be Eddie Price of the New York Giants, rookie Ollie Matson, Chicago Cardinals; Ray Mathews and Elbie Nickel, Pittsburgh, to list a few.

Len Ford and Bill Willis. Browns; Ernie Tunnell, Arnie Weinmeister, and Jon Baker. Giants; Chuck Bednarik, Philadelphia; Jerry Shipkey, Bill McPeak and Ernie Stautner, Pittsburgh; and Washington's Harry Gilmer and Johnny Williams are on the American squad.

Orange Game 'Poor Match'

MIAMI, Fla. — (UP) R. D. (Buck) Freeman, head of the Orange Bowl schedule committee, delivered a stinging slap in the face to eastern college football in general Saturday when he conceded that Syracuse was badly mismatched in this year's game against Alabama.

"I would have to say that it will be hard to sell me on an eastern team again," Freeman said, making no effort to mask his disappointment over the record 61-6 trouncing of Syracuse by Alabama New Year's Day before 66,280 fans, largest number ever to see an Orange Bowl game.

55,000 See Big Noise Fade Badly

By ROY BETZ
Calumet Farm's great four-year-old filly, A Gleam, picked up Saturday where she left off last summer in winning five successive stakes as she raced to a thrilling head victory at Santa Anita in the $28,150 Malibu Sequet Stakes.

The day's mutual turnover, $3,161,495, was a big one for early in the meeting, perhaps the biggest ever during the first seven days of any Anita session. A crowd of 55,000 turned out in balmy weather.

Trailing during the early stages by some 10 lengths, A Gleam began running on the turn for home in the seven furlong feature, and closed the gap with every stride on the pacesetting Big Noise.

RIDING SKILL
But it took all the riding skill of the great Eddie Arcaro to get A Gleam in front at the wire by a margin so infinitesimal it took a photo to separate his mount and the late-closing Stranglehold. Big Noise finished third after trying to steal it all.

A Gleam raced the seven panels in the fastest time of the meeting; 1:22 4/5. Installed a two-to-five favorite, A Gleam returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.30. Stranglehold kicked back $4.60 and $3.50 and Big Noise paid $6.20 for show.

The field of eight had not gone a quarter of a mile when Big Noise, pride of Betty Grable, moved two lengths out in front, with Warcor, Gold Land, Mac and Marador in pursuit and A Gleam and Stranglehold far to the rear.

BOOSTS LEAD
As the field passed the half-mile pole, Big Noise had boosted his lead to five lengths. But A Gleam was moving up on the outside and cutting the gap.

As they turned into the stretch A Gleam was only four lengths behind and Big Noise, bearing far out, lost most of its lead. Arcaro took the filly in toward the rail as they headed into the final sixteenth, and

Football TV Headlines NCAA Meet

WASHINGTON—(UP) The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. and affiliated groups will meet in annual convention next week to discuss a variety of problems, including recommendations for football rules changes.

High on the agenda of the week-long convention is the question of what to do about televising college athletic events, particularly football games.

A survey by the NCAA's extra-events committee also will be presented to the convention. The committee, headed by Wilbur C. Johns, director of athletics at UCLA, will give its view on what to do about post-season events such as football bowl games and invitational basketball tournaments.

The membership committee, created a year ago, will report on alleged infractions of NCAA rules and regulations by member colleges. The committee is expected to submit several legislative proposals setting up enforcement machinery to be used against rules violators. Playing and practice seasons for all sports also will be discussed.

RIVIERA COUNTRY CLUB. Los Angeles — Long Beach put but a solitary representative in the final 91 contenders for the $20,000 swag of the 27th annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament here Saturday. He is Walter "Boots" Porterfield, whose 72-81 — 153 was only a single stroke under the highest scoring group allowed to compete in the third round today.

The rest — Jim Ireland, Wayne Otis, Joe Robinson, Irving Cooper and Harry McCarthy — can leave their clubs at home if they decide to make the trip. They'll be in the gallery.

Of them, McCarthy had the best chance, but opportunity looked the other way as he soared to a 41-11 82 after Friday's glowing 36-38 — 74. A six on No. 1 and a seven on the par four No. 9 ruined him going out. Coming home, he bogied 10, was two over on 12, bogied 13 and 18 to write finis to his record.

Robinson, the Virginia CC pro, improved his 78 of Friday by one stroke for a 155, missing today's big show by a single stroke. It could have been the double bogey seven on the par five No. 1 Saturday, or it just might have been the bogey five on No. 18 that eliminated him from the charmed circle.

Irving Cooper was one stroke worse on Saturday than his first day 79, so his 80-79 — 159 wasn't good enough. Nor were the 85-80-165 registered by Jim Ireland or the 88-79 — 167 posted by Wayne Otis.

The Saturday cards for all the locals read like this:

Porterfield, in	84	83	84	35
Robinson, out	85	84	84	40
McCarthy, out	84	83	84	41
Cooper, out	85	84	84	40
Ireland, out	88	87	84	39
Otis, out	88	87	84	39
Porterfield, in	84	83	84	35
Robinson, out	85	84	84	40
McCarthy, out	84	83	84	41
Cooper, out	85	84	84	40
Ireland, out	88	87	84	39
Otis, out	88	87	84	39

There was some consolation for Ireland, if not for Joe. Harry, Irv and Wayne. Jim was one of two men to post an eagle three on the five par, 513-yard No. 1 hole in the tournament thus far. Only other score card to show the same No. 3, which should be put up in green neon lights, was Jimmy Clark's. The Laguna Beach, who used to call local courses, his home, started his round Saturday with an eagle three.

THE TOURNAMENT maintained its par performance in casualties. Opening day Friday saw a Santa Ana photog and Scotty Chisholm, who calls the signals (and scores) at the 18th hole, temporarily stunned by a flying golf ball whizzed by Bud Holscher, whose 72-78 kept him in contention for the top amateur prize.

Saturday two more "cases" were reported. First, Jimmy Demaree withdrew because of a temperature of 102 from a virus infection after scoring 73 opening day.

The gallery casualty was Miss Dorothy Scott, struck in the head by Lawson Little's drive on No. 7. She was removed by ambulance to a Santa Monica hospital.

THE BOYS in the red shirts sponsoring Los Angeles County Chamber of Commerce workers are preparing to play host to 12,000 spectators today. They're that optimistic because 5700 came Friday, 8500 gathered the show Saturday, and most of all because it's Sunday and the weatherman has promised the third successive day of warm sunshine.

Get out the rope, men! I don't mean cigars!

SMALL TALK — Jay Hebert (pronounced Abare), midway leader, claimed the best shot he hit all day was a No. 5 iron to within two and a half feet of the pin on the par No. 4, 422-yard ninth hole, but ironically enough he didn't get his birdie three. He blew the short putt and wound up with a conventional figure... Al Mengert, grouped with Art Wall and Lloyd Mangrum in the runnerup spot — only a stroke back at that — won the Stanford U. golf title as a freshman. He was fifth low amateur in the 1952 Masters at Atlanta, Ga. Wall, 29, is a former Duke University links phenom... Consensus in the press room at this stage is Mangrum — when the heat is on — and to think I once shot a 127 here. Without benefit of a gallery, either.

Badgers Greeted By 4000 Rooters

MADISON, Wis. — (AP). About 4000 football fans jammed the airport here to cheer the University of Wisconsin Badgers when they alighted from their chartered plane at 6:35 p. m. Saturday.

The football team, defeated 7-0 by Southern California in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1, left Pasadena, Calif., earlier in the day.

The players, who came through the hard-fought New Year's Day battle in good condition, were in high spirits as they met the applause of the waiting Badger supporters.

In a brief statement at the field, Coach Ivy Williamson said he was very pleased with the Badgers' "play on the field and the way they behaved off the field."

Dickson's Distinction

Murry Dickson of the Pirates had the dubious distinction of losing the most games, 21, giving up the most homers, 26, and yielding the most runs, 128, in the National League in 1952.

Royal Court

Public Gets Emperor OK

TOKYO — (AP). The Japanese public soon will be allowed to play on Emperor Hirohito's tennis courts, in a setting of picturesque pine trees on the Imperial Palace grounds.

Kyodo news agency said the metropolitan government of Tokyo purchased 10 courts and will open them to public play. There are accommodations for 5000 spectators.

Previously the courts were used only by members of the exclusive "Palace Club" and for tournaments.

The public will be charged 40 cents an hour to play. Special passes will be issued to enter the palace grounds.

Aussies Get Preview of Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP). Australia's tennis youngsters get an inkling of their chances for defending the Davis Cup in 1953 when play begins next Tuesday in the Australian national championships at Kooyong Stadium.

Mervyn Rose and juniors Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad head the revised Aussie seedings, following the withdrawal of Frank Sedgman and defending title holder Ken McGregor to the professionals.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, captain of the recently beaten U. S. Davis Cup team, was seeded first among the "foreign" entries. Other U. S. men entered are Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif. Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, O., the fourth member of the American Davis Cup team, had to report back for duty in the U. S. Navy immediately after last week's cup matches.

The Americans have a strong entry in the women's division in U. S. champion Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly of San Diego, Calif., and Young Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif. Rose, Rosewall and Hoad are Australia's likeliest Davis Cup defenders next year. Thus, the Aussie vs. U. S. matches in the tournament may serve as an indication of what to expect next year in the Davis Cup matches. Australian tennis experts predicted that the quarterfinals would pair Rose vs. Rex Hartwig of Australia, and Hoad vs. Fausto Gardini of Italy, who is seeded second among the foreign entries, in the upper half of the draw; and Seixas vs. Geoff Brown of Australia, and Clark vs. Rosewell in the lower bracket.

The second contest is scheduled for next Saturday. Plan 3 New Ring Weights

NEW YORK — (AP). A proposal to establish three new weight divisions in professional boxing will be considered next Saturday and Sunday at New York meetings of the National Boxing Association's executive committee.

Harvey L. Miller, executive secretary of the NBA, will advocate the formation of new classes at 130 pounds, 140 and 150. Their addition would give the fight game 11 divisions instead of the current eight.

Miller of Washington, D. C., claims the increased size of the average American youth requires the changes. Thirty years ago the average American male of 21 scaled 135 pounds, Miller explains; but today he is about 10 pounds heavier and an inch taller.

Berra, Tipton Plenty Talkative

NEW YORK — (AP). The two most talkative catchers in the American League are New York's Yogi Berra and Cleveland's Joe Tipton, says Umpire Larry Napp.

"Those two guys never let up," said Napp. "Always yatta-yatta-ta. That Yogi is always hollering about something. One time the Yanks are playing the Athletics and Dave Philley comes to the plate. Now that Philley uses an old bottle bat that Jimmy Dykes must of used 30 years ago. It's short and stumpy."

"Yogi takes one look at the bat and he turns to me. 'Nappie,' he says, 'look at that bat. It's a banana stalk. Is that legal?'"

"Right behind Philley comes Gus Zornish. Gus uses one of the longest bats in the majors — about 38 or 39 inches long. Compared to Philley's stick, it looks like a battleship gun."

"Yogi takes a look and screams 'Hey, Nappie, this guy's using an electric light pole. That ain't legal, is it?'"

"Of course, both bats are legal," added Napp. "But that don't stop Yogi from bringing it up all the time. He just likes to talk."

"Now you take that Tipton," said the umpire. "He's always singing and talking, trying to upset the batters. He asks the batters what song they'd like to hear. One day he's working

North Seniors Clip South Agganis Hurls 2 Touchdown Passes

MOBILE, Ala. — (AP). A smooth-functioning squad of Northern All-Stars, paced by passing Harry Agganis and galloping Gene Gedman and Don McAuliffe, overwhelmed the South, 28-13, in the Senior Bowl football game Saturday.

Agganis, the sensational south-paw slinger from Boston University, outshone South passers Ray Graves of Texas A. and M. and Jack Scarbath. Maryland's All-America quarterback. He passed for two touchdowns and set up a third with a pass. Agganis was voted the most valuable player in the game by sports writers.

The victory for the North team, coached by Paul Brown of the professional Cleveland Browns, evened the series at two-all.

The South was completely outclassed until the last half, when it pushed across two touchdowns. The first South score came when McAuliffe fumbled and the South's Ken Fridgeon, a Houston back, recovered at the 50.

A series of passes from Scarbath and Graves to Lloyd Colter, a Houston back, and Ben Rodrick of Vanderbilt plus a 15-yard holding penalty moved the ball to the two. Joe Fortunato, Mississippi State's double duty powerhouse, rammed off tackle for the score.

Ed Mioduszewski of William and Mary converted.

The South's other touchdown came on a 66-yard drive in the fourth period. Two passes from Graves to Mioduszewski were good for 26 of these yards and Graves raced the final 11 yards to score.

The game was barely under way before the North broke the ice. A fine goal line stand prevented McAuliffe from scoring from inches out and the South-erners took over on downs. Scarbath tried to run to ball out of the end zone but was trapped for a safety by Ohio State Halfback Mats Beckley.

A fumble when Scarbath tried to hand off to Leroy Labat of Louisiana State was recovered by Illinois End Frank Wozniak on the South's 21. Bruney rammed over from the one-foot line.

A 35-yard touchdown march by the North for the second score was capped by an 11-yard toss from Agganis to End Ernie Stockert of UCLA.

The third North touchdown also came on an Agganis pass. This time a 14-yard heave to Gedman, who stole the ball in the end zone from three South defenders.

A powerful ground attack that carried 33 yards brought the North a final touchdown midway of the fourth period. McAuliffe raced 12 yards off tackle for the score and Agganis converted.

contending position by reason of a fine 72 after his opening 71 for a 36-hole 143.

The Memphis dentist who intrigues the galleries, slipped to a 74 in this second lap after starting off with a 70. He shared the 144 spot with Ralph Evans of Riverside, who carried 71-73.

Bunched at 145 were three more name pros who are not exactly new to the trick of chasing the leaders, and sometimes overhauling them. They are Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, who faded a 75 after his initial 70; Johnny Bulla of Verona, Pa., 73-72; and Jimmy Clark, the Laguna Beach contender, 73-72.

Defending champion Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J., heads the 146 assembly. His 72 Saturday made him feel better than his first-day 74. Shelley Mayfield, E. J. Dutch Harrison, Dick Meyer, Zell Eaton and Bob Watson kept him company.

Going after Hebert in the third round today will be all the 154s or better, meaning 91 players in all. Among them will be but a

RICHARDS HITS 15-1

DORTMUND, Germany — (AP). Bob Richards, America's Olympic pole vault champion, soared 15 feet, one inch, in the international amateur sports meet here Saturday night.

The pastor from LaVerne, Calif., thus bettered his Olympic mark of 14 feet, 11.14 inches. He has done 15 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

West German Chancellor Adenauer attended the indoor show featuring Olympic stars of several countries. In a speech before the 6000 fans, he praised the valuable contribution sports have made to international friendships.

Richards flew 7000 miles to participate in the meet. He will spend two days in Germany and fly home Monday.

Banner Indoor Track Year Opens Saturday

NEW YORK — (AP). One of the greatest winter indoor track seasons ever is shaping up for the United States with a program spiced by an imposing list of Olympic champions plus sparkling foreign invaders. Competition starts with the Washington, D. C., Evening Star Games next Saturday night, and three Olympic champions will be present. They are pole vaulter Bob Richards, high jumper Walt Davis and middle distance star Mal Whitfield.

The next important meet will be the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 29. Other big meets take place in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland and Milwaukee.

Among the other Olympic stars expected to star in indoor track are Horace Ashenfelter, surprise winner of the Helsinki steeplechase; Lindy Remigino, little 100-meter champion; and Andy Stanfield, 200-meter king.

RHODEN BACK — George Rhoden of Jamaica, the 400-meter winner, plus his long striding countryman, Herb McKenley, will be back.

From Germany will come Heinz Ulzheimer, third in the 800 at Helsinki with 1:49.7 and Rolf Lammer, sixth in the 1500 with 3:46.8, and in the 4:04 mile. They will compete in the Millrose Games and in the major meets that follow, such as the Boston A. A. games Jan. 31, the New York Athletic Club games Feb. 7, and the American championships.

Herbert Schade, the German who was third in the 5000 at Helsinki with 14:08.6, is due in time for the National championships.

There is a possibility that Josef Barthels, the unknown, 1500-meter runner from Luxembourg who won the Olympic 1500 meters, will come over for a single meet. In addition, Bob McMillen of Occidental College, California, who was inches behind Barthels, may come east to compete.

TURKEY COMPETES — For the first time Turkey is sending over three track stars. They are Osman Cosgul, who will arrive in mid-January, and who outran America's best distance runners at Helsinki — men such as Curtis Stone, Charles Casapoli, Wes Santee, and Fred Wilt. In 1951 he beat Horace Ashenfelter at 5000 and 10,000 meters.

The other Turks are Erdal Bakay, who has a clocking of 14.7 for the high hurdles, and Kemal Horulu, Turkey's best from 300 to 600 yards.

Don Gehrmann, the former Wisconsin flash who failed to make the Olympic team, is expected to try for a comeback in the indoor distance races, and Fred Wilt, the tireless FBI man, will be on hand to duel with him.

Frankly Speaking

by FRANK BLAIR

On April 29, 1949, in this space, we started a column about Rocky Bridges like this: "Some day when Pappy Time catches up with Fee Wee Reese of the Brooklyn Dodgers, a young man from Long Beach, now at Mont-real, will become the Brooklyn Bridges at shortstop. Baseball wise men believe that Everett Lamar Bridges has a good chance to win a varsity berth when the Dodgers need another shortstop."

Since that date, Bridges has put in two years as the utility infielder of the Dodgers and has subbed for Reese at shortstop on a number of occasions. But the durable Fee Wee keeps going along like Old Man River, and the cigar-smoking local boy, with the ready wisecracks and the twinkling eyes, hasn't yet won a regular job.

However, it may not be too long now. Just the other day, Reese himself tabbed Bridges as the most likely replacement for him at shortstop when he's through in the majors.

In a telephone conversation with sports writer Dick Young of the New York Daily News, Reese expressed the belief that he'd be good for several more years at short, and added:

"Why don't the Dodgers talk about Rocky Bridges taking my place when I'm through? He's a real good shortstop, and I think he'll hit well enough if given the chance to play. He has the spirit as well as the ability. That's what impresses me. A tummyache won't keep him out of the line-up."

Bridges has great natural ability, power at the plate, aggressiveness, and a driving zest and enthusiasm for baseball. Old-timers who have seen him in the east call him a throwback to several of John McGraw's Giant infielders of a generation ago, particularly the late Art Devlin, whose throwing arm was reminiscent of Bridges' salary wing.

Although Rocky is highly regarded at Brooklyn because he can be a good second baseman, short or third, his name has been mentioned frequently in trade talks. The Cincinnati Reds have been reported interested in him.

THEY'LL BE REGASHING
the Trojan-Badger Rose Bowl game for some time. Although many of the statistics favored the visitors, the Trojans put the only points on the scoreboard, and delivered a spirited and tenacious performance.

Despite the low scoring, it was a most interesting game to watch as the two teams puffed a fine defensive struggle before persons would have guessed before the battle that the Trojans, good as they are defensively, could prevent the offense-minded Badgers from scoring, but that's just what the Hillman did, with the help of a break or two along the way.

BADGER BACKERS, of course, pointed out Lady Luck certainly was a bit chilly to the Big Ten squad. Alan Ameche appeared to be going for six on a breakaway run, but was hauled down from behind by Timberlake. A fumble by half-back Burks started Troy on her touchdown march. A clipping penalty nullified the Badger bid for a tie near the Trojan goal line. Harland Carl dropped a pass which had "touchdown" written all over it.

Some of the Badgers' gracious losers as was their coach, Ivy Williamson, hinted that they'd like to replay the game, believing they could take the Trojans in an encore performance. At last reports, however, Jess Hill and his men were satisfied to keep seven points as the first victory over a Big Ten team in the Rose Bowl under the current pact.

This corner can find no fault with the selection of Rudy Bukich as the Trojans' most valuable player. His passing was the key to the Trojan triumph. The Trojans gave superb pass protection to Bukich. Rudy would have had time to drink coffee in the cup before delivering those pin-point passes.

Southern California's victory was a stimulating thing for coast football which had been deep in the doldrums as Big Ten Rose Bowl teams continued to take over conference champs to the cleaners. Give the Trojans three rousing cheers.

A GLANCE at the names of players in the current Los Angeles Open at Riviera shows what a wide swath time has cut in the ranks of the top golfers in the past two decades.

Willie Hunter, host pro at Riviera, usually makes a token appearance in the Los Angeles Open, and Harry Cooper called "Lighthorse Harry" by the late Damon Runyon after Harry's victory years ago in the L. A. Open, is an occasional tournament competitor out this way.

Long gone from the Southland tournament scene are Leo Diegel, Joe Kirkwood Sr., Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour, while such recent headlines as Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan now make few appearances in top-flight competition. Long-hitting Jimmy Thomson, former pro of the local Lakewood course, still follows the tournament trail, but finds it increasingly hard to match strokes with Jackie Burke, Lloyd Mangrum, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Jim Ferrier, Julius Boros and others.

However, Jimmy's 273, registered when he won the Los Angeles Open at Griffith Park in 1938, still stands as the record for the tournament, and there's no chance that tough Riviera will be the scene of any such low scoring in the current event.

Rock-sock-roughhouse wrestling will be featured in this Thursday night's Auditorium wrestling show where Hans Schnabel and Kripipler Karl Davis will meet the team of Joe (Champ) Pazandak and Lou (Shoulders) Newman in the tag-team main event for the rough-house championship and Promoter Harry Rubin will reward the victors with a gold cup.

Pazandak left here with a record of only one loss in about 600 bouts and quickly selected Newman, who has an undefeated record here, as his partner. Both of these men are known as rippers in the mat game. They specialize in science combined with an advanced knowledge of mat mayhem.

The Kripipler and his burly partner, Hans Schnabel, are real masters at the brawling type of grappling and both men can really dish it out as well as take it.

A battle of giants is set for the semi-main event when Vic Holbrook, the ex-UCLA basketball star, tries to avenge a defeat that Hombre Montana hung on him here a few months ago.

In Golf Sweeps

Bill Cook and Hal McGrew fired 76-88 at Virginia Country Club Saturday to tie for first in the club's weekly low net sweepstakes. Tied for second were Dr. Jack French, 77-89, and Chase McCoy, 81-82-69. Third was Roy Spawr, 77-70.

Joe Mullarky chalked up a hole in one on the seventh hole, touring the course with D. S. Perkins. Dr. K. Jacob and C. E. Scott.

Putting Croquet Style

By ALEX J. MORRISON
Author of "A New Way to Better Golf," Teacher of Champions

The latest technique on the greens is putting croquet style. The player, instead of standing on one side of the ball as in the conventional method, stands astride the line of play so that the clubhead swings between the legs like a croquet mallet.

Miss Hicks, who played a major role in the actual formation of the Women's PGA, has obtained a date on the Spring tour of the golfing girls, the date to be April 10-11-12, one week before the women's state championships at Fresno.

At the moment, however—even though a sponsor has been obtained to underwrite the $3000 purse, and other expenses that may arise in the staging of such an event—no local site has been designated as a site.

MAY GO A L. A.
"It seems as though there's some major objection wherever we turn," Betty will tell you, "and as a result we may have to take the event to a Los Angeles course."

She has tentative acceptance at Fox Hills for the tournament, but is still hopeful of staging the event here in Long Beach, she said.

Making the women's tour would be such a stand-out feminine golfer as Betsy Rawls, Patty Berg, Babe Zaharias, the Bauer sisters, Alice and Marlene, Betty Jameson, and a host of others.

BIG PURSE
Indications are that four and perhaps five of the women's events will be staged on the Pacific Coast this spring, two of them listed for the San Francisco-Monterey area.

And that an overall program for the girls would show a touring total purse of nearly $100,000.

FAIRWAY ECHOES
Third round of play in the eighth annual Virginia CC men's sectional tournament "good fellowship" match play tournament will be completed this weekend—and the boys will then settle down to the crucial quarterfinal battles.

No major casualties among the big winners as yet.

Winners in the weekly ladies' day outing at the South Course, play being at Par-Buster, were: Mrs. Hugo Guembe, Mrs. Mel Froese, Mrs. J. G. White, Mrs. J. D. Willhoit, Mrs. J. F. Way, Mrs. J. Nelson, Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. J. Petchon.

Joe Mullarky has a right to strut like a peacock around the Virginia CC clubhouse and links these days. Heaced the 138-yard No. 7 hole during a red-hot round Saturday, thus becoming the first local golfer to make an ace in 1953.

Moore vs. Olson

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP) Promoter William D. Kyne Saturday offered a guarantee of $30,000 to Archie Moore and $25,000 to Carl (Boho) Olson for a 15-round light-heavyweight championship match.

The match would be subject to the approval of the California Athletic Commission. Kyne said, and would be held at a date and location to be announced later.

The proposed bout would be staged for the benefit of St. Anthony's dining room for those in need, a San Francisco Catholic charity.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — (AP) University of Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler wired Cheddy Thompson, president of the Collegiate Hockey Coaches Association, Saturday that he has "temporarily" suspended Michigan player Johnny McKennell, accused of slugging an official in Denver on Dec. 23.

But Crisler's telegram sharply criticized the way the incident had been handled, and asked for documented testimony from the official, coaches and college hockey officials involved.

During a "sudden death" overtime period on Dec. 23 at the Denver University arena, McKennell pummeled Referee Mike Yalich after Denver's Dave Wylie had scored the winning goal. McKennell apparently thought the goal should not have been allowed.

Navy Five Vs. Kirby's

AAU's "game of the year" is on tap today when the Air Raiders from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station battle Kirby's Shoes in a struggle which will produce a mythical Southland champ in the Los Angeles City College gym.

Tip-off is set for 3 p. m. with a preliminary game at 1 p. m. The Los Alamitos will be gunning for revenge for last season's two-out-of-three series loss to the Shoemen in one of the top rivalries of the year.

Both clubs pack impressive records. Kirby's has posted a 12-2 mark for the season while the Air Raiders ride with a 12-4 mark including victories over Santa Maria, Peoria and Denver, all top-ranked teams in the NBL.

Los Alamitos' roster includes: John Furrows, Jack Stone, Ed Sheldrake, Don Johnson, Hal Umlinger, Hal Umlinger, George Young, Don Eby, Jullen Hana.

'King' Seeks 3rd Ring Win

It's two down and two to go for Sailor Felix Franklin, nationally known amateur middleweight, and current holder of the Ring title, as he squares Monday night against hard-socking Vince Davi at the port arena.

The San Diego Navy scrapper turned back Gus Fernandez, Chaffey Junior College star four weeks ago. Last week Felix kayaked Marko Polo in the first round of their scheduled rounder.

Now comes Davi, Hollywood's kayo punching entry to try for the "King of the Ring" robe and all that goes with it. If Franklin can turn back Davi's challenge then go on to victory over his fourth opponent he'll be given a plane trip to New York.

In other bouts, George Goodbeer meets Sammy Garcia, Sailor Frank Hart faces Fred Taylor and Rainey Mayes draws Sailor Ray Walters.

Slap-Hitter Gets Slap, Too

LOS ANGELES — (NBA) Jimmy Dykes corrected Ferris Main in a hurry when the two-time American League batting champion began taking a too-hold.

"Fain is strictly a slap hitter," explains the Athletics' manager. "Every once in a while he'll come out there and be doing all anyone could expect if he didn't get a slap hit. I advanced the man ahead of him. One day in St. Louis he was for that right field roof."

"All right," I said, "keep it up. I want to know where you're down where you belong. I want to know where you belong."

Vikings Face Tough Test At Modesto

By LARRY CAMPBELL
The Vikings of Long Beach City College face another rugged tournament test when they travel north Wednesday to take part in the annual Modesto Junior College Basketball tournament Thursday through Saturday.

Long Beach tackles a northern five, San Mateo, in first round play at 6 p. m. Thursday. If the Vikes win that one they meet Glendale Friday night in the quarter-finals. Semi-finals and finals are slated for Saturday.

The Vikes have been dumped but twice this year, once by Glendale in the Chaffey Invitational. However, the locals were at low ebb for the Vaquero encounter. If they square off up north, it may be an entirely different matter.

Long Beach coach, Charley Church, will take a 12-man squad to Modesto, these being: Bob Blake, Jerry Mitchell, Clarence Smith, Mary Sippel, John DeRit, Jim O'Brien, Curtis Guss, Frank Krause, Bob Cook, John Miller, Tom Sutherland and Doug Daull.

The toughest competition in the tournament is expected to be provided by San Francisco, College of Sequoia, Glendale, Modesto, Sacramento and Long Beach.

Following two tournaments in the Southland and a healthy card of practice tussles to judge by, here is a ranking of California's 10 top JC cage squads.

Compton heads the list by virtue of its spotless record and two tournament crowns. Jim Ritchie, Hal Steele, Morris Taft and Bob Lodge spark the Tartars.

TOP TEN
1-Compton—Everything, speed.
2-Ventura—Shooting, speed.
3-San Francisco—Shooting, height.
4-Modesto—Height, speed.
5-Glendale—Shooting, rebounding, passing.
6-Long Beach—Hustle.
7-St. Anthony—Height, shooting.
8-Stochien—Shooting.
9-San Diego—Speed, aggressiveness.
10-College of Sequoia—Height.

Small Schools Agree

CHICAGO—(NEA). Small colleges throughout the midwest feel that television and football can live together.

"Our attendance was up 15 per cent," beamed Athletic Director Carl Henrich of Valparaiso.

"We drew the second largest crowd of the season the same afternoon the Oklahoma-Notre Dame game was nationally telecast," said Lake Forest's John Green.

"Our attendance was the best in years," announced Dolph Stanley of Beloit. "It will take another year to tell about the inroads television will make on small college football."

Malted Milk Diet Aids Bob Houbregs

SEATTLE—(AP) If Bob (Hooks) Houbregs doesn't make the All-America basketball team he can't blame the milk industry.

For the past six months the loosely linked 6 foot 7 inch Washington center has been on a bender. A malted milk shake bender. Whenever and wherever he spies a dairy bar, lean Bob sidles in and tosses off a couple of quick ones.

All this heavy drinking has added 15 pounds to a Houbregs frame which had plenty of places to put it. Although he weighed 200 pounds last year it was thinly spread. He didn't dare stand sideways at roll call for fear of being marked absent.

Bob's hook shot has been famous and feared for a couple of years on the west coast. He led the northern division of the Coast Conference last season in scoring, and all this newly acquired fat hasn't slowed him down. The high guy potted 83 points in his first four games, connecting on .478 per cent of his tries.

But the malteds have been tiger blood for Houbregs on defense. Last year the brawny boys under the boards could tip Bob off balance by lifting an eyebrow. Now he's leading his team in rebounds.

Most coaches frown on extracurricular eating by their athletes, but Tippy Dye is all in favor of the Houbregs' drinking spree. Since he's seen the results he may even be footing the bill.

Local Preps Entered In Compton Tourney

Long Beach's four high school basketball teams, Poly, Wilson, Jordan and St. Anthony's, will all be seeking their first tournament championship of the 1952-53 season starting Wednesday when they take part in the Ninth Annual Compton Invitational Basketball Tournament Jan. 1 through Jan. 10.

All games will be played at Decker gym on the Compton High School and College campus. Three of the locals, Poly, Wilson and St. Anthony's, have been placed together in the upper bracket while Jordan was set in the lower bracket with tourney favorite Compton.

Wilson and St. Anthony's are conceded the best chance of gaining the finals and possibly ending Compton's lengthy winning streak. St. Anthony's tripped one the Southland's best, Huntington Beach, Friday night in the Saints' gym. Both schools have exceptionally high scorers, St. Anthony's boasting Billy Bond and Wilson's Russ Tyler.

Wilson meets Mark Keppel in the tournament's opening game at 11 a. m. Wednesday, while Poly tackles Lynnwood at 12:30 p. m. St. Anthony's vies with Downey at 3:30 p. m. and Jordan faces Whittier at 6:30 p. m.

Long Beach State will face its toughest basketball opponent of the season when Pasadena College (Nazarene) invades the Armory floor Tuesday at 8 p. m. The jayvee squads will open the night's action at 6:30 p. m.

QUESTION: Has a knocked-out fighter ever been given a draw?

ANSWER: During the fourth round in Osaka, Japan, Jan. 14, 1951, featherweights Kiyosaki Nakamishi and Noboru Miyamoto landed simultaneously and were counted out. The referee called it a draw.

Q. Who holds the record for three-base hits in a seven game world series?

A. Billy Johnson, then of the Yankees, with three against the Dodgers in 1947.

Q. How many major league baseball parks have a distance of less than 300 feet from home plate to the right field corner?

A. Three. The Polo Grounds (258 feet), Yankee Stadium (296 feet), and Ebbets Field (297).

Q. How many times in succession has Stan Musial won the National League batting championship? How many times in all?

A. Winning the crown in 1952 was Musial's third in a row, his sixth time all told.

Q. How old was Stanley Ketchel when he was killed?

A. The former middleweight champion was 23 when shot by Walter Dipey at Conway, Mo., in 1910.

Q. There's a runner on first. The batter hits a fly to short right field. The runner holds up between first and second bases. The batter comes around and pulls up behind him. The ball falls safely. The right fielder, throwing to first base, throws the ball into the stands. How many bases are the runners awarded?

A. Since no runner, when the ball is dead, may advance beyond the base which he is entitled, the runner originally on first goes to third base and the batter is held at second base. In such circumstances, consequently, it is impossible to award a runner two bases.

Irish Prexy Calls For Unlimited TV

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(U.P.) The president of Notre Dame presented a 10-point program calling for unrestricted televising of football games and branding any attempt to restrict or boycott "what is successful in other television programs as un-American and illegal."

The Reverend Theodore M. Hesburgh urged the adoption of the 10 points on the eve of the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting which begins today in Washington.

Hesburgh said the faculty and the coaching staff at Notre Dame believed "the current plans of restrictive television have not been in the public interest."

"On the contrary, they have attempted to dictate what the public can and cannot see, with little regard for what the public would like to see," he said. Under the current NCAA method, one game per week was televised on a national basis and regional and local broadcasts were banned except for several exceptions.

Hesburgh said the only restriction that should apply in the selection of games is public interest.

His statement said that if public interest were allowed and the four networks and local stations co-operated with "obvious public interest, it would be possible to have football telecasts of as many as 50 schools each Saturday and hundreds each season."

"The game of the week might be telecast nationally, many other games on regional basis, and a large number of games covered by local stations," he said.

The program took in the possibility that more general coverage might affect attendance at the outset but said the loss "will eventually be offset by television revenue and by the new fans developed through TV."

McLennan Draws 65

MIAMI, Fla.—(U.P.) Sixty-five horses from five nations—half of them stakes winners—have been nominated for the $50,000 McLennan Handicap, Hialeah Park's racing secretary Charles McLennan announced Saturday.

Only five of the McLennan candidates are from the United States. The rest are from Argentina, Chile, England, Ireland, and Uruguay.

Such famous racing stars as One Count, Crafty Admiral, Spartan Valor, Battlefield, Alerted, and One Hitter were named for the mile and an eighth race to be run Feb. 7.

Nine foreign-bred horses were named: Payucano, Agalin II, and Esmero from Argentina; Agalin II, Xavier II and Royal Vale from England; Windy City II and Ballinlea from Ireland; and Iceberg II from Chile.

The previous McLennan winners were nominated: Spartan Valor who set a track record of 1:47.15 in winning last February; Three Rings, winner in 1950; and Gangway, the 1951 victor.

Betz Sets Hot Pace

Led by Roy Betz, who had one of the most fabulous weeks in handicapping history at Santa Anita, The Independent's red-hot crew of turf selectors dominate the handicapping standings at the end of the first seven days of racing at the lush Arcadia track.

Betz boosted his season's total to 29 wins the past week when he tabbed 25 winners in five days to pull out to a strong lead in the handicapping race over The Independent's Consensus, which is second with 24 winners.

Maurice Bernard (Examiner) is third with 23, while The Independent's "Holly" is tied with Bob Herbert (Mirror) for fourth at 21. Then comes Jim Mitchell (Herald-Express), 20; John Beckman (Daily News), 19; and Leo Bastajian (Press-Telegram), 17.

Betz' flat-bet profit for the seven days thus far is $68.50... far ahead of any other handicapper.

'Fabulous Fifties' May Be 2nd 'Golden Age'

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK—(AP). Here it is 1953. What's so significant about that? Nothing much, except this New Year baby bears a striking resemblance to his illustrious old grandpa, 1923.

This is the 30th anniversary of that year, one of the all-time banner years in sports. If 1953 can produce half the high lights and sensations of 1923, we might well be headed for a great new era known as "the fabulous fifties."

For it was 1923 which ushered in the so-called "golden age," a period of athletic prosperity and achievement unparalleled in our history.

It was in 1923 that they raised Yankee Stadium—the house that Ruth built—and the late Babe Ruth christened the green, stone structure with one of his 74 home runs.

In 1923 the Yankees, under fiery little Miller Huggins, trimmed the Giants for their first World Series victory—starting a skein which was destined to stretch to 15 world championships.

A Finn named Paavo Nurmi set a new mile record in 4:01.4 and the University of Washington's eight-oar crew began a long-lasting dominance of the water by winning its first Poughkeepsie Regatta.

A football player named Harold (Red) Grange opened his collegiate career at Illinois by ripping off touchdown runs of 35, 65 and 12 yards to help trample Nebraska.

Before his career was ended, the "Gallop Ghost" with the 77 on his back scored 21 touchdowns and ran up a total of 3637 yards in three years.

It was on July 15, 1923, that the boy wonder from Atlanta, Bobby Jones, won his first major golf championship, ending what he called his seven years of famine, launching him on seven years of plenty.

Jones defeated Wee Bobby Cruikshank in a playoff for the National Open crown at Inwood, N. Y. Until that moment, he said, he was becoming discouraged over his repeated failures and was considering abandonment of the game.

The Atlanta went on to win four U. S. Open, four British Open, one British Amateur and five U. S. Amateur championships, closing his career with the unequalled grand slam of 1930.

It was on Sept. 14, 1923, that Luis Firpo, the Wild Bull of the Pampas, sent heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey sprawling into the laps of ringside newsmen in the first round of their battle at the Polo Grounds.

The Manassas Mauler barely climbed back into the ring in time to knock out Firpo in 57 seconds of the second round in a fight which sports writers two years ago voted the "top thrill of the century."

It was in 1923 that a 17-year-old girl in pig-tails, Helen Wills, cut down the veteran Mrs. Molla Mallory for the Women's National Tennis Championship at Forest Hills. Thus began a reign that netted seven national and six Wimbledon championships in 14 years.

And how about 1953?

Another California lass, Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly from San Diego, is feminine ruler of the world's courts—at 16, already twice winner of the U. S. championship and queen of Wimbledon.

A husky, hard-hitting Brockton, Mass., shoemaker, Rocky Marciano, is the new heavyweight champion of the world—a throwback, the experts say, to the brine-soaked fists of Dempsey.

going after their fifth straight World Series victory.

America's track and field forces are moving toward a new peak of achievement after a record-shattering Olympic triumph at Helsinki. A grimacing Czech, Emil Zatopek, already has eclipsed Nurmi's Olympic distance triumphs by winning the unbelievable triple—the 5000, 10,000 and marathon in the space of a week.

A 22-year-old Australian named John Landy recently ran a mile in 4:02.1, just seven-tenths of a second slower than Gunder Haegg's world mark of 4:01.4.

Horse fans are talking about another Man o' War in Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Native Dancer, unbeaten juvenile, winner of nine straight races as a two-year-old and the winter book favorite for the 1953 Kentucky Derby.

Then there's the one coincidental link between the eras. Southern California's football team, on Jan. 1, 1923, played its first Rose Bowl game, whipping Penn State, 14-3.

On Jan. 1, 1953, the Trojans, winners of all bowl teams, appeared in the Pasadena pageant for the 11th time, and downed Wisconsin, 7-0.

Bowling All-Time City Pin Greats Honored Along

By BEN ZINSER

Heard so much favorable comment about the 1952 all-star bowling teams for Long Beach that Pete the Pinboy decided to stick out his neck in grand fashion.

Why not an all-time all-star Long Beach men's team?

Ready? Well, then, here goes:

FIRST TEAM

Bill Hogan, deceased—Carried a lifetime composite average of over 261. . . Wonderful team bowler. . . Had a 216 average one season.

Frank Haynes—Once chalked up a 204 average in Long Beach. . . Competed in finals of national match game championships in Chicago in 1948.

George Golan—Has hit over the 190 mark virtually all his bowling career. . . Registered a 205 average one season. . . Rolled 300 game at Western Bowl on March 2, 1952, while Howard Holmes flipped a 247 during a doubles match to give the pair a 547, highest doubles game since 1941.

Third place in the 1952 DeVito Classic in Chicago. . . Still going strong—he started in 1914—the O' Silver Fox from San Pedro earned more than $2100 in tournament play last year.

Nick Baskovich—Consistently over a 200 average. . . Has two 300 games to his credit. . . Fired 784 three-game series, including a 299 game, at Ocean Park with the old Harold Lloyd team.

Art Parra—Good team bowler. Once packed 200 average. . . Rolled 765 series at Virginia Recreation. . . Has 290 game to credit. . . For about 10 years held Southeast District all-events record with a 2044 total on series of 656-72-716.

Johnny Mead—Sixth man on first team. . . Known as an "effortless" bowler. . . Averaged 200 consistently before he retired from active bowling. . . In 1939 was West Coast Bowling Congress all-events champion, averaging 210 for nine games during tourney at San Francisco World's Fair.

SECOND TEAM

Pete Mandotte—Up until 1940 averaged close to 200 consistently.

Cecil Martin—Always one of the community's standout trundlers. . . West Coast singles champion in 1942 with a 699 cluster.

Ivan Way, deceased—Ranked on all-city teams through 1943. . . A steady team bowler.

Turp Lohmeyer—Definitely a stylist. . . Until retirement from game ranked on city all-star quintets.

Oscar Forsberg, deceased—Often an all-star selection.

Lyman Wakeman—Sixth man on second team. . . A top team bowler. . . Excellent kepler until recent years and still a good competitor.

HONORABLE MENTIONS

It was inevitable that several topnotchers had to be left off the first two teams. . . But we hope the oldtimers won't differ with us too much.

Brannan, Hayes Star At College of Idaho

Two local products, one from St. Anthony's and the other from Poly, played on the Idaho College football team last season.

Jack Brannan, former Saint grid star, and Norm Hayes, one-time Poly student, are the two Brannan starred as a halfback for Idaho while Hayes coached the freshman football team. He is currently tutoring the Vandals' freshman cage squad.

Workouts

Return to Bowl

Wrestling will be "for free" today at Wilmington Bowl with the return of Sunday wrestling workouts to the harbor club for January.

Heavyweight stars of matdom will go through their paces from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m.

KLAC (13) with Gary Goodwin at the "mike" will telecast the program, which is free to the public. Promoter Ernie Steffen stated that the arena would open its doors at 4 p. m. to accommodate early arrivals.

Soccer Semifinals At Rancho Today

Semifinals in the Far West soccer eliminations for the National championships will be held at Rancho LaCienega Playground today, starting at 12:30 p. m.

St. Stephens AC meets Magyars in the opener, while the San Pedro McIlwaines take on Atlas AC in the nightcap at 2:30. Winners meet next Sunday for the right to play St. Louis in the Western Division finals.

Cracker Box Champs

DANFORD CAMPBELL (right), his wife, Wanda, and crew, Bill Sibson of Long Beach, won the 1952 National Cracker Box run-about championship, plus the Southern California Speedboat Club's high-point honors for the year in the potent inboard class.

Four Inboard Regattas Set at Marine Stadium

By BOB RUSKAUFF

Four speedboat regattas on Marine Stadium, all inboard, are among 28 listed for 1953 by Region 12 (southwest) of the American Power Boat Association.

Two others may possibly be added on the famed Long Beach course. Likewise the overall schedule may be slightly changed when officials of Regions 11 and 12 meet about Feb. 1 in Fresno to dovetail the Pacific Coast master calendar.

The three traditional "holiday" regattas are set on Memorial, Independence and Labor Day holidays. The Gold Trophy meet is set for July 26.

Signal, too, is the fact that two events are slated this year for Salton Sea. Somewhat of an answer to the year-end regatta held at Miami is the scheduling of two days of mile trials, May 16-17, for inboards only.

The 13th National Desert Regatta has been set for Oct. 17, 18 and 19, though which side of the sea or on what course is not definitely determined.

Under leadership of Dale Brown, Long Beach, and an able set of flag officers, the Southern California Speedboat Club bids to more than maintain its "club of champions" record through the motorboat world this year.

Abetting Brown will be Tommy Thompson, vice commodore; Bob Corbett, rear commodore; Ruth St. Oegger, secretary; and Gillette Smith, treasurer. The list of 1953 speedboat regattas follows:

New Rice Net Coach

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP). The appointment of George Richey as tennis coach at Rice Institute was announced Saturday by Athletic Director Jess Neely.

Olympic Mat in TV Debut

Two colorful ex-world champions will collide in the main event when west coast wrestling makes its debut on the micro-wave from the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles Wednesday over KECA-TV (7) and the ABC western television network. The five-hour card will be televised starting at 8:30 p. m.

Baron Michele Leone and Enrique Torres will top the all-star show in a two-out-of-three falls struggle.

Leone, who holds the Pacific Coast championship, will pit his title and his notorious neck breaker against Torres and his famous flying body scissors.

In the semifinals, the Sharpe brothers, holders of the tag team championship of the world, will risk their crown against the speedy and mat-wise combination of Bobby Managoff and Pat Fraley.

Aldon Sells 2000 Homes in '52 at Total of $24,000,000

More than 2000 homes were sold for a total volume in excess of $24,000,000 during 1952 by the Aldon Construction Co., it was announced Saturday by officials of the firm.

More than 1000 of the three-bedroom "luxurized" homes were sold in Lakewood Plaza, situated in the Lakewood district, and the remainder were sold in the Granada Hills and Ventura Estates developments in San Fernando Valley.

Currently, the latest Lakewood Plaza unit, situated north of Spring St., a half mile east of Bellflower Blvd. in the Lakewood district, is featuring three-bedroom homes available to non-veterans as well as veterans on special FHA terms rated comparable to low GI financing.

Priced at $9495 each, the dwellings may be purchased by non-veterans and veterans on down payment of $1095 plus impounds, and on monthly terms of $48.91 for principal, interest and FHA mortgage insurance.

The homes, which contain the Aldon "luxurized" quality construction pioneered in thousands of other dwellings, are typified by eight furnished models, out-fitted by the Aaron Schultz furniture stores of Long Beach.

The Granada Hills development, at Balboa Blvd. and Chatsworth St., San Fernando Valley, offers three-bedroom, two-bath homes on 75-foot-wide sites. All are priced at $12,000, and may be purchased by veterans on down payment of $450 plus impounds and escrow costs, and monthly terms of $90.98 for principal and interest. Liberal terms prevail for non-veterans. Four furnished model homes are on display every day of the week.

Third current Aldon development is Ventura Estates, on Wilbur Ave., west of Reseda Blvd. and just north of Ventura Blvd. The homes there, with an augmented list of "luxurized" features, are priced at $12,500 each. Down payment for veterans is $470 plus impounds, and monthly terms are $72.90 for principal and interest.

Aaron Schultz' 'Old-Fashioned' Contest Now Open

The annual Aaron Schultz "Old Fashioned Contest," featuring reminders of the "Gay Nineties" era and earlier, will begin tomorrow, according to Stanley Schultz, merchandise manager of the furniture company.

Purpose of the contest is to stimulate interest in and the preservation of relics which will have increasing sentimental and historical value as years pass, Schultz said.

"Our contest last year uncovered a gold mine of unique and important items," he continued. "Winners were a quilt made of cigar labels, an original Edison phonograph and a pair of high-topped shoes. We also received spoons made of Confederate coins, an antique typewriter, tin types, snuff boxes, pew purses and many others."

Only one item may be entered by a family according to contest rules. Last year's winning items are not eligible. No newspapers, magazines or other publications can be accepted. Entries must be brought to the downtown store, 317 American Ave. by Jan. 15.

Entries will be judged for interest and originality by a committee of experts, Schultz said. Prizes are a Beautyrest mattress, lounge chair and a pair of table lamps.

Carl's Furniture Store Completes Remodeling Job

Carl's Furniture Store, 1250 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., has been completely redecorated and remodeled during the past four months at considerable expense, according to Maurice Carl, owner.

The extensive program involved completely recarpeting the main floor, remodeling and enlarging the modern, traditional and provincial departments, the addition of a period dining room upstairs and new appliance room and maple beuroom downstairs, and store entrance redecorated with the large display windows opening into the store.

The establishment will kick off on its 29th anniversary sale Monday. Store-wide bargains will be offered during this event.

Garden Grove Realty Is New Real Estate Office

Newest real estate office to enter the business scene in Garden Grove is the Garden Grove Realty at 11026 Garden Grove Blvd.

While the office is new, the personnel is not new to real estate or to Garden Grove. Floyd Andres, who will handle the loan department, has lived in Garden Grove over 40 years and has been active in real estate development and contracting for over 10 years. Tom Youmans, who will manage the real estate department, has lived in Garden Grove since 1944, and has been actively engaged in real estate now for one year.

His wife, Florence, and Miss Roberta Weber will complete the sales force. Miss Weber has been a member of the community for several years and has been in the real estate field all that time. She has been associated with Rex Hodges in Garden Grove.

The Garden Grove Realty holds membership in the Santa Ana Board of Realtors. Mrs. Youmans is secretary for the West Orange County division of the realtor group.

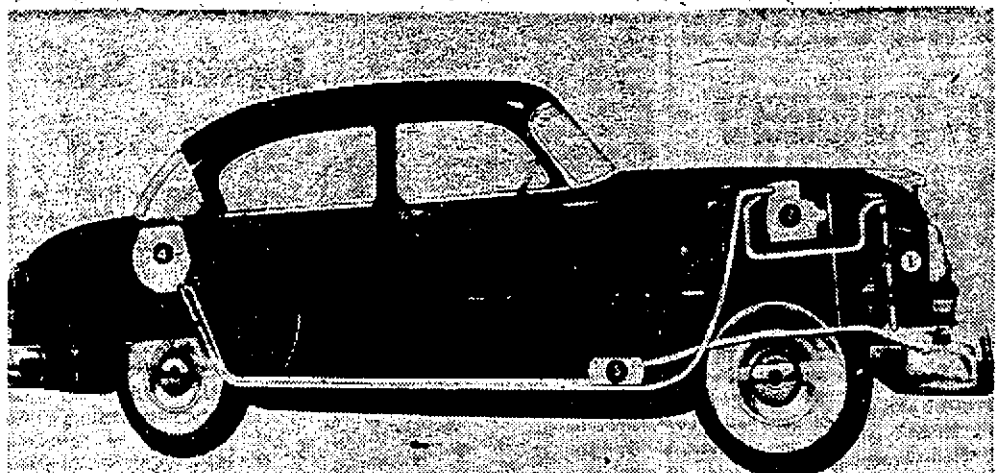

In addition to the personnel above, LaVerne Reafsnider, representative of State Farm Insurance Companies, will conduct his insurance business in the same building, as will Fern Lanier do likewise with her accounting office.

Leaders Weigh Far East Future

WASHINGTON — (AP) U. S. business executives and government officials will meet here Jan. 14-15 to consider America's policy toward Japan, which those arranging the conference say will determine in large measure the future of the Far East and possibly of the entire free world.

The international affairs division of the graduate school of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, is sponsoring the conference.

HUGH ANDERSON
New Bekins Manager

Bekins Van and Storage Co. has announced the appointment of Hugh Anderson as manager of the company's Long Beach office. Anderson comes from San Diego, where he has been assistant manager, in charge of Bekins furniture depository and Van Lines terminal on El Cajon Blvd. since 1945.

In Long Beach he will take over the duties of Ray E. Larsen, who leaves for Sacramento to assume his post as manager of the Bekins office in that city. This executive change will be made the first of the year.

Anderson joined the Bekins organization in Oakland in 1939, first in the sales department, then as office manager. Prior to that time, he had 18 years experience in the moving and storage business.

To his new post in Sacramento, Larsen brings a background of experience which includes 14 years experience as manager of the Bekins Van and Storage office in Long Beach.

In turning over the reins of responsibility to his successor here, Larsen expressed his appreciation for the patronage of so many Long Beach families and business firms. He pointed out that oil companies with interests in this area have been among Bekins' most loyal Long Beach customers, calling upon his office to move the household furnishings of personnel being transferred, and utilizing Bekins facilities for storage of inactive office files and out-of-use business equipment.

Larsen's Long Beach affiliations and memberships have included the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, Red Cross activities, and the budget committee of the Community Chest. His wife and three children are expected to join him shortly in Sacramento.

Stable Prices, Current Rate of Sale Seen in Market

Stable prices and continuation of the current rate of sales for industrial property, during the next six months were predicted today by the National Association of Real Estate Boards on the basis of its 54th semiannual survey of the real estate market.

Findings were made on reports from real estate boards in 245 communities. Similar conclusions were announced earlier for homes and farms.

More than three-fourths of the boards expect prices on one-story industrial structures to remain steady for the next six months, and only 6 per cent forecast lower prices. Seven of every 10 look for sales volume to remain at its current pace, while the remainder are split between increased and decreased turnover.

Much of the same picture is drawn for multiple-story industrial buildings. Prices are expected to remain by three-fourths of the communities, to be higher by one in 10. Present volume of sales will be maintained in the opinion of 72 per cent. Only 2 per cent look for lower turnover.

Market activity in the industrial property field has remained strong during the last six months, coincident with the high output of the nation's factories and the continuing expansion of the nondefense economy. Same volume of sales of one-story industrial structures as six months ago is reported by 64 per cent of the boards, while 19 per cent record a higher volume. Prices remain at the level of six months earlier, according to 67 per cent of the communities, and are higher in 26 per cent.

A shortage of one-story buildings is noted by 45 per cent of the communities, indicating a continuation of the growing demand in recent years for the modern one-story structure which has taxed the supply of existing properties of this type. Supply is sufficient to meet demand in 52 per cent of the areas polled.

Widest disparity between supply and demand is found in the East, South, Central and Pacific Coast states, using the survey returns as a yardstick. From Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi, 61 per cent of the reports indicate a shortage. Of the replies from California, Oregon and Washington, 59 per cent point to a similar situation.

The market for multiple-story industrial buildings remains strong, despite today's preference for the one-story structure. Prices have remained constant, according to seven of every 10 reports, although 64 per cent of the boards show the same volume of sales as six months before, and 29 per cent indicate lower volume. Prices are higher in 11 per cent of the communities.

Industrial space in multiple-story structures is reported sufficient to meet demand by 70 per cent of the real estate boards. Short supply is listed by 20 per cent, while 10 per cent note an over-supply.

NEW MOTORING COMFORT — Because air conditioning has moved to the forefront in the development of the modern motor car, the travel-minded American motorist now can look forward to a new degree of motoring comfort.

This became evident when Chrysler Airtemp announced that all of the tooling has been ordered for the Chrysler Airtemp car cooler. The cooler is now available on 1953 Chrysler and De Soto closed cars.

In a dramatic presentation at the recent preview of Chrysler Corporation's new 1953 automobiles in Detroit, Chrysler Airtemp along with Chrysler Corporation engineering division demonstrated an automobile air conditioning system that is the result of a 13-year research and development program.

Hundreds of visitors at the demonstration moved through the torrid 110-degree heat of a specially-built room before entering the cool 72-degree comfort of an air-conditioned Chrysler four-door sedan located in the center of the room.

Cool, fresh air flows from an outlet in the deck behind the rear seat and is evenly diffused throughout the interior. The flow of air creates a mildly pressurized effect in the car. Cigarette smoke quickly disappears. Operation of the air conditioning system is surprisingly quiet. No added insulation is necessary.

Last summer during exhaustive tests in the hottest, most humid sections of the south and west, the Chrysler Airtemp unit reduced inside car temperatures from 120 to 85 degrees in less than two minutes.

MORE ON THE MEXICAN ROAD RACE — In the recent Mexican road "endurance" race, more than one-half of the entering cars failed to finish, with brake failure the prime reason for dropping out, Packard's Mexico City representative reported to Fred J. Walters, vice president and general sales manager of Packard.

The report pointed out that five of the seven Packards entered in the race finished the grueling trip, and attributed this high percentage to the cars' brake systems.

Although the seven Packards entered in the race were privately sponsored, Walters said, problems encountered by all contestants will be sent to company engineers for study.

With five out of the seven entrants finishing the race, Walters said Packard racked up the highest percentage of finishers in the stock car class.

A NEW FACE — Friends of Howard Massion will be glad to hear that he has joined the sales staff of McClure-Nowlings Plymouth-De Soto dealers at 5105 Atlantic Ave.

State Offers Active Market

California offers the most active real estate market in the nation and is attracting increasing amounts of the investment of substantial eastern and foreign capital, according to the newly-elected president of the California Real Estate Association, Frank MacBride Jr., of Sacramento, who was installed by former Gov. Frank F. Merriam Saturday at a formal luncheon meeting as the 46th president of the state-wide realtors' organization.

"These investors are seeking not only current earnings but the long time security which is afforded by the assurance that this state is at the cross-roads of the Pacific Coast domestic and foreign markets," MacBride told the nearly 600 realtors and state officials present at the inaugural ceremony in the Senator Hotel.

Pointing to the state's dominant position in many industrial and agricultural pursuits, MacBride stated that of the more than 100,000,000 acres in the state 36,000,000 acres are in farms of varying size and 10,000,000 acres presently are devoted to crop production.

"In terms of farm value, California produces more than a third of the commercial fruits of the nation, nearly a fourth of the commercial vegetables, all of the commercial crop of figs, olives, lemons and almonds."

"The value of California's field crops last year was close to $900,000,000," MacBride said, "with cotton ranking first in value. More than 1,000,000 acres in California now are planted to cotton and the state ranks at least third among all the states in its production," he said.

Legislation Panel Set For Realtors

"Reporting on State Legislation Which Will Affect Real Estate" is the title of the panel to be presented at the Board of Realtors Breakfast Forum Tuesday morning at the Wilton Hotel, according to Clive Graham, president.

Forum members consist of the following officers who were installed Saturday in ceremonies in Sacramento:

Graham, regional vice president; Reg. Dupuy, national director; Barbara Moss, executive director; Morris Holmquist, director at large; Steve Spindell, Howard Barkell and Gene Pace, state salesmen directors; Dick Hamilton, George Olson Jones, L. A. Martin, Bill Barbee, Arnold Berg, M. L. Culley, James Odegar, Harold Steele, Ellen Waite, Frank Kendall, Max Livoni and Bea Rusche, state directors.

Les Vaughn, membership chairman for 1953, will initiate the following into the salesmen division of the board:

Johanna K. Hegel, realtor; William W. Carpenter, sustaining membership, and salesmen Clyde Emery Stockdale with Allen Andrews Jr., Mrs. Mildred E. Bond, Beryl L. Linville, Elma E. Myhre with Sterling O'Day; Richard J. Barry with O. L. Michael; Jane Commons with Sherill Muntz; Edna May Nixon with Morris Holmquist; Clement S. O'Kanski and Frank G. Moos with Frank Dextley; Charles B. Flecher with Glenn Gustine, and Gail W. Wise with Ed Richards.

Frank Kendall, president-elect, will preside, and Perry Johnson will handle the program.

Sam Peek Now in Prominent Realty Firm

Sam Peek, announced to his many friends today, his association with Tolbert and Blaylock, realtors and general insurance firm, as sales and promotion manager, located at 522 Locust Ave. of this city.

During World War II, Peek served as a flying officer in the United States Air Force for five years, of which two years service was overseas.

After the war, Peek returned to civilian life as executive vice president of Hollywood Casket Co. and was so engaged until July 1, of last year, when he then returned to Mottell's Mortuary, of this city.

Peek brings to the firm his wide experience and knowledge of promotion and selling as well as his well qualified administrative background. The realty and insurance firm specializes in general insurance of all lines, leasing and selling of commercial and residential income properties as well as single family homes throughout Southern California.

Peek also retains his association with Mottell's Mortuary as vice president of which his father, Lon E. Peek, is president and general manager.

Harold Coon Joining Sail Firm's Staff

From "Sales to Sails" is the way Harold Coon, independent press-telegram ad man, describes his career.

Coon, starting Monday, will devote full time to Bilt-Rite Sailmakers, 1342 W. 11th St., specializing in marine and commercial canvas. He winds up a long newspaper career, having worked as boy and man in circulation and advertising departments in Pasadena and Long Beach for the past 30 years. Coon became one of the original members of the Independent staff in 1939 and later was national advertising manager.

"My first experience in canvas dates back to the early 20s when I built a canoe from bicycle rims, canvas and tar and paddled it through Cerritos Channel from Long Beach to the Catalina Island Terminal in Wilmington," he recalls.

Coon will cover the territory from his new home in La Crescenta to Long Beach Harbor, making contacts for the firm which was established in 1946.

Washington-Bound for Inaugural Whirl

On her way to Washington, D. C., for the lavish celebrations focused on the presidential inauguration is Mrs. George P. Taubman Jr. of 274 Park Ave. She left Saturday by train for the capital where she will be staying at the Shoreham Hotel. Taubman will fly East Jan. 14 to join her for the final week of inaugural festivities.

The Taubmans will be hosts at a cocktail party Jan. 16 for 100 friends from different parts of the country. The fête will be at the Shoreham. Several Washington friends of the couple plan to entertain for them during their stay.

Two definite dates Mrs. Taubman has made are for the luncheon and fashion show the District of Columbia's League of Republican Women will stage Jan. 17 at Hotel Statler and the gathering Mrs. Ivy Priest, new U. S. Treasurer, will host Jan. 21.

Attending Mrs. Priest's party will be Republican women leaders from all over the nation and luncheon in the Presidential Room of the Statler will honor women in the new Congress, those who will serve in the national administration, wives of cabinet members and of the new White House staff.

On the capital's historic day, Jan. 20, the Taubmans will attend the inauguration and the ball following it. Mrs. Taubman's ball gown is of pink Chantilly lace, embroidered with iridescent sequins, aquamarine slippers and her royal pastel mink stole.

The couple will return home by train, arriving Jan. 26.

Eminent Authorities on AAUW Panel Tuesday

University Women's Club will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Charles Evans Hughes junior high school auditorium with Mrs. Frank J. Hardesty presiding. During the business meeting chairmen of the following committees will introduce members of their respective committees: Mmes. Roy S. Huddleston, international relations; Forrest Clark, membership; C. W. Braswell, auditing and Miss Frances Bellman, building.

The program, one of the most outstanding of the year, will consist of panel discussion, "America's Stake in France and Germany," by two eminent authorities, Dr. Rene Belle and Dr. Harold von Hofe.

Dr. Belle, chairman of the department of French at USC, is an authority on France, French politics and culture. He was born in Burgundy and grew up in a scholastic atmosphere, his father serving as president of the renowned French University of Rouen. Dr. Belle received his doctorate in political science from the University of Paris in 1926. Coming to the United States in the same year, he nevertheless has been in intimate touch with France and her grievous problems.

Dr. Harold von Hofe, chairman of the department of German at USC, was educated in Europe and America, receiving his BS degree in business administration from NYU. After six years of business experience in the fields of insurance, management and export-import, he specialized in the study of German history, literature and philosophy, receiving his doctorate from Northwestern University. He studied many years in Germany and has the ability to draw on practical business experiences as well as on the knowledge acquired in intensive and extensive schooling and travel in Europe.

A question period will follow the panel, to be later followed by refreshments and a social hour. Friends and husbands of members are invited.

Party for Beverly Nyman

Among the round of parties preceding the wedding of Beverly Nyman and Kenneth Wing Jr., which will take place Jan. 27 at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, was a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. L. LeRoy Winters of 3757 Carritos Ave.

For decorative arrangements throughout the home, Mrs. Winters chose white chrysanthemums, holly sprigs, silver and white satin ribbon.

On the mantel were evergreen boughs decked with silver cones and ribbon and a single white candle. A miniature bridal bouquet was given to the bride-elect. Little notes, attached to streamers of the bouquet, told her where her gifts were hidden.

Bidden were relatives and a few close friends of the bridal couple, including Mrs. Archie Nyman and Mrs. Kenneth Wing, mothers, respectively, of the bride and bridegroom; Miss Carol Nyman, the bride's sister; Mmes. M. B. Harple, G. L. Winters, F. H. Beard, Clark H. Wing, R. J. Berryman, Ned Gardner, D. K. Winters, R. L. Winters, Lillian Faenagh and Miss Janet Thompson.

Edna Stearns to Entertain

"Books in the News" will be the topic for the review by Edna Stearns Dayton when she is presented by Mrs. Vincent Karmelich, program chairman for the San Pedro Woman's Club, on Tuesday.

A short business session will precede the luncheon meeting, conducted by Mrs. Leslie Smith, president.

Mrs. Dayton was educated at Stanford University, from which she holds advanced degrees in history and political science. After an intensive study in drama and speech she gave courses in these subjects at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco and at Pasadena Junior College.

Surprise Nuptial News Revealed at Bridal Fete

Surprise announcement of the marriage of the former Miss Joanne Engel to John Donald Mincey, both of Long Beach, was made at a miscellaneous bridal shower given for the bride by Miss Ramona Kirkpatrick of 281 St. Joseph Ave. The Minceys were wed last March 29 in Chicago, Ill.

The news was revealed by the names of the couple printed in dark green letters on a silver card that was placed in the tea table centerpiece of white chrysanthemums and miniature bride and bridegroom figurines.

Other decor in the candlelight dining room was carried out in silver, white and green and by white wedding bells suspended under a decorated wedding cake.

Mrs. Mincey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Engel of 44 La Verne Ave., and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mincey of 4111 E. Fifth St. Both are graduates of Wilson High. The bride attended Scripps College and now is finishing her junior year at the University of Wisconsin where she has been affiliated with Chi Omega. The bridegroom is attending architectural school at Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo where the couple will reside after Feb. 1.

Gay Morning Party at VCC

Talking over all the excitement of holiday parties and presents was the incentive for Mrs. Glen Gill's breakfast Friday at Virginia Country Club.

Centerpiece for the table was composed of yellow chrysanthemums, and place favors were nosegays of violets.

LONG BEACH 12, CALIF., SUNDAY, JANUARY 4, 1953

Glancing Backward to Highlights of 1952

BY BETTY CAREY
Independent Women's Editor

When we were one year younger than we are this morning we were contemplating the bright new year ahead, 1952. It was mysterious in all the secrets it held, but full of promise of wonderful and exciting things. Part of the year followed its usual prescribed path, but other things happened that we couldn't possibly have prophesied, unexpected and extraordinary.

Therefore, if you have a few moments let's take a backward look and begin with January, 1952. Even then we were hearing first plans for the Miss Universe contest, but current news included the arrival of a baby boy for Virginia and Frank Waters, Edna Kelly hid off for Tahiti and Mary (Clarke) Green and chicks left for Germany to join Bill. Marne de Silva had a coffee hour for 60 in Palos Verdes and out at the Virginia Country Club they had a giddy "Night In Paris" frolic.

February opened with the Beaux Arts Ball and the big annual Have A Heart Carnival with half the clubs in town contributing their efforts. The Junior League had an elegant formal Valentine ball and the University Club gave a formal shindig with a "famous lovers" theme. Jean Hunter was named president of the Dames Club. Mrs. Fleming Houchins entertained at two big luncheon parties, and peripatetic Betsy Taubman left for a U. N. confab in New York. Suzanne Marichal's and Bill Taylor's big wedding took place in All Saints.

Then in March with its ides and hint of spring a whirl of parties took place for the Lester Lawsons, Earl Burns Miller and Glenn Thomases as they embarked for European tours. Ed Simonis was named commodore of the Long Beach Yacht Club, Avis Roemer was elected Junior League proxy and Dixie Miller took the Rick Racker helm. Joine Alderman's celebrity salons began, and Mary Ward returned from six months abroad. Dorothy Jergins and Diane left for Spain and Paris.

April arrived and so did guests for four big luncheons hosted by Flo Brooks and Marilyn Graham. Mary Louise Hadley and Ross Hodgkinson Jr.'s wedding had a lovely pink theme. Marilyn Melton and Edward Eveland were wed as were Judy Balser and Kenneth Johnson. The Children's Theater put on the "Steadfast Tin Soldier" and Thurlayne Waite was named president of the local Los Angeles Philharmonic group. Lt. Jim Cubbison married pretty Texan, Sarah Cain, and Audrey Cereghino and Bob Cooney, UCLANS, were engaged. Perle Harrison whipped off to London to stay with Helen and George Higgins and Kitty Carroll left for same destination. Beverly Thomas and Dick Curtis were betrothed.

In May our favorite society editor, Bess Settle, left the Independent and a new name was nailed to the society masthead. This we sat around and admired a great deal, but finally got down to work. We found the Edson Davises home from a four-month cruise on the Coronaria, and Cecile and Marshall Stone and the Kenneth Wings back from a Mediterranean journey. Connie Hines and Donald Scott of San Gabriel were engaged. Lots of new hands rapped president's gavels. Mrs. Elmer Clark as state president of the Osteopathic Auxiliary; Mrs. Frank Rogers, Lawyers' Wives; Mrs. A. C. Malone, Assistance League; Mrs. Hugh McDuffee, Symphony Juniors; Mrs. James V. Keipp, Medical Auxiliary, and Mrs. Wilbur Lee Candy, Ebells.

Following the Memorial Day regatta for the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club gang, June and her radiant brides were upon us.

Hosts at Tea

A convivial get-together of friends was one of the highlights of the holiday season, when Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Stager and Janet were hosts at a tea last Sunday in their home, 2415 Roycroft Ave. An artistically decorated table featured a gumdrop tree, punch bowl and silver coffee service. Assisting the hosts between the hours of four and eight o'clock were Mrs. Carolyn Slocum, sister of the hostess, Mrs. Shirley Thompson and Miss Regina Myers. The soft glow of candles added to the holiday decor.

Celebration Friday Marks Eight Years

Friday afternoon Ebells Juniors commemorated eight years of wonderful friendships and making their place in the community. Lafayette Hotel Supper Room was the setting for their anniversary luncheon. Speakers table held two glittering silver birthday poppers, fringed with blue and enhanced with yellow tapers.

Centering the other tables were glittering blue poppers, fringed in yellow and wine, surrounded by yellow tapers, yellow, blue and wine streamers extended the tables. Each guest received individual poppers.

Arrangements for the luncheon and decorations were made by the committee of Mrs. George S. Hedley Jr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Hooker Jr.

More than 200 members and guests helped Mrs. Walter Yaisli, president, celebrate another year of social and philanthropic events.

The organization of Junior Ebells started in 1945 with the help of Mrs. Eldon Bassett of Junior Matrons Dept. of the senior club. Mrs. Bassett served as club counselor that year and was succeeded by Mmes. Robert R. Shoemaker, Gail C. Hudson, Wm. C. Snell, D. LeRoy Leatart, Gus Lueking, Lon E. Peek, Ted Perry, and now Mrs. Homer D. Redford.

Ebells Juniors has grown from 38 charter members to a closed membership of 260. This club functions independently under the guidance of the senior club.

Guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Eldon S. Bassett, club mother; Mrs. Wilbur Lee Candy, senior president; Mrs. Homer D. Redford, counselor; Mrs. Robert A. Rothenback, club adviser. Bids also were sent to past presidents Mmes. Bethel Bryant, Kenneth White, Wm. A. Kirk Jr., Harold Larsen and Miss Margaret Wackerle. Past presidents unable to attend were Mrs. Stewart Bachtelle and Mrs. Richard Cundiff.

Mrs. Yaisli introduced charter members Mrs. George Pearson, Mrs. Carl O. Spath and

Reunion of Six Couples

It's always fun when good friends get together. And next Sunday will be no exception when six couples meet with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cheesebrough, 624 Ohio Ave., for a reunion and dinner party.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Mollé of Santa Rosa, formerly of Long Beach, will be special guests. Other couples will be Mr. and Mrs. Alex Robitaille of Riverside, formerly of this city; Messrs. and Mmes. Clarence Gable, Mark Harrington and Jack Callahan.

The Mollés will be in Southern California for a week on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Virginia Brown Plans May Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo A. Brown of Kansas City, Mo., today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Virginia, to David N. Eagleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton A. Eagleson, 224 Covina Ave. A May wedding is planned.

The bride-elect attended University of Kansas City, and is employed by a music concern in Long Beach. Her fiancé, a graduate of USC School of Law, where he was affiliated with Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity, is active in the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Visit Parents

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rodman at their home, 245 Roycroft Ave., the past week have been their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. John Derbyshire and daughter Dicky Lee of Sebastopol. They attended the Tournament of Roses parade Thursday, spent a day with friends in Laguna Beach.

Tired Tinsel Reflects Memories of Happy Holidays

By IOLA MASTERSON

The holidays are over. A few wisps of tinsel here and there, the kids hauling wizened trees to the lots for Twelfth Night, and our glowing memories are all that we have left. But those memories! Wow! New Year's Eve, of course, was a whopper, with friends gathering by the carloads at other friends' homes.

For instance, Helen and Bill Knapp and all their friends said good-bye, not only to 1952, but to Dorothy and Jeff Blackman who will call San Diego home from now on. The party was in honor of the Blackmans as well as the old man with the beard and scythe.

Helen and Bob Wilson said "anytime after 9" and only they would know how many took them up on their warm and friendly invitation to drop by for a cup of cheer and a New Year's Eve visit. . . . The Rolling Hills home of Lois and Harwood Clark rang out with shouts of "Happy New Year." too. . . "Nick" and Ardis Nicolaus served cocktails in their home Wednesday night to members of their dance club who all then went over to Recreation Clubhouse to dance the year away.

Polly and Burton Chace's three open houses of the week, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings, were as smooth as the whip cream in the egg nog bowl and as suave as the sleek silver coffee service that graced the table.

One week ago today Marcella and Russell Best opened the door of their home to friends from 5 to 9 for one of the season's prettiest.

Ernestine Jones should be home soon after colorful holidays spent in Guadalajara, Mexico.

"Some holidays" grunts Phil Clark who spent them all recovering from major surgery undergone on Dec. 12 at St. Mary's Hospital. He returned to work, rather gingerly, last Monday. Phil's wife, Margaret, could say "amen" to Phil's sentiment because while Phil was in St. Mary's her mother, Mrs. Geneva Deeble, was in Seaside and she beat a path between the two islands of mercy.

Getting away from it all this week end are Virginia and Charles Dickie who decided to hook up the family trailer and head for a quiet place.

Three years ago, between Christmas and New Years, Betty and Bob Buffum were married and each year since they've held an anniversary celebration and open house. This year it happened last Sunday from 5 to 8 and fun it was.

Last week Ruby and "Curly" Bemis entertained close friends at dinner. That was Monday if we must be specific.

Pasadena had way more than its usual number of visitors from Long Beach in town last Tuesday. They were there to witness the lovely wedding of Bob Marichal to Neil Stevens.

Dr. Don and Ginny King have a celebration coming up Jan. 10. That's the first month's anniversary of the breaking of ground for their new Garden Grove home.

Not everybody watched the Rose Bowl game. Gladys and Bill Niver and Dr. Bill and Virginia Stanton preferred to watch Cornelia Odis Skinner at the Biltmore. Wonder if Cornelia was thoughtful enough to give them the score about Scene II, Act III.

Anita and Wes Wilson's home, over in the Miraleste district of San Pedro, was the scene of sparkling cocktail and buffet party last Sunday from 4 to 7.

Frances and Niels Nielsen had all four children together over Christmas and the New Year's. The family circle was closed with the arrival of Niels Jr. the day before Christmas but it will be broken again with his departure today.

It was all right for the rest of you to celebrate Christmas and the New Year during the appointed time but as far as Julius Linde is concerned he's saving himself for his biggest celebration when they remove the cast from his broken left leg. About six weeks from now. Well, happy sometime in February to you, Julius!

Monte Carlo Night Planned

Evening group of Hadassah, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Vincent Tabor, met a few days ago to plan its Monte Carlo Night, slated Feb. 7 at Temple Sinai.

The event will feature various games of chance played with stage money. Awards will be presented at the end of the evening to the winners of the most "money."

Mrs. Harold Freidland, chairman of the fete, has named as her committee members Mrs. Martin Wolfson, publicity; Mrs. Stanley Greer, tickets; Mrs. Shim Tesser, decorations; and Mrs. E. Rosenblatt, refreshments.

Tickets can be obtained from any Evening Group member or purchased at the door.

DBE Tea Tuesday

Daughters of British Empire will meet at 1 p. m. Tuesday for tea and a program in St. Luke's Guild Room. All friends of British origin are invited.

Folk Dance Class Begins on Monday

A new series of folk and square dance classes is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. Monday at Silverado Park Clubhouse, 31st St. and Santa Fe Ave. The classes will be open to any and all couples interested in learning folk and square dancing.

The course will consist of 12 two-hour classes and four "party nights." Class lessons will be held the first three Mondays in January, February, March and April. On the fourth week of each of these months, the class is invited to the regular Tuesday party night of the Silverado Folkdancers.

The course will include fundamental steps and basic techniques of both folk and square dancing, as well as a number of the most popular dances among the folk dance clubs of Southern and Northern California.

Betty Hicks is planning the material for the new course. She will be assisted by Harvard Hicks who will handle the fundamentals of square dancing and Petra Wright, folk dancing. The dances will be selected from the new book, "Beginning Folk Dances" compiled by the research committee of the California Folk Federation. These books will be available so that those interested may have a written description of all the fundamental steps and dance descriptions.

Ruth and Martin Graeber are taking reservations for enrolling in the class.

Poetry Club

LuValle Poetry Club will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Municipal Art Center. A poetry workshop session, book review and the reading and analysis of poems of members and guests will be featured. The meeting will be open to the public.

Miss Robinson Is Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Robinson of 247 Covina Ave. are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Beverly June, to Ronald C. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Powell, 5901 E. Ocean Blvd.

Miss Robinson, a graduate of Wilson High School, is now a student at LBCC, where she is affiliated with Mahabharata.

The bridegroom-elect also was graduated from Wilson High School and attended LBCC, where he was a member of Supporters Club.

June has been selected as the wedding month, but no definite date has been set as yet.

Trying to Teach Some Pupils Is Waste of Time

By ANGELO PATRI

To protect our children from exploitation in the labor market we have forced boys and girls to go to school when they can no longer benefit from the kind of teaching we offer them, and now we are having trouble in the high schools, which is not surprising.

It is right that every young person in the land should have full opportunity to get all the education and training possible to help him find his place in our scheme of life. However, it is neither right nor good to force any young person to attend a school that can offer nothing helpful to him, and we have done that in many instances to our sorrow and to the grief of the young person involved.

Equal opportunity for all is our national watchword, and a fine one it is. But, and this is of the essence, what is opportunity for one can be bondage for another. I have in mind a boy of 15. He is as big as he ever will be, a man physically. No seat in the classroom fits his bulk. His hands and feet are enormous, compared with those of his classmates.

This lad learned to read only under great pressure. His reading is nothing more than word calling, for he does not interpret the words and get at their meaning. His one desire is to drive a sand truck which his father owns, something he has done since he could reach the wheel and the brake. The law says he must attend school, so there he sits, where the attendance officer can see him, to the distress of the teacher and the annoyance of the other boys and girls; for he realizes that the more trouble he causes the less desire there will be on anyone's part to keep him in durance.

From what I hear, this lad's situation can be duplicated in many high schools. We force boys and girls into schools that do not provide for their stage of growth, for their mental capacities, for their abilities. We talk a great deal about educating the individual but we stop for the most part, at the end of the sentence. The academic course of study is offered to all corners, even though many of them cannot make any use of it. Time and money are wasted in a vain effort to give all boys and girls the same education and training. They don't want it; these motor-minded boys and girls can't benefit by it. Why can't we give them the training they can use? Why take up the teachers' time, the time of good students, with futile efforts?

The labor leaders and the educational authorities should take up the problem to spare young people needless suffering and keep teachers from resigning from high schools to find work elsewhere.

Dinner Party

Hosts Saturday evening for dinner at the Coconut Grove in Los Angeles were the Roy P. Dolleys of Toluca Lake, formerly of this city. Their guests, all of Long Beach, were Messrs. and Mmes. Lester Callahan, Milton Roberts and Douglas H. Graham.

Family Night

Annual Family Night of Woman's City Club will be Tuesday at Town Hall at 7:30 p. m. The show is written and directed by Virginia Dugan. Master of ceremonies will be Jimmie Dugan. Appearing on the program will be television artists Bobby Burgess, Rogers and Meadows, Donna McSwain and Shari Stennette, Veronica Kraneus and Donna Luke and Johnny Dugan.

Karen Uker, gold medal winner of Southern California baton drilling, will appear on the show. A barbershop quartet composed of four doctors also will be featured.

Refreshments will be served. All members and their families are invited.

Mary Jacobus Lovely in Chantilly Bridal Gown

A double ring service, read by candlelight in Booth Chapel of First Congregational Church, united in marriage the former Miss Mary Jern Jacobus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Jacobus, 3749 Lorne Ave., and John Robert Flandrick, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Flandrick of Los Angeles. Rev. Emerson G. Hansen officiated.

As Miss Jacobus approached the flower banked altar, escorted by her father, she was wearing an exquisite gown of imported Chantilly lace over white nylon net. In her hands was a prayer book on which rested a white orchid. Her bridal gown was designed with a fitted bodice, Elizabethan collar and yoke of pleated nylon tulle. The ballerina-length skirt was of cutaway lace over bouffant pleated nylon net which fell over crinoline and hoops. Completing her attire was a matching lace cap encrusted with seed pearls from which fell her illusion veil.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister Miss Betty Jacobus dressed in an American Beauty colored gown styled with pleated nylon net skirt. James S. Lee, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The Jacobus home was the setting for a reception immediately following the vow exchange.

The bride, a teacher in the Long Beach schools, holds a degree from USC and is a member of Pi Beta Phi. Her husband, a graduate of USC, is continuing his studies in the USC Law School. As an undergraduate, he was president of Theta Xi. During World War II he served in the Army Air Corps.

After an undisclosed honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Flandrick will reside at 846 E. Carson Ave.

Marion Alford and Dick Hall, Marjorie Holmquist and Dick Cooling of Newport, Elizabeth Spicer and Gordon Hedrick, Willa Noble and Bill Herzog were just a few of the happy pairs. The Long Beach dog show and the Miss Universe excitement vied for attention and plans were made for departures to the Republican national convention. Gladys Niver became proxy of the Children's Theater group and Sally Phelan of Soroptimists. Don and Marian Locke were feted at a dinner at the PCC as Don became the new Rotary proxy.

Nancy Ridgeway's engagement to Wayne Wiggins was news in July. Pat Ryan and John Curtis were married in the charming Verdes Wayfarer's Chapel in Palos Verdes and Beverly McCook and Stan Currier were married. THE CONVENTIONS! Travelers going abroad were Florence and Jim Bickel, Pat and Dr. Walter Gilkey and Ann and Dr. Julius Molina. Nancy Lower and Bob Lobdell said their "I do's." The Rick Rackers had a swimming party at the Art Hall home and Marje and Roy McCullough had two big cocktail affairs. Hattie and Maj. Dick Pullen, here from Ft. Sill, and Billie and Comdr. Clinton Newby from Washington, D. C. Parties were being given to welcome Samuel and Helen Heavenrich, and the Art Center was getting real impetus.

Big foundation-shaking news in August for the Fourth Estate (that's us) was the merger of the Independent and Press-Telegram. Winifred and Stowe Carney and Verna and Lawrence A. Collins co-hosted at a big welcome-to-Long Beach party for Herman Ridder, new owner and publisher, and his mother. Lots of engagement news this month, including those of Jill Henney and Bob Roberts, and Mary Sievers and Bob Lintz. And the weddings! Barbara Hamman and Bob Ivey, Martha Touchstone and Don Tuffin, Marilyn Swope and Jim Shirley, Joan and Bernard Cahier were off to Paris to make their home, and Rosemary Wilson and Billie St. Clair were much-feted visitors. The Little Club had its annual mountain outing.

Frank Weir to Be Speaker

The American Association of University Women of San Pedro will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the YWCA. Special guests will be honor girl graduates of the Harbor area. Frank Weir, vice president and instructor of the Palos Verdes College, will talk on "Understanding Contemporary Art."

Thoburn Davis celebrated their silver wedding at a reception for 250, the Auxiliary to Children's Memorial Hospital and its guilds put on their elegant fashion show and dance at the Balboa Bay Club, USC students Beverly Nyman and Kenneth Wing Jr. announced their engagement as did Theta Neil Stevens and Sigma Chi Bob Marichal. Helen Fielding, campaign general for the Community Chest drive, was busy organizing, and Cheril Pospesil was installed as president of the Bachelorettes. Junior Leaguers had their "end of summer" dance at the Balboa Bay Club.

Things swung into action in October with travelers returning from far and wide—Ann and Julius Molina back from Europe, as well as Dr. and Mrs. Fred Clarke, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Swinney from South America. Jane Hosmer was hosting at a series of luncheons, and Margaret Craig and Grace Cassidy were tea hostesses. Dr. and Mrs. Burns Chaffee had as their guests Dr. Paul Banzet, distinguished surgeon, and Mrs. Banzet, from Paris. Helen Zierott and Charles Morris of Brentwood plighted their troth at the First Congregational Church. One of the other beautiful weddings was that of Barbara Martin and Volney McCutchan Jr. in the Standlee Martin home.

November and election time at last! Having affected the big change, we remark on the weddings of Ann Havelkors and Charles Copeland, Dorothy Grant and Ralph Anderson. Mayor Burton and Polly Chace flew to Honolulu to celebrate

New Soap for White Gloves

If you've ever hesitated to buy an exquisite pair of white leather gloves on the ground that you haven't got the knack for washing them, you can go right out and satisfy your desire for those gloves right now. A noted French designer and manufacturer of gloves has created a special soap that makes it easy for anyone to do a good job on washable leather or fabric gloves.

To use this soap, you simply put on the gloves and "wash your hands" with the soap and lukewarm water. Rinse thoroughly in several tepid waters. Don't wring or twist gloves, but press out excess water between layers of Turkish toweling. Lay them on towel to dry.

Now, with this glove soap obtainable, where gloves are bought, why not indulge in your "great lady" taste and go in for white gloves passionately?

Ridder-Pearson Are Linked in Betrothal

Mrs. Florence Murphy Pearson

Of interest to their many friends throughout the country is the announcement today by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Duncan Murphy of Montclair, N. J., and Little Boars' Head, N. H., of the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Florence Murphy Pearson, to Herman Henry Ridder of Long Beach. The father of the bride-to-be is president of Art Gravure Corporation, New York.

Mrs. Pearson attended Kimberly School, National Park Seminary and Miss Beard's School.

Mr. Ridder attended All Hallows' Institute and Columbia University. He is a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve, publisher of The Independent-Press-Telegram of Long Beach, and president of Ridder Publications, Inc.

The wedding will take place April 18th at Montclair, N. J., and residence will be in Long Beach.

John Morley Ebell Speaker

An old favorite of Ebell Club members is returning Monday to lecture at the afternoon meeting following the noon luncheon to be served by Group L in the dining room. It is John Morley, dynamic and distinguished foreign correspondent, who will address the group on "I Cracked the Iron Curtain." This is Morley's second appearance during this club year. Mrs. Wilbur Lee Candy will preside.

Morley has, during the past two years, completed two separate press assignments to all critical zones around the world from Finland to Manchuria. He is the most recent U. S. correspondent to secretly enter Russia, Red China, Russian - Finland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Hungary, Poland, Red-Austria, and come out alive with the shocking story of the great conspiracy against America and free men.

Gay Round of Parties in Lynwood Marked Close of Year

By NORTH STAR TREADWAY

With a crescendoing tempo, the gay round of holiday parties in Lynwood were climaxed at numerous wassail fetes and open house invitations welcoming in the New Year.

Chief among the latter, was the traditional gathering of old friends and fellow neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Gordon, 3845 Agnes St. Among those blending their voices in "Auld Lang Syne," were the Charles Stones and the Paul Nagleys.

Another convivial gathering of friends from Lynwood and Compton accepted the Watch Night invitations issued by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brockman, 600 E. Myrrh Ave., among them the H. H. Towery's, William Sprague's, Leonard Erickson's and the Morris McCall's.

The occasion also marked the return home from Chicago, of Gene Brockman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Brockman.

At home to their many friends at 3580 Beechwood Ave., following their recent marriage at South Gate Methodist Church, are newlywedded Mr. and Mrs. Albert Martin Boss Jr. The bride is the former Miss Donna Dee Bledsoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bledsoe, 2723 Fernwood Ave., and her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boss Sr., 3130 Euclid Ave.

Attired in a lovely Chantilly lace and white satin wedding gown, the bride chose a head-dress of pearls to hold her veil of illusion edged with lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations, centered with two white orchids. Mrs. June Gerten was matron of honor and attendants were Miss Shirley May Lamar, Miss Patti Baier and Miss Carolyn F. Ibert. Tiny Becky Reber served as flower girl and Tommy Meredith, ring bearer. Ned Erwin Boss attended his brother as best man and John Ritchard and Jack Cogswell, ushers.

Welcome news for the holidays was received by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Durnick of 4250 Walnut St., from their son, Sgt. Leroy B. Durnick, now stationed with the first Cavalry Division in Japan. Sgt. Durnick was transferred for overseas duty from Camp Cook.

Entering the Army in May of 1950, he has been awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge, Korean Service ribbon, U. N. service ribbon and the Distinguished Unit emblem.

Yuletide greetings from Pir-masens, Germany, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Griffin Sr., 10922 Elm St., from their son, Supply Clerk Edward J. Griffin Jr. Stationed with the 32nd Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, young Griffin has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

Home for the holidays following a rigid 16 week course of preliminary training at the Glendale Seventh Day Adventist School of Nursing, is Miss Marlene Ruth Thommen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thommen, 3938 Lugo Ave. Receiving her cap, Miss Thommen was inducted into the freshman class and awarded the nurses' insignia. She will be graduated with the class of 1953. A graduate of Lynwood Academy, Flete Nurse Thommen completed the pre-nursing course at Pacific Union College prior to enrolling at Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Women of the Moose of Chapter 882, have announced a dark session during January for executive officers and committee members. In lieu of the customary business meetings, a dinner will be held Jan. 9 at the Club Seville.

Four new members were recently initiated into the chapter sponsored by Jean Eichs-dett, Clara Bennett, Lou Arand and Mary Bachorio. Accepting their obligations were Lillian Pierce, Mary Barker, Patricia Libby and Mahala Ashley.

The school holiday recess served as an incentive for entertaining among school administrators. Dr. and Mrs. Jack Montgomery of Los Altos had as their dinner guests, Paramount administrative assistant Charles Stone and Mrs. Stone and children, Margie and Tad. The Stone's reside at 3845 Agnes Ave.

Dr. Montgomery is director of Health and Physical Education at Long Beach State College.

Their very first Christmas tree was decorated by newly wedded Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Van Dick upon their return from a honeymoon trip to a lovely new home in Artesia.

Exchanging marriage vows at the South Gate Church of the Nazarene, the former Miss Pansy Maxine Hatcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Auburn P. Hatcher, South Gate, became the bride of Robert C. Van Dick, a son of Mrs. Grace Van Dick of 2914 Oakwood Ave., Lynwood.

White bridal satin was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown entrain and a fingertip length veil was held at the crown by a coronet of seed pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet formed of white camellias, her favorite flower. Honor attendant was her sister, Miss Betty Louise Hatcher and Miss Pat Nobles and Miss Patricia Ellsberry were bridesmaids.

William Van Dick attended his brother as best man and Merrill Heck, Wesley Koester and Gene Hatcher ushered.

A reception for 250 guests was held immediately following the ceremonies in the church social hall.

The bride is a graduate of South Gate High School and her husband attended Lynwood schools and Compton Junior College.

Neil Stevens Now Mrs. Robert Marichal

One of the most beautiful winter weddings, witnessed by many friends of the popular young pair, and of particular interest in the social set on both coasts, took place Tuesday evening when the former Miss Neil Stevens of Altadena became the bride of Robert Rue Marichal of Long Beach.

The lovely bride, daughter of Mrs. McNeil Stevens of 1553 Brae Burn Rd., Altadena, was gowned in Chantilly lace styled with spreading court train. Her crown, etched with pearls and satin, held her veil and she carried a crest of orchids and stephanotis.

Vows were repeated in the candlelight ceremony before an all-white altar in Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, San Gabriel, with Rev. David Scovill officiating. Red poinsettias, and white spider mums tied with white ribbons on the aisles, graced the church.

Immediately following the service, a reception was given in the Stevens home where appointments were again in red and white.

In the bridal entourage were Mrs. Raymond N. DuShane, matron of honor; D. D. McCoy, best man; Eugene Kirkpatrick and James Hoagland, ushers.

Mrs. Stevens received guests in an aqua French lace and chiffon gown with velvet headpiece and a corsage of small red roses. Mrs. V. Rue Marichal, mother of the bridegroom, was becomingly gowned in mauve Chantilly lace and crepe with an American Beauty colored hat which matched her corsage.

After a honeymoon at the Biltmore in Palm Springs the couple will return to 1531 Brae Burn Rd. to reside in their newly completed home.

The new Mrs. Marichal is a graduate of UCLA where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Rue Marichal of Long Beach, is a graduate of Wilson High School, University of Wisconsin and took graduate work at Stanford University where he was affiliated with Tau Beta Pi. He is a mechanical engineer with an oil company.

Parties, Trips, Nostalgic Gleanings in Norwalk Notes

By ELEANOR ZIMMERMAN

The friendly John Fitzpatrick family opened their home for a holiday party when their daughter Mary Grace entertained. Enjoying the evening festivities were Miss Geraldine Walsh, Loren Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frazer Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ronk, Mr. and Mrs. John Helms and Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, all of Norwalk. Also Miss Kay Geiser and Pete Geiser of Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Fitzpatrick of Lakewood, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brown of Sunshine Acres, and Warren Martin of Puente.

The Paul Laubys were back in town greeting their many friends at the Henry McDowell's open house this week. They will live in Garden Grove until June when they sail for the Philippine Islands and Paul's new job at Silliman University.

Speaking of those who have moved from Norwalk brings to mind some of the year-end greetings we received from couples who contributed so much to Norwalk's civic and church life until their recent moves: Mr. and Mrs. Ron Dixon enjoying the snow in Merriam, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. John Gable at Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. George Joyner at La Canada; the Kenneth Pritchetts at Lakeside, Ore.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Wells with a new Pomona address, the Ralph Burdickes who moved this year to Whittier, the Roy Walker family now in Santa Clara, and Rev. and Mrs. Henry Stockton at the San Dimas Methodist Church.

And Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moore who moved just last month to Fullerton and sent news of the birth of their second daughter, Yvonne Dell, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Blue on Sycamore St. are the young grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Finley, 12168 Firestone Blvd., entertained at a family dinner party recently. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Padelford (Betty Lou Finley) and son Douglas, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Finley and son Gregory.

Lakewood Chapel was the setting for the morning wedding ceremony uniting Miss Aletta Vanderham of Norwalk and George Kuiphof of Paramount. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Vanderham of 13125 E. Rosecrans, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Kuiphof, 15365 Garfield Ave., Paramount.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant satin gown with a lacy ruffled bodice and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of carnations centered with orchids.

Miss Charlotte Tiemstra served as maid of honor, and Joe Tiemstra was best man. Bridesmaids were the Misses Nellie, Wilma and Marion Vanderham; ushers, Jim Kuiphof, Pete and Corrie Vanderham; petite Jeanne Oosten, flower girl, and Nelson Vanderham, ring bearer.

A reception for 250 guests followed at Town Hall in Long Beach and the newlyweds left for a Lake Arrowhead honeymoon. They are now residing at 13044 E. Rosecrans.

Mrs. George Landgren, 11937 E. Orange St., was hostess Monday to a group of son Doug's friends on his sixth birthday. Games were enjoyed, and refreshments served at small tables decorated in pink and white with balloon favors.

Young guests present were Marilyn and Dickie Franks, Donnie Stalcup, Susan, Terry and Peter Holdiman, Janette, Donald and Glenn Phillips, Gary Zimmerman and Keith Landgren. Also Mmes. Lovell Stalcup, John Holdiman and Glenn Phillips.

Annual Brunch at Virginia

Virginia Country Club was the scene of the annual mother and daughter brunch of the Long Beach Chapter of Delta Gamma Alumnae Tuesday. The table was decorated with miniature trees trimmed with snow balls and crystal icicles. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. Richard B. Hutzenga, Halvor G. Melon and Norman Savidge.

Delta Gamma mothers and daughters attending were Mrs. Don P. Davis and Donna; Mrs. Robert T. Marcus and Goldie; Mrs. Clyde Herreid and Andrea and Karen; Mrs. Maurice H. Hubbell and Sandy; Mrs. John K. Hunter and Joan; Mrs. Merle Iversen and Sue.

Also attending were Misses Diane Swanson and Helen Tripeny. Delta Gamma pledges from UCLA, and the following Delta Gamma alumnae: Mmes. V. M. Fay, William N. Deatherage, Donald Berger, Walter P. Havekors, Gerald Secord, Frank M. Steele, Harold Layton, James R. Kelso, Harold Reed, Everett Miller Jr., Ralph Hunter, Philip Voigt and D. Barry Morgan.

Bakersfield will be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jaye Kennedy, who are honeymooning at Yosemite. They were married in an afternoon ceremony at Garden Wedding Chapel, with Rev. Reuben L. Anderson officiating.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph A. Holmes of Garden Grove, the former Miss Doris Joanne Holmes, was attired in Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin. For a headress she wore a Dutch cap of lace and seed pearls. Her flowers were white and pink rosebuds.

In the entourage were Miss Diane Lorraine Holmes, who was her sister's maid of honor; LeRoy H. Kennedy, brother of the bridegroom, best man; Sandra Kay Brooks, flower girl; Dale W. Holmes, candlelighter; Harry Williamson and Charlie Russell, ushers.

The bridal reception was at the bride's home.

The bride is a graduate of Huntington Beach High and Orange Coast College. Her husband, son of Mrs. Ollie Kennedy of Turlock, attended Turlock High School.

Delphian Society

Beta Phi Chapter of Delphian Society will meet at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center. Mrs. Earl F. Gates will be seminar leader on the subject, "Latin America: Mexico." Panel speakers will be Mmes. Eugene Conklin, J. S. Jacobs, M. R. Gaspar and F. Lowell Bowton.

First Union Program

First Union of Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet Tuesday at 1:15 p. m. in First Methodist Church to view a show of drama and pageantry by Mrs. Mae Askins, state director. Mrs. Alice Recknagel, federated treasurer, will talk on "Health and Medical Temperance Through Total Abstinence."

Festive Occasions Ring Out Old Year for Many Downey Residents

By DONNA RAY HALE

Downeyites brought the holiday season to a close with a variety of social events including parties and dances.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Codling are entertaining Mrs. Codling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Newberry of Hood River, Ore., through the holidays. They held open house New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Hyde and daughters, Jlene and Louise of Grand Junction, Colo. Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Codling are sisters.

Journeying north to Sacramento on New Year's Day were Mr. and Mrs. Giles Hollis Sr., who are attending the State Realty Board's installation of officers where Mrs. Hollis will be seated as a director. They are staying at the Senator Hotel, where the ceremonies are being held.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel J. Des Latte entertained at a pre-New Year dinner party at their home. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Painter and Mrs. Charles Mendelson of Downey and Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy of North Long Beach, former Downey residents.

A holiday open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Crump in Westchester was attended by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nordbak of Downey.

Twenty-two local couples gathered at American Legion hall for the New Year's Eve formal dance of the Beaux-Belles Dance Club. Dinner at 9 p. m. was followed by dancing to the music of an orchestra until 3 a. m. followed by breakfast. Co-hostesses were Mmes. Kip Anderson and Bud Coffin. This group, which draws membership entirely from the Downey area, was organized last February.

Among those from Downey attending the dinner-dance installation rites of the Southeast Realty Board at the Clock Country Club were Messrs. and Mmes. Howard Skinner, Giles

Hollis Sr., Everett Mason, John Frederickson, Hal Workman, Harry Beddoe, C. Larry Hogue, Chris Parr, Giles Hollis Jr., Donald Haines, Mrs. Jerry Bair, and Miss Elsa Chaney.

A combination New Year's Eve and birthday party took place at the Elaine Hutchison home in honor of his birthday. The Hutchisons greeted more than a score of guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Spohn and family greeted the New Year in San Diego where they traveled to attend the New Year's Eve party of friends.

Holiday dance of the Junior Woman's Club attracted some 140 persons, who danced to the music of Walter Weing's 5-piece orchestra at the Woman's Clubhouse. A combination of Christmas and New Year's theme was carried out in decorations with serpentine and balloons predominating. A baby New Year figure centered the refreshment table. Assisting

Pair Wed in Chapel

Garden Wedding Chapel was the scene of a mid-afternoon ceremony at which William Donald Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Curtis, of Weatherford, Tex., claimed as his bride, Miss MariAnn Pulliam, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Pulliam, of Kingsford Heights, Ind.

To the strains of Lohengrin the blond bride approached the altar with her cousin, James H. Stokes, who gave her in marriage. Her gown, ballerina-length, was of champagne taffeta with an overskirt of nylon net. On her head was a small matching satin halo cap outlined with seed pearls. She carried a white prayerbook on which was a white orchid.

Serving as bridesmaid was Miss Betty Norem, and Lt. Walter Morrison was best man. Rev. Lauren Hancock officiated.

First of Year Events Scheduled for Service Folk

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

Nautical Club will have the first of the year luncheon party Thursday at Officers Club Allen Center to which all members are asked to attend as business for the coming year will be discussed.

Wives of warrant or commissioned officers are cordially invited. Those interested may contact the president, Mrs. C. A. Murray, for further information.

Members of Officers' Wives Club of Long Beach are reminded that there will be a meeting Jan. 6 at the Officers Club, Allen Center, at 12:30 p. m. and following the luncheon the afternoon will be spent playing various card games. Mrs. George W. Davis should be contacted by Monday at 3 o'clock for reservations.

The second Thursday in the month will be the date for the Officers' Wives' Club of N.A.S. Los Alamitos, to meet aboard the station for their luncheon event.

Capt. and Mrs. John R. McKinney were the holiday guests of Gen. and Mrs. W. J. Scheyer of Camp Pendleton. Since arriving home, the McKinneys have had as their houseguest from San Francisco the captain's sister, Lettie Walker McKinney.

Lieut. and Mrs. William Paulick entertained during the holiday season at the Officers Club, Allen Center, honoring Mr. and Mrs. William Cornelius of Toronto, Canada. Also, Mrs. Paulick entertained a group of friends at a holiday luncheon at the club honoring Mrs. S.

Mondeau and Mrs. Edith Francis.

Hear that those nice folks, Capt. and Mrs. M. C. Heine have returned from San Francisco where they enjoyed a holiday vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nash, and 14-month-old Mike Nash, their lively little grandson.

Capt. and Mrs. Claude M. Fligg and children were delightful hosts to a group of friends and their children, at a buffet event.

Holiday guest of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Frank Quinn was the naval officer's mother, Mrs. James Quinn from San Diego.

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Robert Simmons Jr., had as their holiday guests Mrs. Corday Davis and Mrs. Berta Pullen of Valdosta, Ga.

Rear Adm. and Mrs. Harry Sanders entertained a group of service friends at their apartment at the Villa Riviera. They spent a few days last week at Las Vegas, as a farewell to the west. Mrs. Sanders left yesterday for their home in Honolulu.

Mrs. John Rustin has had her daughter Arlene E. Rustin home for the holidays from the University of Colorado. Also holiday houseguests at their home have been her mother Mrs. Elizabeth Martineau and brother Peter from Providence, R. I.

Capt. A. B. House Jr. and Mrs. House had as their holiday guests Dr. and Mrs. George B. Hannah.

Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. H. G. Curry entertained at a delightful dinner party for Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Frank Quinn and boys.

Capt. William I. Causey, USN (ret.) and Mrs. Causey were delightful hosts again this year at their annual eggnog party for their many friends in this area.

Many friends gathered at their lovely home at 3101 E. First to wish the Causeys "Happy New Year."

To the delight of their many friends, Rear Adm. Bruce McCandless, USN (ret.) and Mrs. McCandless and their four children have settled here in a lovely home they purchased recently at 355 Claremont Ave. With the McCandlesses for a holiday dinner were Mrs. McCandless's parents, Capt. and Mrs. W. W. Bradley and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Earle and sons John and Bruce.

Effects of Wearing Rubber Girdle Told

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "Will you please tell me what the effects are of wearing a rubber girdle constantly? Will it cause a kidney ailment or be injurious?"

A. If you wear a rubber girdle in hot weather it will cause an unusual amount of perspiration or water loss. It does not reduce fatty deposits. To some skins it might be irritating. So far as I know it has no effect on the kidneys.

Q. "My measurements are: bust, 33½ inches; waist, 24½ inches; hips, 34½ inches. What is wrong with my measurements? Also, I am always afraid that my busts will droop. Therefore, I wear a very tight brassiere. Will this cause my bust to shrink?"

A. Your measurements are perfect. If the brassieres you wear flatten the bust it will make them shapeless and flabby because it will break down the tissues. A bra should support, not flatten.

Q. "The reason I am writing you now is to settle an argument. My husband is following a diet prescribed by his doctor in order to lose weight. This has baked potatoes on it. Once in a while my husband insists on having his potato fried, using the same amount of butter he uses on it when it is baked. I insist that he should eat no fried foods. What do you think?"

A. I think that your husband uses too much butter on his baked potato. Fried foods are fattening because of the fat used to fry them. If you use enough butter to make the potato taste good fried, and it is the same amount he uses on the potato when it is baked, then he uses too much butter. On a reducing diet one uses only a very small amount of butter.

Here I am going to give a little lecture to some of my readers. It is impossible for me to answer all of the questions sent in for question box. There are too many similar ones. Therefore I try to select those which have the most universal appeal or which deal with subjects not recently covered in Why Grow Old? You will find that many of the things you ask about have been recently written about in my column. Keep sending your personal problems to question box. I welcome your letters. My only problem is that I dislike not answering all letters. I can't, when I have just written about the subject in question. I am writing to a lot of people and I do not want to bore any more of them than necessary with too many repeats.

AN OPEN HOUSE feting the former Miss Beverly Joyce Clark and her husband, Dale G. Johnson of Salt Lake City, Utah, took place Friday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Russell B. Clark of Artesia. The couple married in the Mormon Church in Salt Lake City. The bride, a graduate of Wilson High School, is now attending the University of Utah where she is affiliated with Chi Omega sorority. Her husband is a medical student at the university and a member of Sigma Chi and Delta Phi fraternities. Following the open house, the couple returned to Salt Lake City to continue their studies.

Hectic times, this season of the year. Kids home from school and college. Confusion in the air. The mama—after Christmas shopping, wrapping gifts, roasting the turkey, participating in the New Year's Eve frolics—wonders if it wouldn't be a good idea to go into retirement when the revelry starts a year hence. To those who have no household help—and how many do?—it has been a ceaseless round of cooking and dishwashing, not to mention picking up Christmas toys and sweeping up Christmas tree needles that even hide under the rugs.

Today's column might be entitled "Building Up From a Let-down." Considering that the mama is always doing for others, it is high time for her to do something for herself, especially when she feels that she is a grand old ruin and hates to look at herself in the mirror.

How come those shadows under her eyes? Too much work, not enough sleep. Beauty chores have been neglected. What time did she have for them? That won't do. Keeping fit and looking fit is something that must be done. There's no sense in bringing troubles upon oneself.

Take a day off, you hard-working home woman. Your husband has two a week—Saturday and Sunday. Let him tramp the domestic treadmill for a day. He can give the kids cold turkey, milk and the left-overs in the refrigerator. Tell him you are on strike. If he is a nice person, and of course your husband is, he will encourage you to do whatever is necessary to pick yourself up and put yourself together again.

You are in dry-dock, up for repairs. One lazy day will do you a world of good. A whole day in bed would be just too marvelous. It should be planned so that you don't have to hop up and down to answer the telephone or get a book that you are reading. Perhaps your husband will even bring you a bit of luncheon and dinner. Why not? When he goes to bed, just because he has the sniffles, you wait on him, don't you?

Even if you don't feel like sleeping, you can relax from your head to your toes. It is miraculous what a complete rest will do for a jangling nervous system.

Before tucking yourself into bed, smooth a cream over your face and neck. The flesh will lap it up and those shadows under your eyes will disappear. If your eyes are tired, cover them with an ice cold moist compress.

Alumni Dinner Among Events

Alumni of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, of the greater Los Angeles area will have a dinner meeting Friday at 6 p. m. at the YWCA in Long Beach. President John L. Knight, on the west coast, will address the gathering.

Music will be furnished by the alumni, Mrs. Walter Wilkin, contralto, of Pasadena, and Mrs. Don H. Dunbar, violinist, Hollywood. Receiving committee will include Mrs. Joseph R. Drendel, of Covina, and Mrs. Robert Blume of Huntington Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lange of Long Beach, Richard Ellsasser, Los Angeles organist, will be toastmaster. Arranging the affair are Miss Cora Bockstahler of Long Beach, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Becker of Pasadena, Mrs. Albert Riemenschneider of Laguna Beach, Miss Esther Southam of San Pedro is also assisting with the arrangements.

Event Saturday

A potluck dinner will be given Saturday evening by the Aguinaldo Lair 74, Military Order of the Serpent, and Aguinaldo Swamp 1, Order of the Lizards. The event, which begins at 6:30, will be in Veterans Memorial Bldg. After dinner both groups will install new officers, and there will be dancing during the evening.

Mrs. Robert Cardwell

Before an altar banked with white winter flowers and holiday greenery, Miss Kay Gaby and Robert Cardwell recited their marriage vows in Belmont Heights Methodist Church during Christmas week. Dr. Grover C. Bagby officiated.

The bride came down the aisle on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a Cahill gown of white Chantilly lace and slipper satin with sweep train. A satin cap held the full-length illusion veil, and her corsage was a single white orchid tied with white satin and cascade of lilies of the valley on a white heirloom ribbon.

The bride, a fourth generation Californian, wore lace from her great-grandmother's wedding dress when she was married in San Francisco more than 100 years ago. The only attendant, cousin of the bride, Marilyn Cole, was gowned in a Christmas green nylon maline over green taffeta, made bouffant, and she carried a Christmas wreath of holly, white berries and satin ribbon.

Robert Penn served as best man. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gaby, 149 Claremont Ave. She is a graduate of Wilson High School, attended City College, and U of C at Santa Barbara where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cardwell, 6981 Eastonvale Ave. He is a graduate of Jordan High School and City College.

Both newlyweds are now students at Long Beach State College where she is a member of Kappa Phi Gamma, and he of Sigma Epsilon Chi. They expect to complete their degrees next June.

Lorraine Alden Weds Hugh Knox

More than 100 guests witnessed the vow exchange Tuesday afternoon which united in marriage B. Lorraine Alden and Hugh Knox in the Los Angeles home of Belmont J. San Chez, who served the bridegroom as best man.

The bride, formerly of Canada, has lived in Long Beach several years and has been a secretary in the Press-Telegram Publishing Co. Her bridegroom moved to Long Beach several months ago from Los Angeles and is manager of the San Chez automobile agency.

For the double ring service, the bride was becomingly gowned in a ballerina-length white Chantilly lace over ice blue tulle styled with bouffant skirt. A white lace cap trimmed in pearls held her veil and she carried American Beauty roses and gardenias fashioned in a cascade.

Mrs. Barbara Riddle of West Covina, matron of honor, wore an old rose taffeta wit' matching headress and carried pink roses.

Rev. Walter A. Mueller performed the ceremony.

The couple is spending a few days in Palm Springs before motoring along the coast to San Francisco. They will reside in Belmont Shore.

Dashing Dandy Revers Wishy-Washy Housewives Irritate Their Husbands

By RUTH MILLETT

Of all the women who are dull and irritating for a man to live with, the wishy-washy woman is the worst.

Mrs. W. W. never knows exactly what she wants. She can't decide whether the living room walls should be green or blue, or whether they can go another year without being repainted. So she talks and talks about the matter. And the more she talks the less certain she is about what she ought to do.

When evening comes Mrs. W. W.'s husband asks, "How about a movie?"

Mrs. W. W. answers, "Well, maybe the movie at the Paramount is good but I'm not sure. And, of course, there may be a waiting line."

How that husband of hers would enjoy having her say some evening: "There's a wonderful movie on that I'm dying to see. Let's go."

Mrs. W. W. doesn't know what to do about Junior. He has her baffled. And the reason he has the upper hand is that he takes full advantage of her inability to make up her mind on a matter and stick by a decision.

First she tells him he can't do something then gives in and says, "All right if—." So the husband has to cope with the problem of Junior.

Mrs. W. W. shops and shops for everything she buys. But even though she has looked the town over before making a purchase, when she gets it home she isn't quite satisfied that it is just right.

So she frets and flutters or else takes the purchase back, and goes through the whole procedure a second time.

PATTERN M299 by Peg Newton

Dash and drama are the spices Peg Newton adds to this season's newsmaking slender silhouette. With flaring dandy revers and jutting hip interest, she makes the narrow line seem so much narrower—and you so much slimmer and taller. Creating a flattering effect is this designer's forte. She first won acclaim for her tall girl clothes. But her feeling for the exciting and unusual soon found appeal to all smart women. Pattern M299 is the kind of ensemble that's suited to many fabrics, so you must decide what you want. A dramatic theater outfit? Then, make this in slick satin or brocade. A distinctive daytime dress? Have it in sheer wool. If you're going south, make it in linen or polished cotton. With your Prominent Designer Pattern you can copy this fashion line for line, detail for detail, just as Peg Newton made the Original.

Pattern M299 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric.

Send 50 cents (in coins) for Pattern M299 to Independent-Press-Telegram, Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly your name, address with zone, style number and size.

OSWALD JACOBY

How Would You Play It?

The star play in today's hand is so simple that it may escape notice. Nevertheless, most players would miss it in a regular game.

When West opens the jack of clubs, a low club is played from dummy, and South wins with the ace. South now leads a heart and plays the king of hearts from the dummy. "The contract," John Brown remarks in "Winning Defense," an excellent book, "hinges upon whether East wins or not."

In ordinary play, East would probably win with the ace of hearts and return a low diamond. South hops up with the ace of diamonds, leads his remaining heart to dummy's queen, and ruffs a heart with a high trump.

South can now draw three rounds of trumps ending in the dummy and can cash two good hearts. He makes his contract with five spades, three hearts and two aces.

If East refuses to take the first trick, the contract is defeated. This simple hold-up play prevents declarer from establishing and cashing the dummy's heart suit.

After the king of hearts is allowed to win the second trick, what can South do? If he continues the hearts, he can reach the dummy only once more. With this one entry to the dummy he can ruff a heart to set the suit up, but he will never be able to return to dummy to cash the established hearts.

Hence declarer will eventually lose a diamond to West, whereupon a club continuation will give the defenders two tricks in that suit. A heart, a diamond, and two clubs are enough to defeat the contract.

It isn't always safe to hold up an ace when you are a defender, for sometimes you wind up taking that ace to bed with you. But when it seems unlikely that declarer has led a singleton (as in the case of today's hand) the simple hold-up can have a devastating effect.

Formal Rites
Unite Couple

Lovely in a white slipper satin gown styled with cathedral-length train and a Chantilly lace bertha collar with net yoke bodice, was the former Miss Jeanne Louise Breckenridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Breckenridge of 1747 Orange Ave., when she became the bride of Forrest Spencer Keeler, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Keeler of 224 Euclid Ave.

Completing her bridal attire at the holiday wedding in First Foursquare Church, was a crown of white satin with an orange blossom halo which held her veil. She carried an arm bouquet of a white orchid surrounded with white carnations.

In the bridal entourage were Mrs. Eleanor McNeil, matron of honor; Harvey Lyon, best man; Donna McPherson, flower girl; Becky McPherson, Lucille Dunham and Diane Noise, bridesmaids; Robert Kradjian, Harjen Ladd, Richard Henry and Robert Hurley, ushers.

A reception took place in the church after which the couple left on a wedding trip.

Both young persons are graduates of Polytechnic High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of LBCC, attended Pepperdine College and is now stationed at Pensacola, Fla., in NATTU.

NLB Women
Slate Tea

North Long Beach Women's Club will have its first meeting of the new year at a tea Wednesday at noon in Houghton Park Club house. The day will be observed as "Juniorette Day."

After a meeting with Mrs. Pease presiding, the program will be turned over to the junior adviser, Mrs. William T. Lambe, who will introduce the junior president, Mrs. Grover Seguire Jr. Mrs. Eugene Nott, district president of the CFWC juniors will then speak.

Mrs. Donald Sandberg will give a vocal solo, and the Music Maids of the junior club will also sing. Mrs. Russell Davidson Jr. will accompany at the piano.

Mrs. Russell J. Calder will have charge of the tea, and Mrs. Lester Peebles and Mrs. Kenneth McCafferty will arrange special decorations for the tables and stage. Hostesses will be L. M. Hird, chairman, Mmes. J. E. Ogden, Paul Lawrence, L. C. Laurent, Nelson Torpey, Harry O. Sherin, Owen J. McCartney, Myrtle G. Ward, Minnie K. Dow, Tom L. Watson, and Carl R. Doile, all members of Group 4.

Troth Told at Gala Fete

At a holiday open house to which 100 friends and members of the family were invited, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Farrington, 4401 Harvey Way, announced the engagement of their daughter, Colleen Kathryn, to William James Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irl R. Palmer Sr. of Monrovia.

As guests arrived they were presented at the door with miniature silver bells, revealing the names of the betrothed pair.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Polytechnic High School, Long Beach City College, and will receive her degree from Long Beach State College in June, where she is affiliated with Kappa Phi Gamma. Her fiance attended schools in Michigan. Wedding plans are being made for August.

Bicycle Built For Two

Daisy, Daisy. Give me your answer, do;
I'm half crazy, all for the love of you.
It won't be a stylish marriage,
I can't afford a carriage,
But you'll look sweet on the seat
Of a bicycle built for two.

—From "Daisy Bell", by Harry Dacre.

By Bob Hall

BACK WHEN AMERICA was a little bit younger, bicycles built for two flashed in and out of the buggy traffic with gay abandon as "sparking" couples squeezed an extra ounce of zip out of the leisurely life and chaperoned romances of their times.

With a bicycle here and a bicycle there, bicycles everywhere—for fun, for racing, for everyday transportation—the two-wheelers held the popular fancy. Sermons were preached and editorials written, for and against, the giddy—for the times—pace they set. There was a bicycle age—1890 to 1900.

Then gasoline and carburetors came along; horse-scaring monsters began popping along the dusty streets, spewing ill-smelling smoke. A new and more spectacular era in transportation was born. The bicycle slid far down the scale in America's esteem.

But today the picture is changing again. The bicycle built for two is coming back, along with hundreds—nay, thousands of standard single wheels.

The bicycle age is coming back—and it's fun, too.

Estimates are that 19 million bikes were wheeling this year and that ere next summer rolls around, the number will be nearer 30 million.

Long Beach and its neighboring communities are contributing their share to the return of cycling, with Crebs Cycling Club, fostered through the long, lean years by Al (Musty) Krebs, leading the way in this area.

And in the bicycle-built-for-two department, there are Gilbert Mills, 1952 club cycling champion, and Mrs. Mills. They make use of the two-seated two-wheeler—and soon they'll have to have another, or build a four-seater. There are the Mills twins, as cute a pair of babies as a father and mother ever had. Mother's and Dad's arms are their best transportation to date; but there'll come a day when those chubby legs will grow down to pedals.

LOOKING BACK to another decade, it is interesting to note that the so-called "fantastic fad" of the 1868 Michaux bike of French invention; the "Draisine" bike of the early 1900s, and the current model bikes of all makes are basically the same.

First of the tandem bikes was the Michaux of 1869, with the lady in the most precarious position on the rear wheel, protected by a safety belt, but with no safety belt for a flowing skirt.

An improvement on the "bicycle built for two" was the Punnett Companion of 1896, in which the two riders were seated side-by-side, rather than one behind the other. This allowed for greater social freedom, and it's also of note in this bike that provision was made for the gentleman to ride the bicycle alone to the place of appointment by moving the seats to the center of the frame, and using the inside pedals of each sprocket for propulsion.

ENOUGH OF yesterday and back to today when more and more cycle clubs are being formed all over the nation, and small bike racing velodromes are making their appearance. Latest in the west has been the San Jose Velodrome, which enjoyed great racing success last spring as a build-up on the Pacific Coast for the Olympic Games trials.

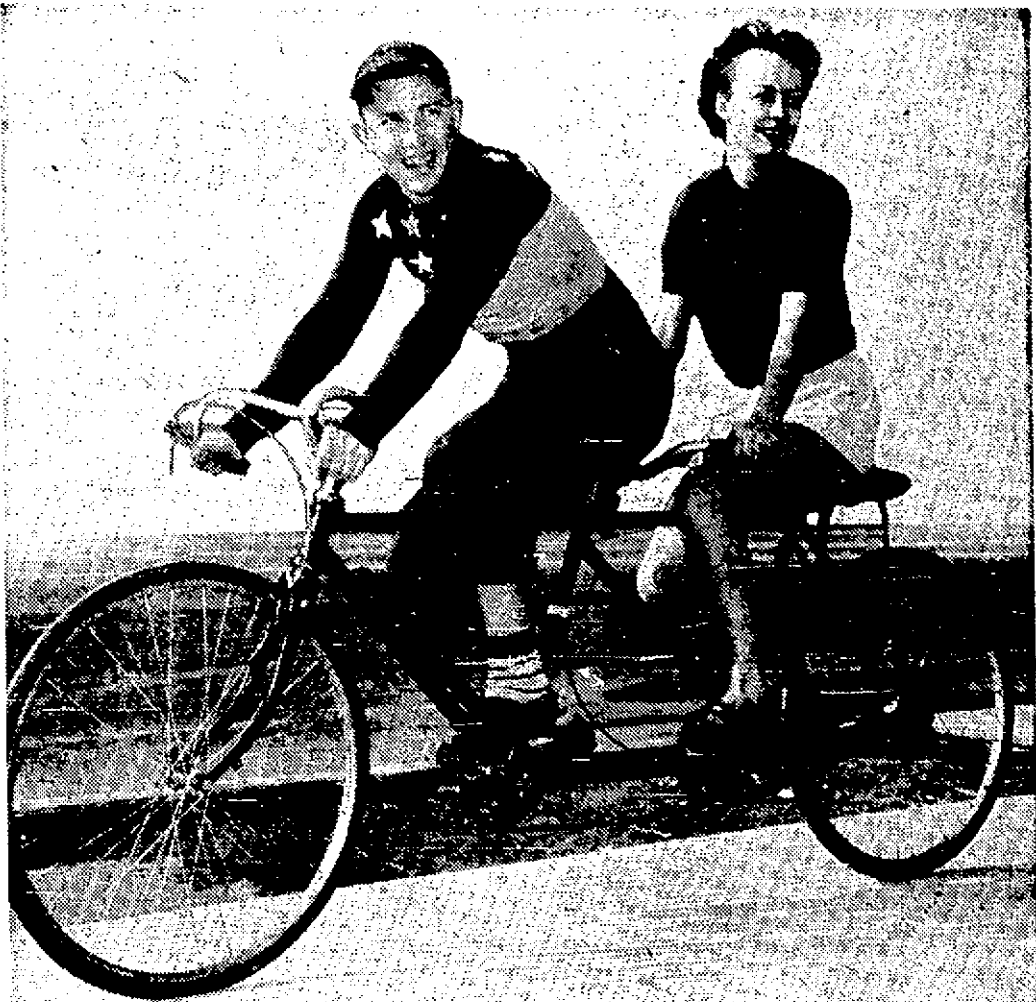

In fact, two Long Beach boys, Dave and Ronnie Rhoads, got the needed experience and conditioning there to finish one-three in the U. S. finals at Newark, N. J., and become the first brother-team in American history in the Olympics at Helsinki last summer.

Major club effort at the moment in Southern California is a group of nearly 100 which meets each week at Wilshire and Western in Los Angeles for one and two-day week-end cycling trips.

Other smaller groups are active, too, since short bike trips to various spots can be interesting and economical.

Crebs Cycle Club of Long Beach was founded in 1922 by Krebs, who has been a bicycle dealer here for more than 30 years. "Musty" was a board track champion in his racing days, and is still holder of the world unpaced speed record of 15 2/5 seconds for one-sixth of a mile which he set at Salt Lake City in 1911.

His club is the oldest active cycle club in Southern California. It is dedicated largely to racing, but is in the process of being expanded to include an auxiliary for week-end trips.

Bicycling for two—in fact, all bicycling—is coming back. Here are Gilbert Mills, a Crebs Cycling Club champion, and Mrs. Mills, both ardent cyclists.

MANY HAVE been the racing champions to develop from the Crebs cycle races here. First was Ralph Buttolph in 1923, then Walt Phipps in 1924, who followed the international six-day tour for many years. Russell Allen, who represented Uncle Sam in the 1932 Olympics, was club champ here in 1928-29-30. Then came Bus Parker, champ in 1931-32, who took to the international six-day pro trail.

Next Olympic Games star was Charles Morton, now a San Pedro contractor, who wore U. S. colors at Berlin in 1936. Don Hester and Tom McFadden won national titles in the late 1930s, and the past few years it has been the Rhoads boys. Dave won the national track crown in 1951; Ronnie in 1952.

"Several things are needed locally," Crebs says. "Most important, perhaps, is the combined efforts of bicycle dealers in the formation of clubs. There's no reason in the world why most dealers' stores can not serve as a sort of travel bureau for places within easy reach of a day's bicycle outing, or perhaps other trips where a hike can be taken along to add pleasure to the trip.

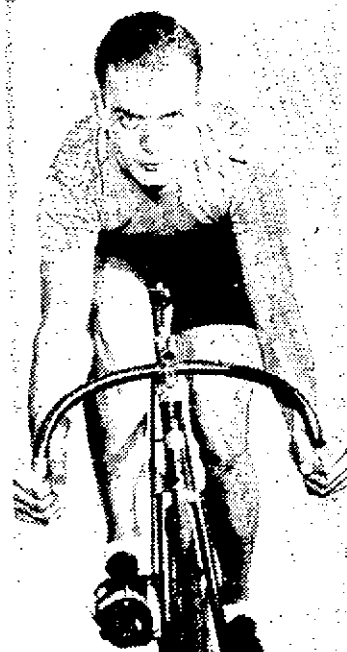

"Then, too, assisting in the building of bicycle interest would be a track suitable for racing by teen-age boys and girls."

LAST MAJOR bike racing track in Southern California, excepting sporadic six-day revivals, was at Hill St. and Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, in 1920. . . There was an eighth-mile track at 8th and Main Sts., in 1900, and a fifth-mile track at Pico and Grand Aves., in 1909, known as Fiesta Stadium. But since 1920 cycle racing has taken to the road in Southern California.

Every sizeable industrial establishment, as well as larger business firms, have enough interested employees to form clubs to enjoy Saturday and Sunday bicycling tours—and many are doing just that.

Pleasure and health can be derived from a cycling vacation. There's nothing that equals the close contact with nature that a bicycle affords for this purpose. And what's more, ladies, beauty experts acclaim bicycle exercise as a means of regulating weight and streamlining the figure, toning up muscles, improving the posture and stimulating the blood, all of which quickly pays off in greatly improved complexion.

Russell Allen was first local cyclist to represent the U. S. in Olympics (1932).

Laguna Beach

Where Art Is a Way of Life

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with our neighboring cities and communities. Others in the series will appear from time to time. Watch for them.

BACK in the days when the horse and buggy substituted for the automobile, the radio and television, families were smitten with the urge to go places, and in Riverside, Santa Ana, and other Southland communities papa and mama and the children eyed Laguna Beach as the ideal destination for a vacation.

So Dobbin and the buggy trundled them there.

Riversiders established their camp on the sands south of what is now the main beach, and the Santa Ana wayfarers preferred the northern stretches. They were the definite visitors. People from other areas pitched camp in between. They visited back and forth and had beach parties, songfests and romance.

Many of them built their own beach cottages, and when the bank account warranted, quit their homes and became permanent Laguna Beach residents. The reason they did so was because they liked to live in Laguna Beach; the primitive urge squirmed within them; they discovered it was fun to get along without some of the necessities of life.

They had no meetings to attend — the beach colony was without clubs. They could find their way around at night by the aid of a flickering lantern, and could go to bed anytime after sunset. There were no tooting trains to disturb their slumbers, because Laguna has never had a railroad.

Back to their home towns went word of the joy of living in the little colony by the sea. It couldn't be true, thought many who heard the unsolicited testimonials, so they journeyed thither for firsthand proof. Most of them remained and built their own cottages. Their words of praise were so profound that a new word was born to designate them — Lagunatics, which word is still freely used. Norman St. Clair, whose water colors created great interest in 1900 throughout Southern California, is credited with having been the "discoverer" of Laguna Beach.

AMONG the friends the beachcomers had back home were artists. They too, came for a look, thoughtfully bringing along brush, palette and paint, and they too stayed to put the iridescent sunsets, the breaking waves, the coves, the rocks and the trees, the hills and the gulls on canvas. More artists, seeking solace and inspiration, took up abode in Laguna, and first thing they realized they had a full-bloom colony of their own brethren. Typical of the early colony artists was the late Frank Cuprien, an eastern painter who in 1911 decided to go to Laguna early artists who were prominently identified with the growth and development of the community were Gardner Symons, William Wendt, William Griffith, Joseph Kleitsch, Anna A. Hills, Karl Yens, George Turland, Lee Hayes, Thomas Hunt, Conway Griffith, Tom Lewis, Clarence Hinkle, and the present "dean of Laguna artists," Galen Doss.

Artist invited artist friend to come over for a look at their paintings. They all liked the idea. They voted for a public showing; hung their masterpieces on a fence and invited everybody around to inspect the exhibitions.

When continued growth of the colony became a dreaded certainty, fences and walls were held inadequate for artistic development, and a small building was acquired as an art gallery. But it wasn't long until the need for more adequate quarters became imperative, and a bold suggestion was made that a permanent gallery be built. The Laguna Beach Art Association was created with 150 members, comprising 35 artists, 14 of whom lived in Laguna. The rest of the membership embraced residents of Southland cities and towns. The gallery was opened July 27, 1918. Then some years later this was outgrown and a tract of land was purchased on a hill overlooking the Pacific at what is now Coast Highway and Cliff Drive. With great fanfare ground was broken for this gallery on Aug. 25, 1928. Two years ago it was enlarged, and is now one of the few self-sustaining art galleries in the United States; perhaps the only one.

LAGUNA BEACH is now known throughout the country for its Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters as created by Artist-Realtor Roy M. Ropp.

With the artists' colony firmly established it was inevitable that progress, with its confusion and conflict, should follow. Gas, electricity, telephones and automobiles came and remained. Highway 101 slashed right through the center of the colony, and the original settlers loudly lamented this intrusion. They wanted Laguna Beach to remain as it was, free, unfettered, unspoiled, languid, and off the beaten path. Their cries availed them naught, and even today there are those who would prefer to close the book on progress and go back to chapter one with lanterns, dirt roads and quiet.

People who were familiar with ceramics have come to Laguna and established their "pot shops" along the highway, on side streets and even in private garages. That business is flourishing, and is Laguna's only industry. There is no room topographically, nor by city ordinance for "heavy" industry, a situation bewailed by the more commercially minded, and bravely hailed by the artistics.

There are perhaps few cities the size of Laguna Beach to

Beach for a one-day visit. He remained until his death in 1948. Until a few weeks before his death Artist Cuprien insisted on living as he had when he first came — a coal oil lamp at night, a battered wood stove for cooking, and a huge fireplace for warmth. When he died his $35,000 estate was bequeathed to the Laguna Beach Art Gallery. He was known far and wide as the "dean of Laguna artists."

When the road down Laguna Canyon was made more accessible for automobiles, Laguna started to change. Model T Fords began to crowd the horse and buggy. The one telephone in Nick Isch's combined grocery store and post office became over-popular, and club life was unwittingly born at the cracker barrel conclaves in his place of business. The gregarious colonists voted for Saturday night dances; musical recitals and lectures were provided by visiting dignitaries.

Laguna really became art conscious when Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Payne came to the colony from Chicago. Other boast the number of clubs, social organizations, study groups, lodges, musical boosters and religious faiths than can be listed in the art colony by the sea. No one need want for a group with which to meet.

Laguna has an outstanding high school, two elementary schools and a third to be constructed within the next year; several private schools, many churches and its self-sustaining art gallery.

The influence of the artist is noted in many public buildings and homes. Before the day of the planning commission a home was built wherever the builder wanted it put, whether a road led to it or not. Consequently, many of Laguna's streets twist and turn, and some squirm into the hills where the more timid women don't care to dwell. But the "view" is the thing, and the higher on the hill the home is built, the more expansive the view of ocean and coastline, and the more costly is the house, according to real estate standards.

LAGUNA BEACH theoretically ceased being a colony in 1927, when by public vote it assumed the status of a city with incidental city council, police and fire departments, a department of parks and poundmaster to regiment the lives of the canine population.

Living is still carefree and unique in Laguna Beach. Women visitors who back home wouldn't dare appear in public in scant sunsuits, bare feet and midriffs, join with nonchalance the regular residents who go about their shopping or promenading with just enough on to escape the nudist classification.

Often visitors to Laguna Beach express disappointment because they don't see artists

before their easels on all street corners and vacant lots. Nor do they find the artists dwelling in one particular Greenwich Village. Fact is, the artists live all over Laguna Beach, in homes of their own, or in apartments, and one must go about it systematically to find their locations. They don't go about town in smock and beret—they look just like the grocer, the doctor, the druggist, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. There is a sprinkling of modernists, but the majority of Laguna artists stick to the conservative. Both groups have their paintings prominently displayed in hotel lobbies, shop windows and in the town's two banks.

Laguna will continue to be an artist colony. The Festival of Arts sponsors free classes in art; the high school offers art instruction in adult education courses, and the small fry are imbued with the desire to use paint and brush during the Festival of Arts "Painting for Fun" classes. The elementary schools and the high school find the boys and girls of Laguna particularly receptive to art and this, of course, is only natural.

This painting, "Unmasked," won top award in Laguna gallery held in connection with 1952 Art Festival.

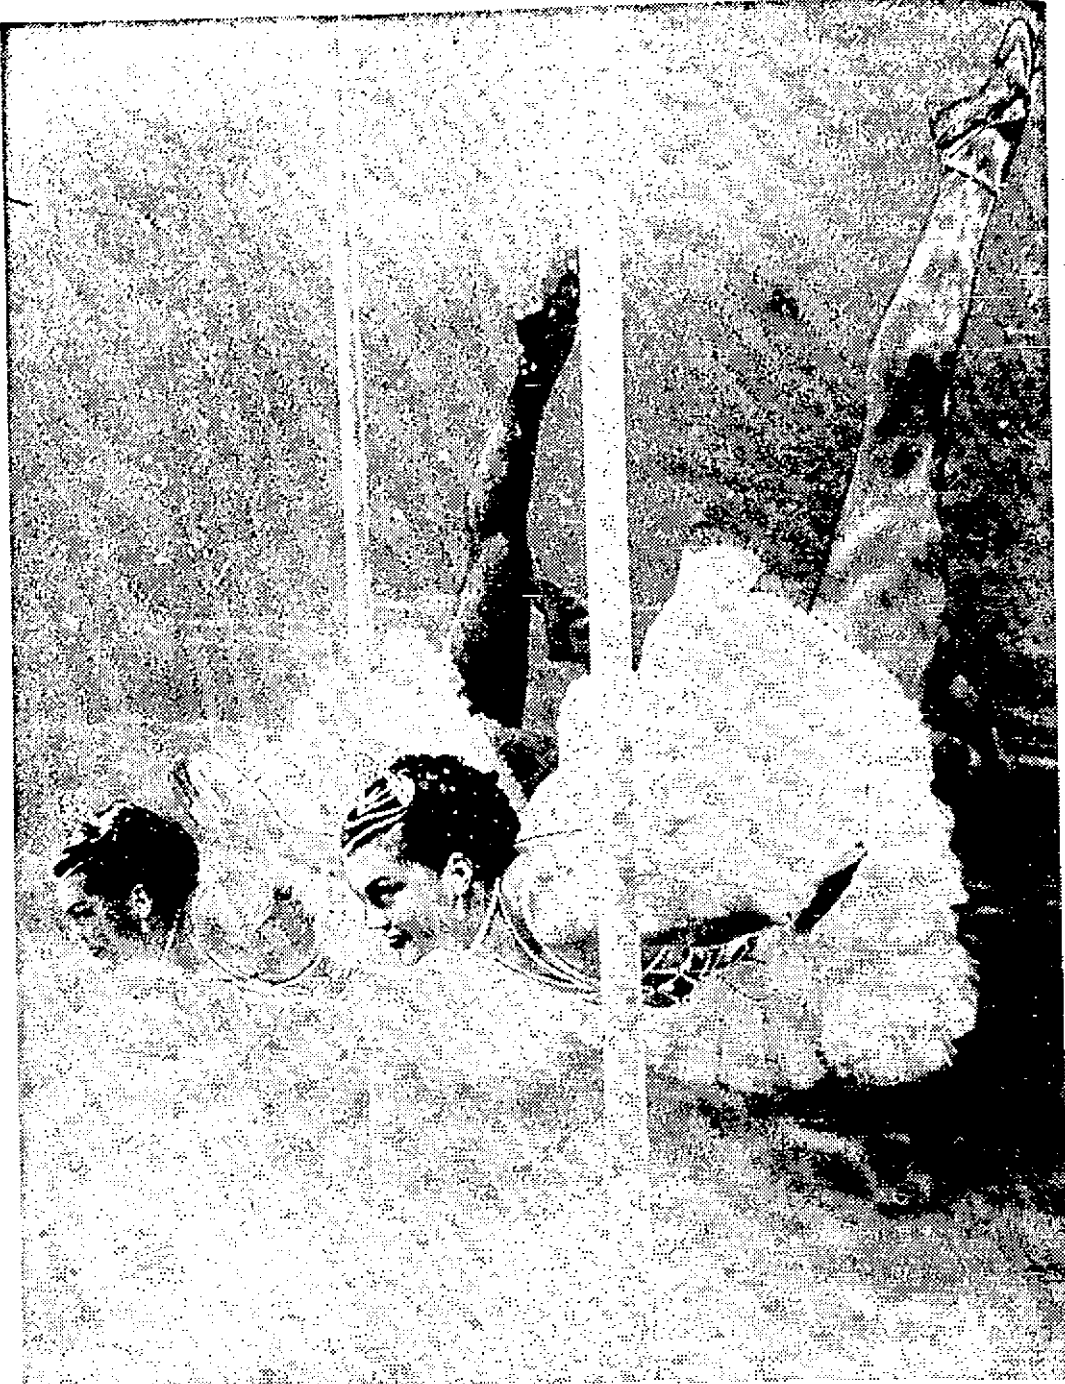

Ceramics, an art in itself, is also the only industry in Laguna Beach. There is no room topographically, nor by city ordinance, for "heavy" industries.

Beef With a Flair

Sunday, January 4, 1953

IF YOU'VE "hit bottom" budget-wise, and idea-wise, too--after all the holiday "flummery," it isn't necessary, really, to include your whole family in the letdown. That is, with what you feed them.

Mrs. Paul McClaughry, 2919 Mariquita St., is keeping this fact in mind as she prepares a dish which is in top position on the request list of her husband and two young daughters. It has no name--but for the sake of identifying it, we've dubbed it "Beef With a Flair." The recipe, in form for clipping, will be found elsewhere on this page. Here are some other recipes:

Romany Steak

1 pound ground round steak
1 11-oz. can condensed cream of tomato soup, undiluted
4 strips crumbled, crisp cooked bacon

ered, 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Makes four servings.

Beef Ragout with Ketchup

1 pound round steak (½-inch thick)
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups water
½ cup tomato ketchup
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup washed raw rice

Cut meat into ½-inch cubes. Brown in fat, then stir in remaining ingredients. Cook slowly, about 40 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Add more water if needed. Makes four servings.

South Seas Casserole

2 avocados
1 cup chopped watercress
1 small onion, grated
2 flat cans tuna fish
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk

4 slices crisp bacon
1 cup crushed potato chips or crackers

Peel and dice avocados. Arrange in a casserole and sprinkle with watercress. Grate onion over the top. Drain tuna fish and flake. Heat soup and milk, add tuna fish and crumbled bacon. Pour over the avocado, sprinkle the top with potato chips or crackers. Bake at 450 deg. for 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

Or did you ever serve avocado salad dressing with fish, fruit or tomato salads? Do it like this:

Press the pulp of an avocado through a sieve. Add 2 tbsps. cream, 1 tsp. lemon juice, 1 tsp. prepared mustard. Season with salt and pepper. Serves four to six.

Curried Ham Rolls

3 cups cooked rice
1 onion, minced
¾ cup chopped parsley
7 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
6 slices boiled ham (½ lb.)
½ teaspoon curry powder
4 tablespoons cream corn starch
3 cups milk

Mix rice, onion, parsley, 1 tablespoon of butter, half of salt and pepper together thoroughly. Place ½ cup of rice mixture on each slice of ham; roll up and place in baking dish. Combine remaining butter, salt, curry powder and cream corn starch; mix until smooth. Add milk. Heat to boiling over direct heat and then boil gently 1 minute, stirring constantly.

A dish that is a favorite in the Paul McClaughry home is "Beef With a Flair," being made here by Mrs. McClaughry.

Pour sauce over ham rolls. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 15 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes six servings.

Lima Beans in Sour Cream

¼ cup sliced green onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup sour cream
¼ cup diced canned pimiento
2 cups cooked dried lima beans
Salt
Black pepper
Paprika

Saute onion in butter until soft and golden in color. Stir in sour cream and pimiento.

When mixture is warmed through, pour over lima beans and mix thoroughly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Heat thoroughly over low heat. (Do not boil). Serve hot with a sprinkle of paprika on top. Serves three to four.

Kitchen Tips:

Mrs. Paul McClaughry's Kitchen Tip: After working with either bacon or onion, rub the hands thoroughly with salt before washing. All odors will be removed.

Mrs. McClaughry's 'Beef With a Flair'

3½ lbs. beef (stew or round, fairly lean)
2 or 3 onions
2/3 lbs. bacon
Bay leaf
2 or 3 small cans mushrooms
Salt to taste.

Cut meat into chunks, 1 inch or smaller. Cut bacon with scissors into ½-inch pieces and brown in Dutch oven. Remove and set aside. Saute chopped onion in bacon grease. Remove it and set aside. Then brown beef quickly to seal and add bay leaf. (Should there be excessive fat remove part of it) then continue cooking over low fire until tender, adding a bit of water as necessary. Return onions, mushrooms (drained) and simmer until blended. Just before serving return bacon to mixture and crisp a bit.

Home

Picturesque and keyed to the specific needs of its occupants is the Rolling Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamner and family. The Hamners are artists and their large conservatory-studio is shown with Hamner at work on one of his paintings.

The Hamners' den (above) has handy shelves for books and ceramics. Mrs. Hamner wove seat covers. Floors are of brick, sealed with water glass and polished.

Hamner, who is more familiar with art materials than carpentry tools, assembled the family home, aided by his son, Bill. This the dining room, the studio is beyond.

By Vera Williams

WILLIAM and Margaret Hamner, Rolling Hills artists, have 2000 square feet of house. They have three bedrooms, bath, kitchen, den, dining room and conservatory-studio.

And the house, furniture and landscaping cost them a total of $4200.

"... plus plenty of work," say the Hamners.

Their house, tucked behind greenery, with only the slanting glass roof showing, looks so much like a greenhouse as one enters the grounds of the Chadwick School that many persons drive past it, not recognizing it as a house.

Then they turn back, and stop at the Hamners and are glad the rest of their lives that they did because there they learn first hand what can be done with bricks, glass, raw beams, two old Army canteens, driftwood, and a lot of enterprise and elbow grease.

"Our problem," says the bearded Mr. Hamner, graduate of the Yale School of Fine Arts and for eight years head of the Chadwick art department, "was that we needed shelter and needed it quickly. And we didn't have much money — schoolmasters don't usually have much money."

So the Hamners bought two surplus Army canteen buildings, put them together in an L, and added a section to "pull the whole thing together." Hamner, who admits that painting, ceramics, woodcarving and copper and enamel work are more in his line than carpentry, did the building.

He was aided by his son, Bill, 13. Mrs. Hamner wove couch coverings from mill ends and made extremely good-looking draperies from sacking. Her daughter, Judy, 15, assisted.

The white Persian cat named Orchid and the Siamese cat Tora (now the somewhat disgraced mother of alley kittens) watched, but were no practical help.

OUR problem," explains Mrs. Hamner, "was to have a lot of windows for sunlight, and still have a lot of walls for paintings, books and ceramics." The family has a library of about 5000 books and they figure there are about 200 paintings, finished and unfinished, in the house.

Rafters are short ends from a construction job; much other wood throughout the place is mill ends of plywood and heavier lumber. Glass in the conservatory-studio is greenhouse glass — "it's cheaper," says Hamner, an excellent reason for using it. All floors are of brick, sealed with water glass and polished.

Furniture was made from whatever came to hand. Low couches are made from bed-springs and mattresses, tables are made of driftwood, black walnut burls, and what-have-you, and some have legs of copper tubing. Yaquil mats are used to cover some of the walls and ceilings.

ALTHOUGH they and their friends like the rest of the house, the Hammers' pride is in the spacious conservatory-studio, with a glassed roof and sides, a big fireplace where a roaring fire can be built, a clump of fine banana trees, a Hawaiian vine and about 300 orchid plants. That's right, the banana trees, the vine and the orchids all are inside the room. Hamner and Bill brought the orchids back from a trip to Mexico last summer.

Overhead Closet

WASTE SPACE which literally was "up in the air" was utilized in the home of the M. R. Peppards, South Middleridge Rd., Rolling Hills, by cutting out a doorway and adding a ladder! R. L. Bird, the architect for the Peppard home, conceived this idea when he noticed the overhanging area in the bedroom of the Peppards' son, Peppy.

"Why not use it?" was Mr. Bird's immediate thought. It is a perfect storage space for Peppy's Boy Scout equipment, and what boy doesn't like to climb a ladder? There's no excuse for paraphernalia lying about here! And the clothes closets are not made into Fibber McGee closets by having packs, knives, boards with rope knots and other such items added.

The closet door is of cedar to match the woodwork of the bedroom. Pennants on the wall and gun on rail give the room just the right touch.

An area of waste space which could be used for storage was so utilized with this overhead closet setup.

YOUR ANTIQUES

Priceless
Porcelain

Meissen porcelain is an especially interesting item when represented in this handsome timepiece.

By Ruth Reece

MR. MACE A. COX of 3736 Gaviota Ave. who has collected Dresden pieces over a long period of years considers the clock illustrated here as one of her most cherished possessions.

In art, the clock occupies a position of eminent distinction, and antique examples are treasured and collected as much for their decorative cases as for their timekeeping. Clock cases of porcelain were in vogue during the 18th Century, and Mrs. Cox's clock is an early Meissen piece which stands 19 inches high.

The gold metal band around the face piece is circled by a serpent made of porcelain. This is very small and hard to recognize. Next is a band of beautiful pastel flowers such as only the Dresden artists could make.

Overshadowing this exquisite work are the rare figures representing the four seasons of the year. Spring is represented by the figure at the top holding a small vessel filled with seeds. At the right is summer, in a costume of pastel print, who holds a spray of flowers and wears a wreath of matching blossoms in her hair. The center figure is autumn who holds a yellow sheaf of wheat, while winter is expressed by the figure at the left who wears a dark hood and cloak and warms her tiny hands over a porcelain flame coming out of a bowl-shaped vessel.

Aside from their rarity, these dainty figures are attractive because of their fine modeling and softened tones.

IN HOME DECORATION

Weekly Decorating Helps contributed by a member of the Aaron Schultz Decorating Staff

IS YOUR MATTRESS SHOWING?

Do you not sleep as well as you used to, or as you would like to? Do you wake up tired? Do you feel as if you'd hardly got to sleep before the alarm rings? Have you been to your doctor about a nagging backache? These are some of the miseries that we have brought upon ourselves by sleeping on too-soft mattresses, and by mattresses that sag, lump or otherwise distort the body.

Must we then sleep on bricks and boards? Hardly. A mattress can be both firm and soft. Strong innerspring units, held within a heavy wire edge and meshed over with wire is one type of construction that makes a mattress restfully firm. Stronger coils in the box spring help firm up mattresses, too, especially when designed to complement each other.

How can you tell how firm a mattress is? Surely not by lying on one in a store, awkwardly clothed and uncomfortably aware of other shoppers. No, better go to Aaron Schultz, where you can rely on the judgment of men with years of experience. Together you can decide whether you need a mattress that is just medium firm, or a real orthopedic mattress for more severe conditions.

At Aaron Schultz, you'll find our judgment backed by such famous names as Simmons, Beautyrest, Sanitary, Sealy, Englander, Air Foam, U.S. Rubber, Kroylon, Spring-Aire and many others.

How to Buy for Good Gardening

By Bob Gilmore

"HOW DOES your garden grow?" is a question that can very well be answered by the kind of plants you put there, as well as by the tools, fertilizer and sprays used in maintaining them. Knowing how to buy nursery stock and garden supplies can easily determine your success as a gardener.

Improper selection of plant material can lead to a great deal of trouble. One rather startling generalization is that the biggest plants are not always the best. The same is also true of certain types of bulbs and corns.

Nurserymen and expert gardeners will tell you that amateurs only too often select a tall, spindly plant on the basis that the taller the specimen the better it is. This is not true and in many respects such a plant is to be avoided.

Actually, a compact and bushy type of growth will prove most desirable. This is true of practically all kinds of nursery stock, including annual transplants, perennials, fruit trees and ornamentals in general. It is even true of vegetable seedlings.

Specimens having a tall, rangy appearance are often the result of forced feeding aimed entirely at putting on extra height in a hurry. This new growth, which is comparatively soft and lush, will prove sensitive to sudden cold spells as well as attacks from pestilence and disease.

Be careful about buying so-called bargains in living plants. Nurserymen have to feed, water and spray their plants for many months before offering them for sale. All this costs money. In the long run you are better off with a plant that is in excellent health although slightly higher in price than with a less expensive one that has not been properly cared for.

Advise your nurserymen of any peculiar growing conditions so that he may better recommend certain types of plants. For example, if you live near the ocean or where the wind is especially bad, let your nurseryman know. If your garden is in the interior region and subject to long hot spells this is of value in recommending certain varieties. Actually, certain roses do much better along the coast than in the inland regions and this is also true for a great many of our more common garden plants.

It is advisable to plant ornamentals as soon as they arrive on your premises. Chances are, you will not be able to maintain them in a can or flat as well as the nurserymen. Therefore, it will be to your advantage to plant the specimens at the earliest possible moment.

Some Plants That Need Feeding Now

Many Not Dormant, Expert Points Out

Despite cool weather, many plants are growing actively. Stocks and other bedding plants need feeding monthly until buds show color, starting a month after they're set out. Feed evergreens Gro-Master, too, unless they have flowers, seeds or berries.

Fertilize a fall-sown lawn with Gro-Master, if you haven't done so since October. You will have a better looking lawn, not only this winter but next spring as well. For Gro-Master gives you both quick action and long lasting results.

BULBS PLANTED NOW will grow better if you mix a tablespoonful of Red Star Bulb Food with the dirt in the bottom of the holes in which you plant the bulbs, then add an inch of dirt before planting the bulb.

Custer Lives Again

TROOPERS WITH CUSTER, by E. A. Bruinboel, 315 pp., Harleburg, Pa.: The Stackpole Co. $5.

WITHOUT DOUBT, "Troopers With Custer" is the best book in the last decade on the tragic battle of the Little Big Horn. The author, veteran newspaperman, presents the most comprehensive analysis of the engagement ever compiled. Profusely illustrated, the volume also presents many eye-witness accounts of the tragedy and delves deep into the motives of the principals. Was Custer's body positively identified? Was Maj. Reno cowardly? These questions are answered along with scores of others pertinent to the historic battle. The eye-witness accounts, told in the direct language of soldiers, transport the reader to the blood-soaked battlefield and cause him to glance apprehensively around his armchair, looking for skulking redskins.—T. K.

THE SOJOURNER, by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, 327 pp., New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, $3.50.

ASE AND BEN LINDEN were brothers. When their father died, Ben said he was through with farming. He went away to seek his fortune and there began the plodding Ase's long lifetime of yearning and quiet searching to bring him back.

Ben had told Ase to marry his, Ben's, girl and so he did, and Ase loved her always though she refused to understand much of his taciturn nature and inner greatness. The children who came likewise were alien to him, all save one who died a strange death when only six. But finally Ase found the love he sought in Jan, the son of a tenant farmer, and his aging heart was doubly filled when he located Ben without the fortune he had sought, dying in a cheap rooming house. But Ben had something for Ase...

Like "The Yearling," this is a beautiful story, warm and glowing and bubbling with the great drama of life. Only the most skilled craftsman could create the simple folk who live in these wonderful pages, but it is Ase, simple and quiet, with a tremendous yearning and a love for all things good, that America will take to its heart. The January selection of the Literary Guild.—P. T. K.

Madonna Fete On in Santa Ana

MANY of the world's great madonnas will be displayed through Jan. 15 in the third annual Madonna Festival, which already has become a tradition at the cloistered, Spanish-style Charles W. Bowers Memorial Museum, 20th and Main Sts., Santa Ana.

The museum is open daily except Mondays, 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.; Thursday evenings, 7 to 9; Sundays, 1 to 5 p. m. Artists and collectors representing 18 nationalities offered their prize pieces, a total of 200 entries, for the show.

For the first time, the late Ernest Yerby-Smith's "Smiling Christ" is on display. It is the last work of the famed Laguna Beach sculptor.

Also for the first time since it was created especially for this showing is "Madonna and Child," by Hallie Blakeley of Beverly Hills. It is in porcelain, with porcelain cherubs about the shoulders of the figure crowned with pearls and emeralds, her gold lame gown jewel-encrusted. Beneath the glassed group, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator, placed antique hand-carved angels which once graced a cathedral in Mexico. They are loaned by Mrs. Gustav Mox of Santa Monica.

Flanking the main corridors are glassed displays of Madonnas of all countries.

COLLECTED POEMS, by Archibald MacLeish, 407 pp., Boston: Houghton Mifflin, $1.

These are the author's best, from 1917 to 1952. In it are those selections which have become favorites over the 35 years since this poet first brought his art into prominence. One can follow the progress of world thought by the demonstrative emotions reflected here in good singing poetry from the poet's own rich experience.

ART CIRCLES

THIRTEEN new shows—four never shown before on the west coast and one never shown before outside of New York and Chicago—are announced by Samuel W. Heavenrich, municipal art director, for 1953 in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Mr. Heavenrich returned the day after Christmas from a trip to Detroit, Chicago, New York and Washington arranging for the shows.

First will be French Impressionist Painting and Leonardo da Vinci exhibits, starting Jan. 18. The French impressionist paintings will come as loans from the Museum of Modern Art, New York, the private collection of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. in New York, and from Knoedler, Wildenstein and other dealers and sources. Most of the great figures in later 19th century French painting will be represented, says the director. This show will remain through Feb. 22.

Municipal Art Center will borrow 18 full-scale models of Leonardo da Vinci's inventions from International Business Machines, Inc., and drawings and other material from the Dr. Elmer Belt Library of Vinciana, Los Angeles, the second largest Vinciana library in the world. Dr. Belt will speak on "Leonardo da Vinci as a Scientist" at the show's opening, at 4 p. m., Jan. 18.

On Feb. 1 will be added "Houses USA," an exhibition brought together by Life tracing the development of American houses from Colonial times to the present.

Beginning March 1 and continuing through April 5, will be "Victoria in Long Beach," Victorian furniture, accessories, costumes and bric-a-brac from Long Beach homes, and the first West Coast showing of an exhibition of work by Eugene Berman, now at the Knoedler gallery in New York.

Starting April 12 and continuing through May 17 will be an industrial design show, particularly material brought together by the Museum of Modern Art, N. Y., including product designs, packaging and advertising materials; and a show of tapestries designed by leading modern painters such as Leger, Arp and Lurcat. This will be the first West Coast showing for either of these exhibits.

May 24 through June 28 will be an exhibition of contemporary German color lithographs, circulated by the American Federation of Arts—the first West Coast showing—and the Long Beach Art Association annual juried exhibition.

From early July through Aug. 9 will be an exhibition of Good Design in House Furnishings brought together jointly by the Merchandise Mart in Chicago and the Museum of Modern Art, New York. This will be the first time the exhibition has been shown elsewhere than in Chicago and New York. It will be supplemented here by additional California material.

The Greater Long Beach annual non-juried exhibition will be from mid-August until late September.

In the fall, the dates not determined, will be Old Master Paintings from museums and collections throughout the nation. The Metropolitan Museum of New York, for instance, has promised a half-dozen items.

The 1953 Greater Long Beach annual juried exhibition will be in December.

PRI NTMAKERS SOCIETY of California is lending the public library an annual exhibit of prints, to be shown in the Long Beach main library's second floor lobby until Jan. 23. Shown are 40 prints, representing some of the members' best work in aquatint, drypoint, lithography, block print and etching. The library's membership print for 1952 will be featured.

THE MONTHLY TEA sponsored by the Laguna Beach Art Gallery, marking the opening of one-man shows by Arthur E. R. van de Velde of Carlsbad, Roy Keister of the Rio Grande Valley of Texas and Merritt Moyer of Twentynine Palms.

BOYS and girls 4 to 7 will adore these best-loved Pooh stories which appear with pop-ups in full color. Just open the books and the characters pop up and really live.

Focus on Prizes

TODAY I'm writing directly to high school students. Those of you who don't fall into this class can read the column, anyway, because you probably know some girl or boy to whose attention you would like to call this wonderful opportunity.

You now can enter your pictures in the 1953 National High School Photographic Awards and keep right on sending them in, as many as you wish, right up to the deadline of April 15.

This is a snapshot contest all your own. Only students in grades 9 through 12 are eligible. The contest this year is divided into four classes and there'll be four top prizes of $300 each. Altogether there'll be $4000 worth of prizes awarded.

By The Shutterbug

Prints should be entered with your name, address, and school address and the class in which you want to enter the picture marked on the back. And they should be mailed to the sponsor, the National Scholastic Press Association, 18 Journalism Bldg., University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn. Most high schools have complete information on the competition, but if yours doesn't it can be obtained by writing to the above address.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will meet for the first time in the new year at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. This will be a double program—a monochrome print competition and color slide competition. This will leave the regular color slide competition night open so that members may attend the color competition of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs at 8 p. m. Jan. 21 in Hughes Junior High School, California Ave. and Roosevelt Rd. Host to the Council will be Richfield Camera Club.

RECORD ALBUM

Kiss in the Dark

HUGO WINTERHALTER and Henri Rene and their orchestras have recorded three long-playing volumes of "Music for Romance" that should appeal to sentimentalists from 16 to 60.

Winterhalter, who doubles in brass as RCA-Victor's musical director, guides his band through 16 romantic melodies that can be enjoyed quietly in the late evening or served up with dinner.

Most familiar numbers in the Winterhalter selections—on two records labeled "Reminiscing" and "Music by Starlight"—are "More Than You Know," "When You're Away," "Memory Lane," "Always," "Deep Purple," "High on a Windy Hill," "Stars in My Eyes" and "Swinging on a Star."

Rene's volume, entitled "Serenade to Love," includes "A Kiss in the Dark," "Schubert's Serenade," "L'Amour, Toujours,"

"L'Amour," "Love in Bloom," and "I Love You Truly."

THE LONG BEACH PUBLIC LIBRARY offers new unusual recordings for patrons to try in the New Year. Especially recommended are Berg, "Lulu" (complete opera); Fletcher, "Sorry, Wrong Number" (Agnes Moorehead and cast, in the radio thriller); "Old Curiosity Shop" (collection of famous performances by De Wolf Hopper, Helen Morgan, etc.); Piston, "Symphony No. 2" (Dixon, conducting), and Swanson, "Symphony No. 2," with Diamond, "Rounds for String Orchestra" (Hendel conducting).

Top requests of the week were for Shaw, "Don Juan in Hell"; Verdi, "Il Trovatore"; Beethoven, "Symphony No. 9" (Toscanini); Fray "The Lady's Not for Burning," and International Morse Code records.

STAMP WORLD

Collectors Meet

LONG BEACH Stamp Collectors' Club will hold the first meeting of the New Year Monday, Jan. 5 at 7:30 p. m. at Linden Hall, Broadway and Linden Ave. under the guidance of these newly elected officers: Victor Michelson, president; Miss Emily Moorefield, secretary; Jerry O. Gehring, treasurer; Stephen Farndell, program chairman; Mrs. Mary McGinley, mint stamp custodian.

Albert Spencer will exhibit his collection of Christmas seals, which date back to the first one printed, and lecture on their history. The talk will be followed by refreshments and trading. Every member is invited to bring a friend.

STAMP NOTES . . . The 1-peso and 1.50-p values of the Eva Peron set of Argentina have been reissued in a re-drawn design which now includes her name at the lower right. . . Tunisia has issued an overprint of the 15-franc green French stamp honoring the centenary of the Military Medal. . . Uruguay has issued three new airmail stamps showing a plane in flight over a horse-drawn wagon. . . The 18th and last of the Japanese Cultural Series is a 10-yen blue-gray showing a portion of Tenshin Okamura.

Fuchsia Meeting

Carl A. Bjorkman and the other new officers will preside at a meeting of the Long Beach Branch of the National Fuchsia Society on Thursday, Jan. 8, at 7:30 p. m., at 728 Elm Ave. Plans for the coming year will be discussed. Participation in the National Fuchsia Show at Knott's Berry Farm in June, the annual member garden tour, future programs, and committee chairmen are to be announced. A coffee hour will follow with Mrs. Carl Edmond, assisted by Mrs. Nannie Wood and Mrs. Fay Burton, serving. Visitors are invited.

Other new officers: Elmer Monson, vice president; Mrs. E. W. Williams, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Elmer Monson, corresponding secretary, and E. A. Sanderson and Carl Edmond, national officers.

The Jurgensens took a farm-vacation —and now they're saying...

YOU NEED "long johns" for a hike in the country, so Roberta and Bill put them on.

We really had fun

KUNKLETOWN, Pa.

GEE, THIS works just like my water pistol!" That's what a city boy, Billy Jurgensen, 10, told his sisters, Jean and Joan, when he tried milking a cow.

The two girls edged closer and timidly patted the cow's flank. Rosie mooed approvingly.

This was only one of the wonderful things that happened to the Jurgensen kids not long ago. With their parents, Roberta and Bill Jurgensen, of suburban Ridgewood, N. J., they were enjoying a brand-new kind of vacation—a weekend on a farm.

They visited "Tranquillity," a pleasant 130-acre farm near here, owned by Charles and Amelia Rethoret. It is one of 107 farms (in various states) listed by an agency, Farm Vacations and Holidays, Inc., New York City, which specializes in planning farm vacations.

It's Inexpensive

IF YOU'RE on a tight budget, the farm vacation offers room, board and relaxation for an average of $35 a week (each adult) and $20 a week (each child). For the five Jurgensens, the weekend bill was $50.

Like most farm vacationers, the Jurgensens didn't want planned entertainment. They much preferred carrying milk pails, feeding ducks, gathering eggs and romping in the hayloft.

Best of all, were the "three squares a day"—good old-fashioned farm cooking.

• Saturday, the Jurgensen men—Bill, his son and Charlie Rethoret went rabbit hunting. They bagged three. That night, Bill and Roberta went square dancing. The family started home late Sunday afternoon.

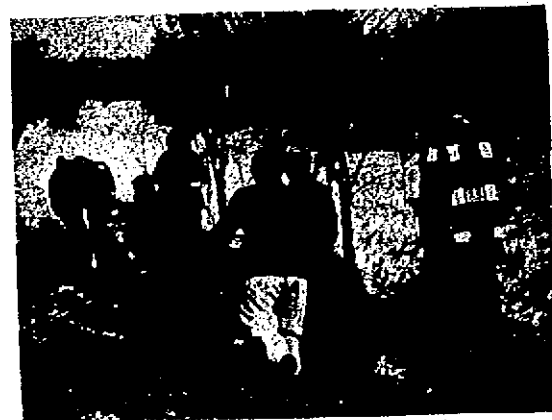

• Said Roberta: "That was a real holiday. I relaxed—for once. I didn't have to worry about keeping the kids amused. They were happy exploring the farm." Said Bill: "I haven't had so much fun since I was a kid!"

SUSIE, the goose, held by Mrs. Rethoret, gobbles food. Farm "watch dog," she bullies the animals.

MILKING TIME: Jean, Billy and Bill help Rethorets drive one of their two cows from pasture to barn.

The Turning Point

TOM LEA: He writes standing up . . .

Paint Couldn't Do It

EL PASO, Tex.
FAME AT 40 had come to Tom Lea: artist. Millions had seen his murals and his battle-action paintings, turned out under fire in the Pacific.

But in 1946, Lea was weary of war. He made a trip to Central Mexico. In that fascinating area he planned to paint bullfighting.

He went to ranches where fighting bulls are raised. He began sketching ways in which spirit is bred into bulls.

And he began to feel a deep respect for the trainers—and the bulls.

From the ranches he went to sun-drenched bull rings where he came to know the matadors. And for them, too, he learned great respect.

• Then one day, he began to paint the great matador Manolete (pronounced Mano-letty), a flashing, wiry man who later was killed by a bull. But artist Tom Lea had begun to make a discovery:

Why He Stands Up

The full bravery of men like Manolete—and the full spirit of the bulls—could never be portrayed on canvas alone.

• So painter Tom Lea began writing a novel, "The Brave Bulls," which he also illustrated. (Later, it became a movie.)

Now he has written a second fine novel, "The Wonderful Country," heading each chapter with a drawing.

• So painter Tom Lea became writer Tom Lea. And again he made a discovery: Painter Lea had spent so many hours standing at an easel that writer Lea now found he could think best—standing up at his typewriter.

• And that accounts for the photograph you see here. ■

NO PARKING!

Oil doubled this town's size, so there's trouble on Main Street

PEACE RIVER, Alberta.

HAVE YOU ever raced to get your car out of a 15-minute parking zone before the police found it?

Then you'll have sympathy for Janet Fox, a pretty 20-year-old who lives here. Janet got Peace River's first parking ticket the other day.

Constable Victor Malacrida, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, wrote it out on Main Street, where traffic is swollen by the growing Canadian oil boom. Before he wrote the ticket he pointed to what is probably the most remarkable parking sign in the Western Hemisphere. It reads: "48-hour parking only."

"I thought three days was all right," said Janet humbly. "Next thing you know, they'll cut it to a day."

Just think of that!

We saved our

How a young couple 'went

Bill and Barbara were two "carefree kids"— until they realized marriage must be serious.

I

BOSTON.

GUESS YOU could call ours a typical American courtship. When we met a year and a half ago, Bill and I were just a couple of carefree kids.

I was working in the personnel department of a Boston department store. Bill (who is William Parkins, Jr., a senior at Boston University) had a summer job.

Though we were both "interested" in other people, we started having coffee together and then lunches. Finally, I invited Bill for a weekend at my family's place on Cape Cod.

That started it all. Soon we were seeing a lot of each other. We found we liked the same activities and the same people. We went to parties, sports events and dances together.

Then at lunch one day last January, the subject of marriage came up: Bill didn't exactly propose—in the old-fashioned way. It just seemed natural for us to talk about getting married. The next day, Bill went out and bought a ring.

That's how we tied our lives together. We knew very little about each other—except that we both enjoyed a good laugh.

Fortunately, we couldn't get married for a

12 TESTS FOR MARRIAGE*...

1. Have you and your fiancé had a similar type of family life?
2. Are your religious, economic, social and nationality backgrounds similar?
3. Do you have the same attitude toward sex?
4. Do you agree on children—whether you like them and how many you want?
5. Do you plan to be financially independent, including establishing your own home?
6. Do you agree on how your money should be spent and who should handle family finances?
7. Do you both have a sense of humor?
8. Can you both take criticism and not become angry?
9. Do you both make friends easily and like each other's friends?
10. Can you enjoy the same recreational activities, such as reading, sports, cards?
11. Can you be happy even if his job calls for night work and travel?
12. Do you understand each other's temperament?

*Dr. Lamson says all your answers should be YES.

to school'... to make their pledge of a life together come true year and a half—until Bill finished college. I say fortunately, for it was several months after our engagement that we awoke to the fact that marriage is a serious business.

Neither of us can remember just how it came about. Perhaps it was when we were talking over the courses Bill planned to take in his senior year.

"What about this marriage course?" he asked. "Do you think I need that?"

"Maybe you don't, but I do," I told him.

A Lot of Fears

THE FACT is there were a lot of questions—fears, I should say—in the back of my mind about sexual adjustments and childbirth. And I knew there might be other common marital problems which we hadn't thought about.

• (It turned out that there were. For an example of some of the things you should think about before marriage, see the questionnaire, left.)

• So we decided Bill ought to take advantage of the fact that he could enroll in a course under one of the nation's top marriage counselors, Dr. Herbert D. Lamson. Our idea was to share all Bill could learn from Dr. Lamson.

• From what we've learned already, we're willing to make a prediction: we've saved our marriage in advance.

I don't mean to imply that Bill and I ever thought we would break up. We were sure our marriage would be "for keeps." But so are all young people in love. We just couldn't close our eyes to the appallingly high divorce rate (The U. S. Public Health Service's Office of Vital Statistics reports about one divorce to every four marriages in 1950). They prove how deceptive the glow of romance can be.

What did we learn that makes us so sure ours will stick?

PRIVATE TALKS with Prof. Lamson in his Boston University office are part of Bill's course.

Well, first, we developed an ease and confidence in talking together about even the most intimate problems. And, because Bill has access to the best available information on the marriage relationship, our conversations have been based on facts. Already, I know most of my fears were unfounded.

Next we learned that, luckily, love is not totally blind. We found that many of the things which drew us together and many of the decisions we made by instinct were right. For example—

1. We like each other's friends—and families.
2. We have the same religious faith.
3. Both our families are on the same general economic level and live in the same community, Arlington, a Boston suburb.
4. We agree on habits like drinking and smoking. (We do both in moderation.)
5. We would like at least four children.
6. We enjoy the same kind of entertainment.
7. I'll always be interested in Bill's career. He plans to go into department store advertising, a field I know something about.
8. We've planned to set up a home of our own as soon as we're married.
9. We've already started a joint bank account. I plan to work for a while, because Bill's starting salary won't be large enough for us to save for the things we need.

Danger Signals

THAT ALL sounds fine. But there wouldn't be much point to this story if we were perfectly matched in all respects.

In going over Dr. Lamson's "Engagement Check List," we found plenty of danger signals to watch out for in our future life together. We feel that knowing about them now—in advance—will help us to deal with them later.

In fact, we've solved one problem already—the question of when to get married.

• As in the case of most people our age (21), this problem was created by the possibility that Bill might be drafted. We had to decide on whether to marry right away or wait until Bill's draft status was decided.

• Dr. Lamson told us our decision should depend on how we might react to long separations early in our marriage. We both knew that I'm not the type to enjoy sitting placidly at home alone for a long time.

Bill went to his draft board. They put him into 4A, because his only brother had been killed in World War II. So he falls into the exempt "sole survivor" classification. Now we plan to be married in September.

Then we stumbled a little over Dr. Lamson's questions about differences in our temperaments—(1) "Is either one moody, up one day and down the next? Moody people are more difficult to live with." (2) "In your relationship, is there a hidden or open struggle to boss (dominate) the other?"

YOUNG COUPLES are advised to find their own home. Bill and Barbara look for an apartment in Arlington.

We decided I'm inclined to be moody. Once, several months ago, I offered Bill his ring in a fit of anger over a silly disagreement we can't even remember. I'm stubborn, too, and want my own way at times.

Bill, on the other hand, is easy going. He even says he likes to give in to other people. But we both know from the ring incident that we must control our own natures; so we meet halfway before things go too far.

You see, Bill took that ring!

• We also discovered that the living habits of our families were quite different. Bill's home has been quiet, almost formal, particularly in the years since he has been the only child at home. Life in my house, with four kids there, has been noisy and gay.

• Bill wants to duplicate my family's hectic household when we set up a home of our own. Nevertheless, Dr. Lamson warns me not to be upset if Bill occasionally shows signs that it's getting on his nerves.

From these indications, we don't expect our marriage to be all smooth sailing. Far from it. Yet we feel we'll get over the rough spots a lot easier because we're already trimming our sails in anticipation. We're betting we'll be together until "death us do part."

Anybody want to take that bet?

HOURGLASS SWIM SUITS

These are the curves you'll see in '53

Y FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. ou're going to see the Hour Glass Shape in 1953.

New swim suits being previewed here at the Hotel Lago Mar this winter, promise to do more for next summer's curves than a big league pitcher. Fashion experts say you can expect the beach wolves to be howling overtime.

The most popular lines are one-piece and strapless—with fresh details of buttons, contrasting piping and jeweled trim outlining the hour glass silhouette—slim waist and curving hipline.

New fabrics—elasticised orlon, nylon and cotton and rayon faille—fit snugly, making bathing suits true swim suits as well as glamor-on-the-beach suits.

For those who like bathing suits that double as play suits, there is the dressmaker cotton (above, center).

YOU CAN'T miss hourglass here: smart center panel with contrasting piping and simulated buttons outlines attractive figure. At most stores, $16.95.

Peach-Glazed Meat Loaf

1 lb. cooked ham, ground	1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 1/2 lbs. veal shoulder, ground	Whole cloves
2 eggs, well beaten	1 No. 2 1/2 can cling peach halves
1 cup milk	1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt	Amly packed
1/2 teaspoon pepper	2 tablespoons vinegar

Combine first 7 ingredients. Shape into loaf in shallow ungreased baking pan. Insert whole cloves in diagonal pattern on top of loaf. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., for 1 1/2 hours. Meanwhile, drain peaches; mix peach syrup, brown sugar and vinegar in saucepan; simmer 5 minutes, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Baste the loaf every 20 minutes, using approximately half the syrup. Peel peaches with cloves; heat in remaining syrup. Use as garnish. Makes 8 servings for 2 meals for 4 people!

Want to save crusted paint-brushes?

BRUSH-SAVER

● If you have a collection of seemingly useless paint-hardened brushes, here's money-saving news. A new liquid product, says the maker, will bring discarded but valuable crusted brushes back to new life and usefulness. It's said to take off any paint, varnish or shellac. Non-poisonous, it has no objectionable odor. 98¢. Send inquiries to: MY-ON, 307 W. 8 St., Los Angeles, Calif.

TRASH BURNER

● A new trash burner features a fire pan that's off the ground. Result: you need no special "spot" for burning, can use it on the lawn, driveway, anywhere that's convenient and will save time. Pan catches the mess and you can remove it to empty ashes and residue into the garbage can. Burner is collapsible for storage, built solid. Open, it's 32"x16"x12"; folded, 32"x27"x1½". $4.95. MANUFACTURERS DISTRIBUTING CO., 409 Allen Place, Albion, Mich.

DOG DEODORANT

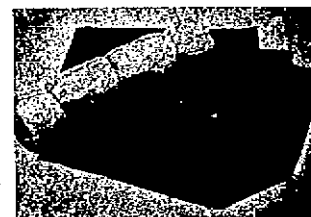

● A new spray deodorant (not chlorophyll) keeps a dog kennel odorless for days, maker claims. It's non-injurious, can even be sprayed on dog. 98¢. TOOLCRAFT, Dept. PP, P.O. Box 2092, Chicago, Ill.

WELDS BROKEN PLASTICS

● A new mending liquid welds broken plastic toys, housewares, etc. It does a permanent job in a few seconds, says maker. Apply it to broken surfaces, press together for 10 seconds, and plastic parts fuse at once. One bottle (29¢) makes 1,000 repairs. POSTAMATIC, 1549 Bel-field, Philadelphia, Pa.

IRON-ON TRIM: You can trim curtains, aprons, napkins, children's clothes, other articles at your ironing board. To personalize items, shape trim into names, initials as you iron. Comes in colors, adheres permanently, maker says. 7½ yds., 25¢. TRAUM, 11 E. 26, New York 10, N. Y.

RE-COVER YOUR CHAIRS: It's easy to re-cover dinette chairs with this handy kit. It includes plastic upholstery in your choice of colors, lining, padding, tacks, decorative nails. Instructions show how to remove old upholstery and apply the new. Kit for 4 chairs: $9.95. FURNITURE FIXIN'S, Dept. 59, 917 Main St., Peekskill, N. Y.

FOR SPORTSMEN: Here's a compact, 3"x11"x13", 9 lb. food pack with 12 complete meals. Designed for fishing, hunting and camping, it has 17 food items, including meats for all meals, biscuits, bread, soups, pancakes, pudding. Airtight, watertight, needs no refrigeration. $9. BERNARD FOOD, 559 W. Fulton, Chicago, Ill.

—NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, run-down feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self—full of life! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

Ike lines up a putt.
His caddy says the General putts well.

How Ike Won a Vote

The President-elect's caddy calls Eisenhower a "golfer and gentleman"

AUGUSTA, Ga.
ONE OF THE Americans who voted for General Eisenhower last November was a wizened, wiry citizen of Augusta named Willie Frank Cemetery, but otherwise known as "Cemetery."

That vote was a tribute to the General's sportsmanship. For Cemetery is Eisenhower's caddy.

Sitting on the porch of the dilapidated house where he rents a bed for $5 a month, Cemetery scratched his close-cropped, greying hair and tried to put his feelings into words.

"I like the General's ability as a golfer and a gentlemen," he says. "He's a gentleman at thought—he catches himself and thinks before he can get angry."

Cemetery is 48. His association with Eisenhower began in 1950 when the General came down to the Augusta National Golf Course for a vacation. Ed Dudley, the "pro," picked Cemetery to caddy for Ike.

"Mr. Dudley introduced me," says Cemetery. "He said: 'General, I've got a good boy right here who's a good caddy. His name is Cemetery.' We shook hands, and the General asked me how I got a name like that."

"I told him I was cut 30 times and stabbed 9 times in a fight back in the 20's. It took 140 stitches to patch me up. At the hospital they gave me so much ether I didn't come to for four days. They gave me up for dead. When I came to, all my friends called me 'Deadman.' Then Mr. Dudley changed it to 'Cemetery.'"

The General laughed at that yarn. And for the next two weeks, Cemetery met the General at 8:30 every morning except for one time when Cemetery overslept and didn't show up until 9:15. But Eisenhower wasn't angry.

During this 1950 visit, Eisenhower generally shot the course in "around 100," Cemetery says. (The Augusta course, which was laid out under the supervision of golfer Bobby Jones is noted for being "tough.")

"The General couldn't swing right," Cemetery recalls, "so he wasn't able to get much distance. But still he didn't land in the traps much. The General had pretty good control."

"But he couldn't get his irons to work right. He couldn't get the body shift like you're supposed to. He got angry a little bit over his short irons like the No. 8 and No. 9 for close approaches to the green, the pitch shots. He'd say, 'Aw shucks! I can do better than that!'"

"Sometimes when he'd get in the traps, he'd get a little red and say, 'Hmph!' I'd cheer him up by saying, 'Aw, General, you'll do better next time.'"

'I'd Praise Him'

"I'D ALWAYS try to keep him encouraged. When he made good shots I'd praise him and say, 'That's a good shot you made, General! I'd walk up and pat him on the back, and he'd just smile and laugh and put his hand on my head and say, 'Good old Cemetery.'"

• The General and Cemetery parted friends. Then for two years, Cemetery followed Eisenhower's career in the newspapers.

Though caddying for Eisenhower had made him famous, it hadn't made him rich. (Eisenhower pays Cemetery $6 a day—$1 for practice in the morning and $5 for a full round of 18 holes. The standard fee for 18 holes is $3.) So Cemetery kept at his night job as drummer in a band at a local night spot.

• "I was real excited and enthusiastic when the General got voted in," he says. "Then when the General came here the day after election, I was a little more excited. Then one morning he came out on the course with one of his advisors and a couple of Secret Service men. I was ready for him."

Good Morning, Mr. Cemetery

"I CARRIED his clubs out and he and I greeted each other with a hearty handshake. He spoke first and said, 'Good morning, Mr. Cemetery.' I said, 'Good morning, General.' (I've never called him 'Mr. President' yet.)"

• "He looked younger to me than he did in 1950, and spry as a cricket. He was sort of rusty at the beginning. I encouraged him by saying, 'Gee, General, it's good to see you, and you look as spry as ever.' He laughed. He was in the best of spirits."

• Cemetery claims Eisenhower's game was "50 per cent better" than in 1950. Most the time he shot 90 or 92. Once he shot 87. "He made longer drives—averaged 200 yards," Cemetery says. "Most of the time he was on the fairway, but when he got in the traps he would take his wedge and do a fine job of blasting his way out."

• (Dudley says Eisenhower was so good at getting out of traps it was "a pleasure to watch him.")

• Eisenhower was a quiet man on the golf course, according to Cemetery. They discussed nothing but golf in the 12 days Ike was there.

▲ EISENHOWER had this picture taken of Cemetery at work, then autographed it for him. Cemetery says he helped General's game by giving him confidence.

● "Me, I kept up a lot of chatter all along," the caddy says. "I'd say, 'General, I notice you're getting more distance these days. You're better with the long stick.' The General would look real pleased every time I would say that."

He Wanted to Break 100

"HE TOLD ME his aim was to break 100. He did way better than that. But once he shot 103. 'Aw, shucks,' he muttered to himself, 'I'm getting worse.' I calmed him down and said, 'All right, General. Tomorrow we'll do better—I hope.' He broke into a big laugh and said, 'Thanks for your confidence, Cemetery.'"

● "The General's very serious and sincere about his golf. He desires to become a good golfer. He's mild and meek and not rude to anybody, especially me. I surely think I helped him this year, I do believe so. I feel I gave him confidence."

● "I think the General is a good golfer. He's not a tournament man, but I'd put him up against a good many average golfers I know. He'll get better. He would have been much better this time but he had so much on his mind with all those conferences."

Now Cemetery's looking forward to the President-elect's promised return next spring. "Then," says Cemetery, "I'll call him 'Mr. President.'"

FALSE TEETH

OFTEN HAVE A CERTAIN ODOR

When you whisper—you may give away your own secret. The offensive odor of Denture Breath tells everyone you wear false teeth.

When you laugh—it may not be so funny to those around you. No one likes to be near you when you suffer from offensive Denture Breath.

Be safe, be sure of your charm. Soak your dental plate in a bath of Polident to keep it odor free, hygienically clean. Soaking, in Polident, gets into places that brushing could never reach—leaves your plates feeling fresh and cool. It's easy! It's quick! It costs only about a cent a day to keep your dentures sparkling clean and free from Denture Breath.

NO BRUSHING

Soak plate or bridge daily—fifteen minutes or more—in a fresh, cleansing solution of Polident and water.

THIS IS Elaine at her debut in 1945 at New York's Town Hall. She was 14.

I WANTED TO SLEEP

By HY GARDNER

FIVE OR SIX years ago, a physician, Dr. Leo Michel, known as "Dr. Broadway" to showbiz people, invited me to attend a concert.

"I know how you feel about longhair stuff," he said, "but I want you to hear a kid who's headed for the Met. She's making her Carnegie debut tomorrow night. Incidentally, she's a soprano and—she's my niece." . . .

• Well, there are three things I can't take on my beat: loud music, smutty comics and sopranos.

• But I'm fond of Dr. Michel and so I reluctantly stepped into the soup and fish and hoped I'd be seated where I could sleep without being taken for a professional critic.

That's how I happened to see, hear and meet Elaine Malbin for the first time.

As the years paraded by, I'd get an occasional card from the kid, informing me she was doing "Naughty Marietta" or "The Student Prince" on the road.

Sea of Flowers

NATURALLY, I got a kick when I read about her doing concerts with performers like Jan Peerce and Leonard Warren.

But the real thrill was attending the opening night recently of the $400,000 Broadway version of Aida, "My Darlin' Aida," and watching Miss Malbin, along with lovely Dorothy Sarnoff, a veteran of the Met, stop the show cold again and again. Backstage, her dressing room was landscaped with flowers.

"Here's the bunch I like best," she glowed. I read the card. It was from the faculty and students at P.S. 234 in Brooklyn. "That's where I got my start," Elaine said. "It was around Christmas and the whole class was singing. Miss Silkman, the music teacher, singled me out, went to my parents' house and told them I must study voice."

"Father was so impressed he hocked our furniture to buy a broken-down piano and give me lessons. That's how it all started."

Lily's Husband Agreed

WHILE Uncle Leo Michel helped her over the early hurdles by inviting his columnist friends to hear and write about her, the person to whom Elaine feels she owes the most is Emmy Nicolas, her personal representative. Miss Nicolas has been at her side since she was 13, encouraging her and advising her.

• In reviewing "My Darlin' Aida," I said Elaine Malbin was a young Lily Pons.

• A few nights after the hit opened, Miss Pons' husband, the famed Andre Kostelanetz, caught the show and agreed with me.

• Though the singer is undoubtedly making more money in a Broadway show than she could earn at the Metropolitan Opera House, she won't be content 'til she hits the goal she set out to reach at P.S. 234.

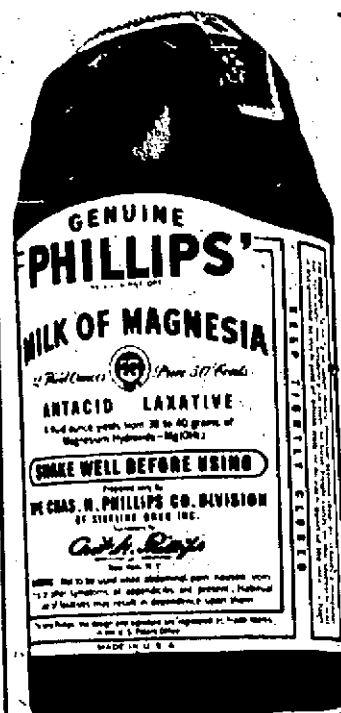

"I've already learned 12 complete operas," she confided, "just in case." No matter how you look at it, you can bet your last note that Elaine Malbin will get to the Met . . .

(LISTEN to Hy Gardner over your local NBC station on Friday nights.)

He's Mourning for His Mother

YELLA, the animal photographer, spotted this sad, little, year-old gorilla in the zoo here just a few days after he was brought from Africa. Says she: "Though I've photographed thousands of animals, this is the first one I ever saw in mourning."
His trouble: hunters had killed his mother before capturing him.

WASHABLE COLORS LOOK BRIGHTER, TOO!

WHITER WITHOUT BLEACHING

WHITER THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH BLEACHING!

AND FAB WASHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP ON EARTH!

IT'S AMAZING-- BUT TRUE! New Fab washes whiter without bleaching. Whiter than any soap or any other washing product known with bleach in the wash water. Yes, with Fab, you can stop bleaching-- except for stubborn spots. And, remember, freshly-rinsed Fab clothes are cleaner than you can get them with any soap because Fab washes out dirt, leaves no dulling soap scum... gives you the world's sweetest-smelling wash!

IF YOU PREFER NOT TO RINSE, Fab gives you the cleanest possible, sweetest-smelling, no-rinse wash!

SAVE CLOTHES! New Fab alone washes so dazzling white you don't need to bleach! Clothes last longer with no bleach to harm fabrics or fade pretty washable colors.

SAVE WORK! Fab immediately loosens dirt, keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out-- even in hardest water.

SAVE HANDS! New Fab is wonderfully mild to hands... safe for baby's clothes. And Fab is kind to your own pretty washables! Get the economical GIANT SIZE.

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF! Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots, pans shiny clean! If a food speck clings, whisk it off with the dishcloth! Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean! No hard scouring and no wiping!

P.O. BOX 195, NEW YORK 10, N. Y.

SAMPLE PUZZLE

Babe RUTH

Zane GREY
Aaron BURR

Note how we solved it: The identification of the objects pictured, identifying each object with a word of many letters as there are boxes in the diagram accompanying it. In the upper left corner we filled in the word SHOE, and then identified the upper right object as TIGER. Thus we filled in TIGER at the lower left and PURSE at the lower right.

Now observe that some of the letters in the names of these objects fell into boxes with a little circular frame inside.

It is these circled letters which, when arranged into proper order, spell out the famous name we are looking for.

Here, for example, the four circled letters are H, T, E, U. So we ran through the list of names printed with the puzzle and discovered that RUTH, spelled out, was the solution to the puzzle, and the picture you see at bottom of the page.

CAN I BE OF ANY HELP BEFORE THE GANG GETS HERE?

YES, YOU CAN PUT THE PLACE CARDS AROUND THE TABLE FOR ME

ANY PLANS OR SPECIFICATIONS?

NO I DON'T THINK SO. JUST USE YOUR COMMON SENSE

DON'T SUPPOSE IT MAKES MUCH DIFFERENCE HOW I SEAT 'EM. THEY ALL KNOW EACH OTHER

OH, HAVE YOU SET THE PLACE CARDS ALREADY? THAT'S FINE. ANY TROUBLES?

NOPE. JUST USED MY COMMON SENSE, LIKE YOU SAID

LET'S SEE. AS HOSTESS, I'M AT THE HEAD OF THE TABLE. THAT'S RIGHT. AND YOU'RE AT THE FOOT

AS HOST, I KNOW MY PLACE!

OH, YOU'VE SEATED MRS. SAPPING NEXT TO MR. GADDER! THAT WILL NEVER DO. SHE HATES HIM

YEAH? THOUGHT WE WERE INVITING A PARTY OF FRIENDS

AND YOU'VE PUT MRS. GOSS NEXT TO MR. WHOOPLE! THAT'S TERRIBLE. MRS. WHOOPLE WILL THINK WE DID IT ON PURPOSE

DID WHAT? WHAT'S HAPPENED?

WHY, MRS. WHOOPLE AND MRS. GOSS HAD AN AWFUL ROW AT THE BRIDGE CLUB LAST WEEK AND YOU'VE PLANTED MRS. GOSS RIGHT NEXT TO MR. WHOOPLE

GOSH, HAS HE TO FIGHT HIS WIFE'S BATTLES? CAN'T HE TALK ABOUT THE WEATHER?

WHY COULDN'T YOU HAVE PUT AUNT BELLA AT YOUR END OF THE TABLE INSTEAD OF HERE BY ME? DO YOU THINK I WANT TO LISTEN TO HER PATTERN ALL EVENING?

WELL-- GEE WHIZ-- DO YOU THINK I DO? YOU TOLD ME TO USE COMMON SENSE

SEAT 'EM TO SUIT YOURSELF. IF I'M SUCH A SAP

I WILL. I ONLY THOUGHT I COULD TRUST YOU TO DO A LITTLE THING LIKE THAT?

OH, HELLO, FOLKS! COME RIGHT IN! SO GLAD TO SEE YOU! YES, YOU'RE THE FIRST
